COMMUNICATION FROM AMERICAN FEDERATION OF FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY WORKERS

The Chair laid before the House a telegram from the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers requesting unfavorable action on reduction of appropriation to Department of Labor and Industry, which was read by the Clerk.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been requested to announce that there will be a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations at 7.00 o'clock P. M. Standard Time, today. The committee has further requested that instead of an afternoon session that the House reconvene at 8.00 o'clock P. M.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand the announcement of the Chair as to this evening. There is a very important meeting of the Ways and Means Committee at 7.00 o'clock this evening. There are many members of the House that are on the Appropriations Committee and it is a very important meeting. We have arranged for a public hearing on three bills before the Ways and Means Committee and there are a great many people coming from all over Pennsylvania to attend that hearing.

Mr. STERLING. There will be no conflict Mr. Speaker, because the Ways and Means Committee will meet at 8.00 o'clock Daylight Savings Time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was unable to hear the announcement of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

Mr. STERLING. After having made a recalculation, Mr. Speaker, of Daylight and Standard Time I find myself in error.

The SPEAKER. It appears that the meeting of the Committee on Appropriations will be at 7:00 o'clock Standard Time and the meeting of the Ways and Means Committee at 8:00 o'clock, Daylight Saving Time. The Chair understands that these two committees are to meet at 7:00 o'clock Standard Time? Then it does not appear to overcome the objection of the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I am not an important factor in either of these committees, but I just wanted to call the Speaker's attention to the fact that these two meetings are both extremely important. So far as the Ways and Means Committee is concerned there are a great many people that we have asked to come here for a public hearing at that time, and the matter is quite important and hardly can be delayed.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is endeavoring to get into communication with the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, permit a suggestion. If the Appropriation Committee would meet at 7:00 o'clock, the Ways and Means at 8:00 o'clock, and the House reconvene at 9:00 o'clock instead of 8:00, you solve the problem.

The SPEAKER. But the Chair understands that various people are coming to attend the hearing before the Ways and Means Committee at 7:00 o'clock.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. It could be Ways and Means at 7:00, Appropriations at 8:00 and the House at 9:00.

The SPEAKER. We are now trying to get into touch with the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

It will be satisfactory to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee to have his meeting at 8:00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time. Therefore, the Committee on Ways and Means will meet at 7:00 o'clock Standard Time and the Committee on Appropriations will meet at 8:00 o'clock Standard Time.

RECESS

Mr. NOTHNAGLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now recess until 9:00 o'clock tonight, Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The time of the recess having expired the House will be in order.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 9

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 5, 1932.

Whereas The agreement between the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey creating the Delaware River Joint Commission authorizes said Commission to determine as of the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two the net amounts due the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the State of New Jersey and the city of Philadelphia on account of the moneys contributed toward the cost of acquiring property and constructing the bridge across the Delaware River connecting the cities of Philadelphia and Camden and authorizes said Commission to borrow money on its bonds or other obligations and to pay out of the moneys raised by the sale of such bonds or obligations the sums ascertained by the Commission to be due Pennsylvania New Jersey and Philadelphia and

Whereas Pennsylvania New Jersey and Philadelphia on account of present economic conditions are in need of the funds authorized to be raised pursuant to said agreement but banking interests question the wisdom of marketing these bonds at this time therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Delaware River Joint Commission is directed to ad ise the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania whether it would be feasible and advisable for said Commission to issue bonds authorized by said act and to deliver to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the State of New Jersey and the City of Philadelphia bonds of the face value of their respective claims thereby enabling Pennsylvania New Jersey and Philadelphia to sell such bonds from time to time and to realize money thereon

Resolved That the Commission be requested to advise what if any legislation is needed to accomplish the purpose of this resolution

Resolved That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Delaware River Joint Commission

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 11, 1932.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representativs shall appoint three members of the House of Representatives, to act as a committee whose duty it shall be to make recommendations and suggestions to, and otherwise assist and cooperate with, the Department of Justice in the preparation of a revision of the school laws, which that department is now engaged in preparing by virtue of authority conferred by the General Appropriation Act of 1931.

COMMUNICATION FROM STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Chair laid before the House a communication from the State Chamber of Commerce which was read by the Clerk as follows:

PENNSYLVANIA STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Harrisburg, Pa., July 12, 1932.

Honorable C. Jay Goodnough, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Goodnough:

We transmit herewith copy of the resolution adopted at a special meeting of the membership of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce held in this city on Monday, July 11, and we would respectfully ask that you have these recommendations spread upon the Journal of your house of the General Assembly.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE E. FOSS,
General Secretary.

At a special meeting of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce held in Harrisburg on July 11, to consider the several plans for unemployment relief now pending in the Special Session of the Legislature, the following recommendations were adopted and the Chamber's officers were directed to forward them promptly to the Governor and members of the Legislature:

(1) That the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce approves adequate State appropriations for unemployment relief during the next eight months to supplement local funds for this purpose.

(2) That the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce favors distribution of such State relief funds through local agencies substantially in the manner approved by the State Supreme Court in its decision upon the Talbot Act.

(3) That the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce favors complete restoration of the original appropriations by the 1931 regular session of the Legislature for hospitals, homes and mothers assistance, which where abated following the decision of the Supreme Court in the Talbot Act case.

(4) That the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce urges relieving unemployment and for restoring the abated appropriations of 1931—

(a) Legislation enabling Pennsylvania to take advantage of the provisions in the Federal Relief Act when finally passed for loans or advances to the states.

(b) An immediate and sustantial reduction in the cost of our State government to approach the level of 1924, so that unemployment relief may be largely financed by savings in the ordinary expenses of the State government.

(c) No imposition of new State taxes, for they would only retard the process of economic recovery.

(d) Should the economies in State government and the anticipated Federal loan not produce sufficient funds to meet this emergency, then money should be transferred from the State's special funds for this purpose.

(5) That the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce urges temporary suspension of the automatic increases in teachers' salaries now provided by the Edmonds' Act.

(6) That the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce views the prevailing legislative uncertainty about State finances as convincing proof of the need for periodic and complete releases on State revenue and expenditures, in accord with the Chamber's repeated declaration of policy on this point.

(7) Since a special committee of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce appointed to make a study of the Highway Building program of the State, in its report calls special attention to certain economic aspects of the Rural Road program as comprehended by the Act of Assembly of 1931 entitled "An Act establishing certain township roads as State highways; authorizing their construction, maintenance and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions, etc." The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce recommends to the Legislature, now sitting in Special Session, the appointment of a joint legislative committee to study the economics of the Rural Roads program and report its findings to the Regular Session of the Legislature in 1933.

Respectfully submitted,

PENNSYLVANIA STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,

July 12, 1932. By George E. Foss, General Secretary.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. SOWERS. HOUSE BILL No. 199.

An Act for the relief of unemployment; imposing an emergency tax for two years on certain employers employing persons on Saturdays or Sundays; requiring such employers to keep certain records; providing for the collection of said tax, and the issuance of advance receipts therefor, and for the negotiation and use of such receipts; and prescribing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By Mr. SOWERS. HOUSE BILL No. 200.

An Act to amend section two as amended, of the act, approved the twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 521), entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death, and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death; and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth, or national banking association located therein, to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association, standing in the name of any such decedent, until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid; and providing penalties; and citing certain acts for repeal," by increasing the tax on property passing to direct heirs, and providing for the payment of one-third of such tax to the counties of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS TO SIT DURING SESSION OF HOUSE

The SPEAKER. The Committee on Appropriations asks leave of the House to sit during the session of the House. Are their objections? The Chair hears none and leave is granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, a number of the members of this House, including myself, have been urging economy upon this Legislature so frequently that perhaps in the minds of many of the members we have become irksome. Yet I feel that the question is such a primary one and of so much immediate importance to the Commonwealth that I am willing to bear the reputation of being considered a bore if only the purpose can be accomplished.

I have listened with composure to those who upon this floor have maintained that economy and retrenchment in state expenditures is a mere incident to the appropriation of huge sums on the part of the State to relieve the distressed. I have every sympathy for the distressed and I am just as eager to succor them as any man or woman in this House, but I believe that to lead the Commonwealth deeper into debt by the issuance of additional bonds or the levying of heavy additional taxes will in all probability increase rather relieve the economic malady.

The cause of our present distress is lack of business which results in compulsory idleness to millions of our people. It would therefore appear that the restoration of business should be the primary purpose of us all. When business recovers our people will again be put to work. Therefore, our objective should be to assist business to get back upon its feet. To do this we must relieve it of every possible burden and certainly not add additional burdens to its weakened carcass. This principle applies equally to the individual citizen of our State.

The income of all our people, individual and corporate, has been alarmingly reduced. Salaries and wages have drastically shrunk, income from real estate in many instances has evaporated; income from securities has radically diminished; millions of men and women either having no work or are employed at greatly reduced hours.

In this atmosphere of demoralization and despair, of want and hunger, our State government supported by a patient and long-suffering people is spending on the same extravagant scale that prevailed during the peak of prosperity.

Although the income of all our people and private business in the State has been greatly reduced, our State taxes remain as high as in prosperous times. The result is that the taxes we pay today are doubly as burdensome as in prosperous times. Taxes must bear a proportionate relation to income. Increasing taxes with decreasing income will in the end result in disaster. To pile additional taxes on business can have no other result than to harm and retard business and as the recovery of business is the only avenue of prosperity, additional taxation on the part of the State should only be considered as an imperative necessity. Our first thought should be in the direction of saving. I have heard it stated on this floor that State salaries and wages should not be reduced. The reason given was that by reducing salaries and wages the purchasing power is reduced by the amount of the reduction. The argument is true when applied uniformly to the whole people but is glaringly false as applied to the Commonwealth under existing conditions.

It was asserted by some economists during the reigns of Louis XIV and XV that the extravagant expenditures by the king and nobility on palaces and luxuries was of benefit to the French nation because those expenditures gave work to the tradespeople. The answer to that type of economy was the French Revolution.

Those who argue that the present prosperity salaries and compensation paid to our State public servants, add to the purchasing power of our people are correct so far as the favorite few are concerned, but certainly the impoverished millions from whom this money is squeezed neither get the benefit of the tax money lavished upon a single favored class nor are they satisfied to be oppressed that the office holders may receive a disproportionate income. The officer or employe who receives the same compensation that he or she received in 1929 is now receiving an increase of salary by at least one-third of its value prior to 1929 due to the increased purchasing power of the dollar. I am not an advocate of low wages or salaries for services performed, but when the income of the taxpayer who supports the office holder has so severely suffered as at present it is high time that the people's servants get in step with the times, get out of the clouds and come down to the common level of those who must support them. Every dollar saved from the high prosperity compensation of our public servants will do infinite good in relieving the distressed who need it. When good times return, as they assuredly will, a readjustment of the reduced salaries can be easily accomplished.

Compensation to the officers and employes of our State should be reduced for the following reasons:

First. Because they are entirely out of line with those paid similar occupations in private life.

Second. Because the value of the dollar has greatly increased.

Third. Because such reductions will help to relieve the burden of taxation which retards business and increases unemployment.

Fourth. Because in addition to the salary received by the State officer and employe the State pays half the pension of such State officer and employe.

Fifth. Because it is a civic obligation imposed at a time of national calamity.

I am firmly of the belief that every officer and every employe in all three branches of the State government should have their compensation proportionately and reasonably reduced during this period of national crisis. That those officers of the State government who, under the Constitution, are immune from reduction of salary during their term of office should voluntarily subscribe to a plan of reduction proposed by this Legislature. We must not forget that we are now in the midst of an economic storm and the sails of our ship of state must be reefed to meet the violence of the tempest.

I am not opposed to the levy of additional taxes to aid the distressed of our State if the same becomes necessary. However, before we consider the levy of new taxes we are in duty bound to scrap extravagance and reduce governmental expenditures in every possible manner.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The Chair is advised that the Appropriations Committee desires to report out a number of bills but that they will not be ready to report them for about forty-five minutes. If there are no objections the Chair will declare a recess for forty-five minutes and during that time, we will refer certain bills that have been introduced this evening and also certain bills that have been sent to us from the Senate. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and declares a recess for forty-five minutes or until 10.15 Standard Time.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

The time for the recess having expired the House bill be in order.

THANKS EXTENDED TO SUB-COMMITTEE OF APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

Mr. BENJAMIN JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the sub-committee of the Appropriation Committee has been laboring for the last ten days, both night and day on a report or a program of State government expenditures. While we were home during the week they were working fifteen and sixteen hours a day trying to give this House a program—a true program and a correct program—on State expenditures. I think for the painstaking efforts that these men have given to this work they should be thanked by this House. This Committee was composed of Mr. Talbot, the gentleman from Delaware, Chairman; the gentleman from Susquehanna, Mr. E. P. Brown; the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. McKay; the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg; the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander, and the gentleman from Allegheny County, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Steedle. I make a motion at this time that the House give them a vote of thanks for their wonderful efforts.

The motion was agreed to.

SPECIAL ORDER (HOUSE BILL No. 129)

Mr. SWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that the general appropriation bill, House Bill No. 129, Printer's No. 16, that has been reported out from the Appropriations Committee, be made a special order of business on third reading and final passage for tomorrow, Wednesday, July 13th, at 7:00 o'clock P. M.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, is this one of the appropriation bills which the Appropriation Committee was considering tonight?

Mr. SWARTZ. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that is not the hour that the Appropriations Committee agreed on to suggest to the House, and I don't see why it takes until 7:00 o'clock to-morrow night to bring this matter up. We talked about 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, in answer to the question propounded, or rather to the statement made by the gentleman from McKean, there was an agreement in the Appropriations Committee tonight that the general appropriation bill be made a special order of business for 4:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, but realizing the late hour that exists, because we are close to tomorrow insofar as Daylight Saving Time is concerned, and realizing that the printing department will be jammed with the amendments that have been proposed, we, the sub-committee on appropriations trust you will accept the later hour.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. TALBOT. Since making my statement, Mr. Speaker, I have been advised that it is possible for the printing department to have the amended general appropriation bill on our desks by 4:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. In spite of the fact that the motion has prevailed in the House that we meet tomorrow evening at 7:00 o'clock, I move, Mr. Speaker, the reconsideration of the vote by which House Bill No. 129, Printer's No. 16, was made a special order of business on third reading and final passage on Wednesday, July 13th, at 7:00 o'clock P. M.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

SPECIAL ORDER (HOUSE BILL No. 129)

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 129, Printer's No. 16, be made a special order of business on third reading and final passage for tomorrow, Wednesday, July 13th, at 4:00 o'clock P. M.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. BENJAMIN JONES. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlement of the House, we were advised in the Appropriations Committee—for the benefit of every member of the House—that the information concerning these bills will be in your Post Office boxes at 7.00 o'clock tomorrow morning; that will give you lots of time to study the different bills up to the time we vote on them. At 7.00 o'clock tomorrow morning the information, the explanations, and everything pertaining to the bills will be in your boxes.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until 11.00 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The motion was agreed to, and at 11.41 o'clock P. M. the House adjourned until tomorrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1932. No. 9.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, July 13, 1932

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon), in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer; from the Book of Common Prayer that had been presented to the Chaiplain by the wife of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, at the previous session:

O, Gracious Father, who openest Thine hand and fillest all things living with plenteousness, we beseech Thee, of Thine infinite goodness, to hear us, who now make our prayers and supplications unto Thee.

Remember not our sins, but Thy promises of mercy. Vouchsafe to bless the lands and multiply the harvests of the world. Let Thy breath go forth that it may renew the face of the earth. Show Thy loving-kindness, that our land may give her increase; and so fill us with good things that the poor and needy may give thanks unto Thy name; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. Gelder, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. NORTON, from the Committee on Federal Relations, reported as committed, the following resolution:

RESOLUTION URGING THE PASSAGE OF COSTIGAN-LA GUARDIA BILL

In the House of Representatives, Jullly 11, 1932.

Whereas, There is now pending in the Congress of the United States the Costigan-LaGuardia Bill, the passage of which would not only provide immediate relief through the extension of credit to the unemployed heads of households, but should have a marked effect upon business conditions generally, and,

Whereas, any measure that will release money, will promote buying and stimulate business and be of inestimable aid in relieving the present economic depression, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of this Special Session of the Pennsylvania State Legislature hereby memorialize the present Congress of the United States to act favorably upon the above referred to bill, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to, the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania, in the Congress of the United States.

Mr. NORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions reported from Committee to lie over one day be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of resolution just reported from the Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection. The resolution will lie over one day, under the rule.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. TRAINER read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 86, entitled:

An Act for the relief of unemployment; providing for the employment of members and officers of the National Guard in the improvement of the military reservations of the Commonwealth and for their maintenance; and making an appropriation.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. EALY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 13, 1932.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July eighteen, at eight o'clock Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July eighteen, at eight o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL, ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 67, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding there to section seventeen (Enabling Act—$27,000,000 Loan—Biennium beginning June 1, 1933)

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, the resolution before us, I think, is fraught with great danger. In my opinion, we came to this session to enact relief measures, and I fail to find anywhere in this resolution that it can be construed as a relief measure. I think we ought to consider it. I am going to read the section, which is short:

"The Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, immediately upon the adoption of this amendment by the electors, may borrow an amount not exceeding twenty-five million dollars to defray the expenses of the State government for the biennium beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, provided the General Assembly at its Regular Session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three has authorized the borrowing of money for this purpose."

Everywhere throughout this Commonwealth there is a demand, an insistent demand I would say, from business men, from civic organizations, from over-taxed people, for retrenchment in government; and now we are going to start on the road for passage a resolution that will encourage, I would say, increased expenses of government rather than decreased expenses of government. Under this resolution, if adopted, it would have to again be adopted at the next session of the Legislature, and then be approved by the people at the November election. The next session of the Legislature mill meet in 1933, and yet this resolution, if finally enacted, will not be approved by the people until November, 1933; and certainly no one in this Senate expects this body to be in session all of next year.

If this is intended as a relief measure, I for one, who want to provide relief, think that it should be so earmarked, so designated, that the loan could only be enacted for relief measures, and not general expenses. We may say that is the purpose; but there is nothing to prevent this Legislature from effecting a deficit of twenty-seven million dollars at the next session and hoping to have this resolution, or this amendment, subsequently approved by the people and this loan become available.

I think we are encouraging increased expenses of government. I think we are starting on the wrong track. I think we are departing from the economy program rather than proceeding along that line. And I for one, who feel that, while I should like very much, and want to provide and necessary relief measures, I do not want to go on record as giving the Legislature, or, I will say, not the Legislature, but three men, authority to execute or arrange for loans that will take care of increased expenses of government. I think again that it is fraught with great danger, and that we should proceed carefully rather than open the way for increased expenses of government.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, this bill is a Joint Resolution providing for a constitutional amendment, introduced with the thought in mind that we might find ourselves in difficulties when the general session met in 1933. I share the view of Senator Roberts that we should look for retrenchment in government; but no one can prophesy what the situation of this State will be, what problems will come before the next session of Legislature. This bill, if passed today, will have to be again passed at the general session, and at that time the viewpoint of all will be clearer than at present. I think it is the only safe guard for that purpose, and I urge the members of the Senate to vote for this bill.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Delaware, Mr. McClure?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. McClure, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, what is the objection to having this bill so earmarked or designated that the loan could only be effected to provide for relief measures rather than to pay for any expenses of government, whether they be for increased salaries of new commissions, bureaus, new roads, or whatever the expenses might be for.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, the bill as it is—the money provided by the bill would be used for any purpose whatsoever. It can be used for relief or to defray the expenses of government. I think it is well at this time to leave the door open. The next session will have to pass the bill again, and I do not see why we should tie the hands of the members of the Legislature who are going to return to meet here in 1933.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31

Apple,	Buckman,	Harvey,	Scott,
Armstrong,	Chapman,	Homsher,	Sordoni,
Baldwin,	Clippinger,	Krause,	Sprout,
Baumer,	Coyne,	Mansfield,	Trainer,
Bell,	Ealy,	McClure,	Weingartner,
Bowers,	Earnest,	Norton,	Williamson,
Boyd,	Gelder,	Pethick,	Woodward.
Brandt,	Harris,	Salus,

NAYS—6

Freeman,	Lanius,	Roberts,
Kitts,	Prince,	Snyder,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affrmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk presentd said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 74, as follows:

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" as amended providing that tax claims shall bear interest from the date of filing

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section nine of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therfrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" which was amended by section three of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-three) entitled "An act to amend sections five six nine eleven of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled 'An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly," is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 9 Claims for taxes water rents or rates lighting rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein In case the real estate benefited by the improvement is sold before the municipal claim is filed the date of completion in said certificate shall determine the liability for the payment of the claim as between buyer and seller unless otherwise agreed upon or as above set forth The legal rate of interest shall be collectable on all municipal claims from the date of the completion of the work after it is filed as a lien and on all tax claims from the time of the filing thereof

A number of years' taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where any appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such muicipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of nonpayment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim therafter shall be as in other cases.

Where on final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assesment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originaly payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered. To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 76, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" by changing the requirements as to advertising sales

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section seven of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 7 The county treasurer shall advertise the fact of holding such sale once a week for the three successive weeks prior to the holding of such sale in at least two newspapers of general circulation in the county in which such seated land is located if there be two newspapers so published if there be only one then in such newspaper so published in the county

RESOLUTION URGING CONGRESS TO ACT ON VETERANS' ADJUSTED COMPENSATION

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs:

In the House of Representatives, July 5, 1932.

Whereas, It is the duty of the Federal Government to provide liberally for those whose patriotism was well proven during the World War, and

Whereas, It is encumbent upon the Nation for whose defense they were willing to make the supreme sacrifice to show its appreciation by now making in turn a sacrifice for them, and

Whereas, The payment of the bonus now so urgently needed by those heroes of yesterday would not only alleviate their needs but would by putting a large amount of money into circulation stimulate business and manufacturing, therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That it is the concensus of opinion of the members of both the House and Senate of Pennsylvania that both Houses of Congress at Washington should enact legislation that will make payable at once the balance due all soldiers sailors and marines of the World War on their adjusted compensation, and, be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be instructed to send copies of this resolution to the presiding officers of both Houses of Congress at Washington and to each member of the Congress of the United States from this Commonwealth with a request that they work and vote to enact this proposed legislation and also that a copy be sent to the President of the United States for his information

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time).

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 10.43 o'clock P. M. until Thursday, July 14th, at 9 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, July 13, 1932

The House met at 11.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

We thank Thee, our Father, that Thou didst so love the world as to give Thine only begotten Son in full proof of the boundless love for us all.

May Thy unfailing love and care not be bestowed upon us in vain. Rather out of good and honest hearts, may we sincerely love Thee and strive manfully to do Thy will.

As we shall one day be judged by our Lord and Master, so may we pass judgment this day upon the serious business that confronts this House. We look to Thee for help and for courage to do the right. In the Master's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday when, on motion of Mr. Raub, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL No. 64

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg Pa., July 13, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 64, Printer's No. 6, entitled: "An Act to provide for the expenses of the Extraordinary Session of the Legislature assembled June twenty-seventh Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred thirty-two in pursuance of the proclamation of the Governor of the Commonwealth dated June twenty-second Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred thirty-two."

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

RESOLUTION

PUBLIC HEARING ON HOUSE BILL No. 129

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES offered the following resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 13, 1932.

Whereas, House Bill No. 129 is so voluminous and contains so many reductions of and changes in appropriations heretofore made to the different departments, boards and commissions of the State government that the members of the House have had insufficient time to acquaint themselves with the cause or the probable results of such changes and reductions, and

Whereas, Some authoritative explanation should be made of the effect of the changes upon the work of the departments, boards and commissions affected, which can best be made by those who are acquainted with the work thereof, therefore be it

Resolved, That a public meeting be held in the Hall of the House on Thursday afternoon, July 14, at 2 o'clock, in charge of and to be conducted by the Appropriations Committee of the House, and that the heads of the departments, boards or commissions, affected by the changes and reductions referred to, shall appear at said meeting and report either orally or in writing as to the effect of the same upon the work and activities of their departments, boards or commissions, and be it further

Resolved, That such reports or statments be made a part of the proceedings of this House and be spread upon the Journal

On the question,

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection, and unanimous consent is not granted.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the rule be suspended requiring unanimous consent for the consideration of the resolution.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that House Bill No. 129, Printer's No. 155, is made a special order of business for four o'clock this afternoon, I contend that we cannot consider this resolution unless our action of last night is rescinded.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Rhodes, has offered a resolution fixing a public hearing upon a bill which has previously been fixed by the House as a special order of business at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The public hearing provided for in the resolution of the gentleman from Monroe would be held tomorrow. Therefore, that being the situation, the gentleman from Delaware raises the point of order that the resolution is not in order, for the reason that the House has already fixed a special order of business for today. The Chair is of opinion that the point of order is well taken, that the proper procedure would be first rescind the action of the House in fixing a special order of business at 4 o'clock this afternoon, for House Bill No. 129, Printer's No. 155.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the action taken making House Bill No. 129 a special order of business for July 13, at 4 o'clock be rescinded.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I can see no good reason or no good purpose in delaying the progress that we have made up to this particular time. I can readily understand the idea of the gentleman from Monroe, that he feels, as a matter of record, that all concerned should have an opportunity to be heard by the House while it is in session. I do not object in any way to a rehearing, but these men and women the heads of the various departments have been sent for, and have presented their picture to us. When I used the word "our" or "we" let it be construed to mean the sub-committee on Appropriations. They presented their picture, and we accepted it in the main, reserving, however, the prerogatives as individuals and as a sub-committee, to accept their suggestions or to reject them or to make substitutions therefor. In many cases they were very liberal in the matter of reductions. In a few cases they were hide-bound and did not want to give anything. We, feeling in our minds that every department of this Commonwealth could either readily take a cut or arrange its cloth to fit conditions, deemed it absolutely improper to make fish of one and flesh of the other. No attempt was made in any way to stifle their information or to withdraw from them any suggestions. We labored and we did our best hour after hour, using the wisdom of the membership of that committee, together with the wisdom of the various department heads, so that we could bring to you a tangible program. Not that we say, in the main, that this is a perfected proposition. Let no man or woman entertain that thought, that any one member of that sub-committee felt that it was one hundred per cent. right. We are human and we are willing to give and take. Every newspaper, every organization from the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor down to what not, have been criticising our so-called inactivity, that we are here now in the third week and have accomplished nothing. To say that we can appropriate so much money from that particular fund, whether it is to be expended either as direct relief or what not, requires that we must arrive at some definite economic situation. Here is our answer to what we think, in our judgment, it may be possible to obtain without crippling any department, but by taking economic action for the time being.

Strange as it may seem, I have been a member of this Legislature since 1913, and I, myself, have voted for many of the extravagances resulting in the creation of various bureaus and commissions. During that time we were intoxicated with wealth. Why, one hundred millions dollars meant nothing more than ten cents, and if you did not talk in millions, they thought you were a pauper. But on the cross-roads there is a sign "Stop, Look and Listen," and this is the hour, this is the zero hour, the time when we should take into due considera the value of economy, not being prejudiced by any feeling whether it be from the government or from the Legislative Hall here. Individuals must make sacrifices. Every man and woman in the employment of any agency, professional men in public life as well as the day laborer, have all been compelled to make retrenchments in their extravagant lives. The man of millions of yesterday is the pauper of today.

I see no good purpose in the resolution of the gentleman from Monroe, and I think, ladies and gentlemen, after laboring here for this length of time, our labor would be absolutely wasted and sacrificed if we adopted this resolution. We have arranged an hour to discuss this most important bill, which carries with it severe cuts and reductions, the general appropriation bill for the departmental heads. The hour has been named, the stage prepared and the curtain is ready to be lifted. I am only trying to give you the picture that has made it possible.

So, ladies and gentlemen, I ask you, I implore you not to delay the progress of this House by passing the resolution suggested by the gentleman from Monroe, to reconsider our action of last night.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, personally I have the greatest respect and regard for the work of the Appropriation Committee. Nobody seeks to detract one iota from the excellent work they have done, and neither has any one questioned the propriety nor the correctness of the cuts which have been recommended and suggested by the Appropriation Committee. Personally I am for just as many cuts as we can possibly make, I am for economy to the utmost degree, but we must recognize that these are serious times and another day's delay is not going to cause any degree of distress. We have been here now for approximately three weeks struggling with this problem. It should primarily be a problem of unemployment relief, but we have been devoting most of our time to the matter of economy. Some of us think that we should have decided upon a relief program first and then work out the funds later. With that proposition there may be a proper difference of opinion but I want to say this, in connection with this proposed resolution, that I do not hold a brief for anybody neither do I speak for anybody except myself, and as I said before, I am for economy to the nth degree. It may be that twenty-three or twenty-four millions of dollars is not enough, I am not saying that it is, I am not saying that it is not, but it is my contention, as a member of this House, that I am entitled to all of the possible information that I can receive before I vote upon a proposition involving an outlay of twenty-three or twenty-four million dollars. In addition to that I think that the department should come here and lay their cards on the table, that they will give us their case before we vote, and not present their case to the public after we have voted. Let them come here now and get on the record just what they have to say about these proposed cuts, so that we will have that record before us when we vote and then we are not placed in the position that after having voted upon this twenty-three million dollar bill, they can come out and present to the public something that may be of bad effect upon us and upon the constituents of our respective districts and upon the people of this Commonwealth. All I am asking for it that the facts be presented to us, so that we may vote intelligently upon this proposition, because I say it is a serious matter.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Rhodes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, if a hearing is held, as you suggest, on Thursday afternoon and it does not meet with your approval, do you expect to offer amendments to the work the Committee has already performed?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHOADES. Mr. Speaker, after having the information that may be in the possession of the departments as to what curtailments may be necessary as a result of these deductions, after having all the facts that may be presented to us, I shall then have come to some kind of conclusion based upon those facts.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, then there are no amendments to be offered?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, there is no possibility Mr. Speaker, of offering amendments at this time, unless the facts presented to the House at that hearing would warrant them. If the facts would warrant amendments, I would say they will be and should be presented.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, are you not a member of the Appropriations Committee?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I am not.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, are you satisfied with the work of the sub-committee?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean satisfied with the draft that has been presented to us this morning?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Exactly.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I am satisfied with it to the extent that my information goes. I have no other information upon which I might base a contrary conclusion. All I am asking for, is to have the records shown to us and to the public what the other side of this question is and what the other parties have to present to us. I trust we can pass it just as it is.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can only reply in this manner, that I think it would be a question of delay. The people back home are looking to us to do something. If we do not perform our duty and go through with this program, as suggested by the sub-committee —of which Mr. Talbot is chairman—then our work will have gone for naught. It would be merely a duplication to bring in the department heads to find out what we have already found out. Therefore I ask you to vote this motion down.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny tell us where all the information is that they presented to the Appropriations Committee and whether or not any verbal statements were taken down in shorthand and transcribed?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, there was nothing taken down except that several members of the committee made notes. In many cases a number of questions were asked and noted by individual members, but not as an entire committee.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, then may I further ask the gentleman from Allegheny, in a matter as important as this, why the legislative record should not contain all those facts, which were presented to the Appropriations Committee, so that the House could judge of the facts?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, the same question was raised in 1919 when the Philadelphia Charter Bill happened to be before this House. I was a member of the Municipal Corporation Committee, when that bill was before the House. The question was raised whether or not the deliberations of the Committee should not be part and parcel of the record of the House. The Speaker at that time sustained me and stated that the deliberations of the Committee were secret and not part and parcel of the record of the House.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that in a consideration of the motion before us we have to start with fundamentals. We have to get back to the meaning of things.

This session was called for the sole purpose of unemployment relief, and it was the sense of this body, publicly and privately expressed, as well as a matter of record on the floor of this House that the membership of this body objected to new taxation.

In order to provide for unemployment relief, it is necessary to effect economies of State government, and, of course, as we all know it is a physical impossibility for this House as a Committee of the Whole to go into all of the intricacies of all of the details of the financial structure of this government, and so the matter, in the usual course, went to the Appropriations Committee. Even there it would have been a physical impossibility for the entire committee, as a body, to have delved into all the physical structures of the Commonwealth, and as a result, a sub-committee was appoint. That sub-committee very thoroughly went into every phase of the financial situation. It did more than that, it presented to this House, in a series of resolutions, requests made upon the various departments of the State government to furnish us with the financial situation of their particular departments. Their replies are matters of record, and are in the legislative record, so that the information Mr. Rhodes says he wants can be obtained right from the Legislative Journal.

Now, we have done more than that. In addition to receiving these replies to the resolution to this House, this committee sat and every departmental head of the State government appeared before it without exception. Analysis were made of the various items furnished in those resolutions. In a large number of instances the cuts recommended in the report of the committee have been agreed to by the heads of the departments. With only two departments of the State government were we unable to arrive at any compromise, and then, as a result of study, the sub-committee recommended to the General Committee certain cuts. All of this was considered last night by the whole of the Appropriations Committee, and it was agreed that these bills be referred to the House with a recommendation for passage today.

We have even gone a step farther. A complete report together with the explanations, was placed in the box of every member today.

The Special Order of Business on the General Appropriation Bill is listed for 4 o'clock today. At half-past two this afternoon the General Appropriations Committee will meet for the purpose of furnishing specific information to any member of this House who desires to question a particular cut. We have in black and white every figure which was considered by this committee, with the explanation for every cut recommended, and the Appropriations Committee will be glad to give to any member of this House, whether he be a member of that committee or not, such information at half-past two today that he desires.

This motion to reconsider our action of last night does not mean today. Let us not fool ourselves. I am not willing to impugn any improper motives to the motion itself, but if this motion carries, namely, to have a public hearing tomorrow; first, you duplicate the work of the committee; second, where we have made cuts objectionable to the head of a department (and don't forget that each man thinks that his department is the most important in the State) we would then have all sorts of amendments offered, we would go over until next week, and there would be further investigations made. I say to you gentlemen that if this motion carries we can prepare to stay here all summer. You have now the sole question of whether you are going to recognize the integrity and thoroughness of the committee appointed to make this study for you. No single man is capable of doing it, no large body such as this is capable of doing it. A thorough study has been made. There have been no improper allegations as to any favoritism, prejudice or desire to please. We have gone into this without fear or favor. We have reached the point where we believe the cuts should be made regardless of whom it hurts. We have started with the idea that we are here for unemployment relief. If we can only get it through cuts in appropriations made by the 1931 Legislature we have got to do it whether it means retrenchment to a degree where it hurts or retrenchment to a degree where we will still have some measure of luxury.

This House is now asked the question whether it is or is not going to adopt this motion. If we are going to have this hearing we will be here all summer, and we will be back to where we started.

This motion ought to be defeated so that the members of this House will know that they are here for one purpose only: to effect relief in the shortest possible time, to prevent distress. Let us not delay. Let us get together and make an end of this dilly dallying. We have here a program as a result of three weeks study. Let us bring it back to the people where it belongs.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I take it that the purpose of the motion made by the gentleman from Monroe is to give the economy program further study.

The Appropriations Committee has, as fast as it could, procured figures and given those figures to the members of the House.

On last Tuesday or Wednesday, a resolution passed this House setting up an order on the printing department so that the information would be printed completely for the use of the members. It was the hope of the Committee that it might be prepared and put in the hands of the members prior to their leaving last week. Due to the fact that it was such a complicated task the printing department could not deliver it until Monday. So, the members of this House have had available, if they so desired, the figures as set up for the first program. In view of the fact that the resolutions calling on the various departments for information, have been presented to the House—although I have not seen any Legislative Journals—they are, I believe, a permanent part of the record.

Your sub-committee do not attempt to tell you that they have made a perfect picture, because that would be impossible.

We believe that every member of this House is hurt in some manner by this economy program, but this session was called primarily on unemployment relief. We had three angles in which to approach the question. The first was direct taxation. The second was indirect taxation by the passage of amendments for bond issues. The third was economy in government.

I doubt very seriously whether there is a member of this House that has not had to cut his cloth smaller due to decreased income and I am in accord with the gentlman from Philadelphia when he says that unless we rise above small things, insofar as we are affected ourselves, we will be here for an indefinite period. The unemployed and the hungry of Pennsylvania will be waiting for use to take action and this session will close with nothing done.

I hope sincerely, members of the House, that you will vote this motion down.

Mr. KLECKNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we came here on June 27th seeking guidance to bring us out of this morass and wilderness and we sought the advice of the departmental heads, and we sought advice from other sources, but up to this date I have failed to see any tangible, constructive program, that is a complete, well co-ordinated program, that will bring us back to the seven years of plenty after we have had practically three years of want and distress.

May I ask you, gentlemen of the press, where have you seen; and members of the House, where have seen, that any of the departmental heads or any of the writers in the editorial columns, or throughout the columns of the press, any tangible, constructive plan or a tangible constructive program which would provide for immediate relief.

I ask you, where have any of the departmental heads evidenced good faith and voluntarily agreed to cuts in salaries that are unalterably fixed by statute and whose reducton are not within the scope of the Governor's call for this Special Session of 1932.

I agree with the gentleman who says that immediate action should be taken on this question today and then sent to the Senate. If the departmental heads desire to put themselves on record, as they have already had the opportunity to do before the Appropriations Committee, there is their opportunity; there is their chance for amending that bill.

I plead with you to save time. I protest against further delay, when every newspaper in every county in the State is placing the blame on us, ladies and gentlemen. Where has there been any constructive criticism. As you know, all that has been employed has been destructive criticism. Where have the leaders in our Legislature proposed remedial legislation that will point the way to taxation relief, that will not burden the business man, who is struggling along in this distressed economical cycle.

What is the best forward procedure to expedite relief of the distressed without dallying and without the injection of politics? As I said before, we have had the seven fat years of plenty and you only have to look at the forty-seventh chapter of Genesis to see that we are only in the midst of the seven lean years. I say that now is the time, in this Special Session, to point the fact to the various departmental heads whose salaries cannot be reduced, and tell them to get ready and to prepare to retrench, and prepare to economize, so that at the General Session, when the scope is so broad that you can do anything you wish that the expenses of the government may be reduced to the irreducible minimum; that the taxpayer may get a dollar's worth of service for every dollar of taxes that he is paying, whether locally or to the county or to the State.

In my brief legislative experience, my friends and associates, never have I seen more sober, serious and sincere efforts on the part of the House Appropriations Committee and on the part of the Committee on Ways and Means, and also all of the other Committees, to furnish us with more serious and sincere consideration of the question of immediate relief. But where has the press cooperated with us to assist us in bringing immediate relief, whether direct or indirect, to bring it to the poor next week or bring it to them tomorrow? Here in this empasse of legal entanglements and constitutional wilderness our leaders have failed us. They have failed to point the way out of this wilderness, and here is our chance to show that we are going to act today without any further delay. If any gentleman in this House desires information the information is available at the hands of the Appropriation Committee. Any man who has studied that volumnious report and finds any item he does not understand, let him go to that Committee and ask for specific, detailed information, and I am sure that his request will not be denied.

I plead with you to not delay. May I call your attention to the first night of the present session Volume fourteen of the Legislative Journal, when our chaplain in his invocation said, "Our Father, God, we praise Thee for life; for privileges that are new with each dawning day; for responsibilities with which Thou hast seen fit to entrust each one of us this day Though we fail Thee again and again, we bless Thee for Thy patience with us. Thou, God, seest our hearts. May we this day live honestly and uprightly in Thy sight." Today is the day for this Legislature to assert itself and throw off the shackles of bondage, to throw off the shackles, and reduce the expenses of the departmental heads, whether in committees, in conventions, or on this floor.

I ask you, ladies and gentlemen of the House, to defeat this motion and to pass this remedial legislation just as soon as it is possible to do so.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Chester H. Rhodes, and Mr. Flynn, and were as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 10

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 10, Printer's No. 12.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 5, 1932.

Whereas, It is the duty of the Federal Government provide liberally for those whose patriotism was well proven during the World War and

Whereas, It is encumbent upon the Nation for whose defense they were willing to make the supreme sacrifice to show its appreciation by now making in turn a sacrifice for them and

Whereas The payment of the bonus now so urgently needed by those heroes of yesterday would not only alleviate their needs but would by putting a large amount of money into circulation stimulate business and manufacturing therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the concensus of opinion of the members of both the House and Senate of Pennsylvania that both Houses of Congress at Washington should enact legislation that will make payable at once the balance due all soldiers sailors and marines of the World War on their adjusted compensations and be it further

Resolved That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be instructed to send copies of this resolution to the presiding officers of both Houses of Congress at Washington and to each member of the Congress of the United States from this Commonwealth with a request that they work and vote to enact this proposed legislation and also that a copy be sent to the President of the United States for his information

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, if I speak over one minute then you know that I am a story teller. We are talking about prosperity, give the soldiers their bonus and when they receive it the wheels of industry will start to turn, so I ask you to vote in favor of this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, one hundred and seven members having voted in the affirmative, more than a majority of the House having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. STERLING (By request). HOUSE BILL No. 214.

An Act empowering cities of the first class to levy, assess and collect or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes; authorizing the establishment of bureaus, and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes, and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced.

Referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

RESOLUTION

URGING PUBLIC OFFICIALS TO ACCEPT REDUCTION IN SALARIES

Mr. HARTSOCK offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, July 13, 1932.

Whereas, The present period of economic depression has brought about the reduction of salaries and incomes of those engaged in private occupations, and

Whereas, Legislation has been passed and is pending which will make drastic reductions in the salaries of employes of the Fderal, State and local governments, and

Where, By reason of constitutional restrictions, it is impossible to diminish the salary or emoluments of any public officer after his election or appointment, and

Wheres, It is manifestly unfair and un-American for such public officers who are protected from legal salary reductions to continue to accept the salaries payable to them at the time of their election when other public employes ont so protected and those in private life are required to accept less compensation, and

Whereas, It would be proper for such public officers to voluntarily agree to accept a reduction in hte salary now received by them and in this way help share the burden now resting on all citizens by reason of the unusual financial conditions, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That it is the opinion of the Members of this Legislature that all public officers of the Commonwealth, whose salaries cannot be reduced by law on account of constitutional prohibition, should, in a spirit of fairness, voluntarily agree to accept a reduction of ten per centum of the amount of salary now received, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each elected or appointed public officer within the Commonwealth receiving payment of salary from the Commonwealth or any county, city, borough, incorporated town or township therein.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, looking over this morning's calendar I see a bill that is erroneously on the calendar on first reading. It is House Bill No. 184, Printer's No. 147. A motion was passed by this House that all bills reported from committee as committed were to have a first reading when they were reported. This bill was reported last evening and it only appears on the calendar today as on first reading. It should be upon the calendar as a second reading bill.

The SPEAKER. Was this bill reported as committed?

Mr. PERRY. As committed yesterday.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that the information at the desk is that the bill was reported as amended.

Mr. PERRY. The bill was reported as committed.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I reported the bill as amended.

The SPEAKER. If the bill was reported as amended, it was not covered by the action of the House that the bill be read for the first time.

SENATE MESSAGE

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two hundred two, seven hundred two, seven hundred seven, paragraph (d) of section eight hundred one, and section eight hundred four of an act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred forty-three), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person association and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," as amended, by providing for the settlement and collection of a franchise tax on foreign corporations; requiring such corporations to file reports; and providing a penalty for failure to do so.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. A resolution was introduced in the Senate, and concurred in by the House, directing the Chair to appoint a Committee of three members from Allegheny County to perform certain duties set forth in the resolution. Accordingly the Chair appoints the gentlemen from Allegheny, Messrs. Neely, Wettach and Soffel.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, July 13, 1932.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July 18, 1932, at 9.00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time, and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July 18, 1932, at 8.00 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. Because the rules of the House require that the House convene at 9.00 o'clock on Monday night, the Chair asks unanimous consent to lay the resolution before the House at this time. Are there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 158, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation under the police power and as a governmental duty to the Department of Welfare for State aid to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor and providing for the allocation and use of the moneys so appropriated

Whereas Present conditions of unemployment aggravate the normal situation facing public authorities charegd with the care of the poor impose a burden which local government is unable to bear and demand the exercise of the police power of the Commonwealth for the protection of the public health safety morals and welfare and the assumption by the Commonwealth of its governmental duty to care for the poor therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in the exercise of the police power for the protection of the public health safety morals and welfare threatened by existing conditions of unemployment and in the assumption by the Commonwealth of its duty to the care of the poor the sum of twenty-four million dollars is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for payment to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor which appropriation shall be allocated as hereinafter provided and paid over by said department in the months of August September October November December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two (1932) and January February and March one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (1933) The amount to be paid over to or for the use of said subdivisions during said months shall be as follows

August	$3,000,000
September	3,000,000
October	3,000,000
November	3,000,000
December	3,000,000
1933
January	3,000,000
February	3,000,000
March	3,000,000
Total	$24,000,000

Section 2 The Department of Welfare shall make allocations during said months respectively of the moneys appropriated to it among the several counties of this Commonwealth on a ratio that the estimated number of unemployed persons in a county bears to the estimated total number of unemployed persons in the entire Commonwealth as shown by the latest available tables compiled and issued by the Department of Labor and Industry

Section 3 Where a political subdivision charged with the care of the poor is coextensive with a county the amount allocated to the county from time to time shall be forthwith paid by the State Treasurer on requisition of the Department of Welfare to such political subdivision

Where the territory of such a political subdivision or divisions is not coextensive with a county the amount allocated to the county other than a county coextensive with a city shall from time to time be paid by the State Treasurer on requisition of the Department of Welfare to the county treasury and shall in turn be allocated to the various political subdivisions charged with the care of the poor located wholly or partly within such county by the county commissioners with the approval of the court of common pleas on the basis of unemployed persons resident within the several subdivisions but within the county as ascertained from the best sources of information obtainable and when such allocation has been made the amounts paid into the county treasury by the department shall be paid to the respective subdivisions entitled thereto

In counties coextensive with cities the moneys allocated to the county shall be paid by the State Treasurer on requisition of the State Department of Welfare into the city treasury and shall be allocated by the Department of Welfare of such city among the various political subdivisions charged with the care of the poor within such city on the basis of unemployed persons within the respective subdivisions as ascertained from the best sources of information obtainable and when such allocation has been made the amounts paid into the city treasury shall be paid to the respective subdivisions entitled thereto

Section 4 Each political subdivision charged by law with the care of the poor shall have authority under the provisions of this act any law to the contrary notwithstanding to expend the moneys received from the appropriation made by this act for the purpose of providing food clothing fuel and shelter for residents within their districts who have gained a legal settlement and who are without means of support Such moneys may also be expended for the payment of wages to persons resident within the district who have gained a legal settlement for the performance of labor for the State or any local political subdivision Such moneys shall not be expended for any other purpose In no case shall any of said appropriation be used for paying cash commonly known as a "dole" to persons entitled to relief

Section 5 The amounts allocated to political subdivisions under the provisions of this act and by them expended shall be audited by the auditors of the respective political subdivisions in the same manner and with like effect as other moneys expended by such subdivisions

Section 6 This act shall be in force immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 65, as follows:

An Act to increase the powers of building and loan associations incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any building and loan association duly incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth shall have power and authority to accept of the provisions of any legislation which may be enacted by the Congress of the United States of America establishing Federal home loan banks by resolution to accept of such legislation duly passed by the board of directors and the stockholders of such association at a regular or special meeting thereof

Section 2 Whenever any building and loan association as aforesaid shall have accepted of the provisions of the legislation establishing Federal home loan banks in the manner prescribed in section one hereof from then and thenceforth such building and loan association shall have power to become a member of a Federal home loan district bank and subscribe for and invest funds in the capital stock of such Federal home loan district bank in which said association may desire to acquire a membership

Section 3 Any such building and loan association becoming a member of the home loan district bank as aforesaid shall have power to borrow money from such Federal home loan district bank on such terms and on such rates of interest as may be prescribed by the said Federal home loan district bank or the Federal home loan bank and to secure the repayment of such indebtedness by issuing its bonds or other evidence of indebtedness to such Federal home loan district bank and to assign to such Federal home loan district bank such mortgage or mortgages as it may deem necessary and proper as collateral security for the payment of such bond note or evidence of indebtedness provided however that such loans shall not exceed the amount now authorized by the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 4 This act shall be in effect immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 13, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

If it meets with the approval of the House of Representatives, I should like to address the members of the House, together with the members of the Senate who have been invited to attend informally, at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon Eastern Standard Time.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth be invited to address the House at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon, that the Senate be invited to be present, and that a committee of three members of the House be appointed to escort His Excellency to the Hall of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, does His Excellency, the Governor, in the communication just read request that the House and the Senate meet so that he may address them?

The SPEAKER. His Excellency, the Governor, has not requested a joint session of the House and the Senate for the reason that the Senate is now in recess and will not reconvene until 4.30 o'clock. Therefore, the request is that as many as can be reached be invited to attend informally.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO ESCORT THE GOVERNOR

The Chair appoints as a committee to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, Messrs. George W. Williams, Thomas B. Wilson, and Himes.

GOVERNOR PRESENTED

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to present to you His Excellency, The Governor of the Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER. The Committee is discharged with the thanks of the House.

The Chair is honored to introduce to the Senate and the House of Representatives, His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR

GOVERNOR PINCHOT. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

When I addressed you the last time I had not anticipated having the pleasure of addressing you again so soon. I have now a matter of the greatest importance to bring before you.

I am a strong advocate of economy in government. During my first term I saved by direct economy money enough to pay off the huge debt inherited from previous Administrations. For the present fiscal year I have cut down appropriations available to me for reduction by an average of fifteen per cent. in the face of an increase of work of thirty-six per cent. caused by the depression.

I have come before you under the compulsion of a duty which I can neither avoid nor deny. I would be false to my duty if I failed to point out that the bill introduced last night through the House Committee on Appropriations constitutes a dangerous threat to the safety, honor and welfare of the Commonwealth.

A copy of this bill was presented to me by the Chairman of the Committee less than four hours ago. This message, therefore, can deal only with a few of the more outstanding vicious provisions of the bill.

The essential facts concerning this bill are three:

1. Taking into consideration the saving of $5,360,000 ordered before this Extra Session of the Legislature was convened, this bill will reduce the revenue of the Commonwealth by at least as much as it purports to save, and, therefore, will provide no free money whatever either for restoring abatements or for unemployment relief.

2. It will disorganize services of the Departments in such a way as to reduce their usefulness to the people of Pennsylvania, in this time of greatest need, out of all proportion to the amount of money it pretends to save.

3. It will force the Commonwealth to drive out of its hospitals and other institutions inmates urgently in need of care, and dump them upon the charity of the different localities and at their expense.

I proceed to consider briefly certain appropriation items in the order of the bill.

Governor's Office: The cut of $60,400 in the appropriation for the Governor's Office would cripple me in the very delicate, difficult, and laborious task of distributing tens of millions of dollars of Federal Relief which now appears certain to be available.

Greater Pennsylvania Council: The bill abolishes the Greater Pennsylvania Council by cutting off its whole unexpended balance. The Council has many projects of real value to the State under way, and to cut all its money off now involves a serious and needless waste.

Agriculture: The cut in the Department of Agriculture means that large amounts of tuberculous, instead of clean milk, will be supplied to Pennsylvania children. It will abolish the market of thousands of Pennsylvania farmers, and turn the market now supplied by them over to milk dealers in other states. It will reduce the revenues now collected by the Department for the General Fund almost, if not quite, as much as it cuts the appropriations for general expenses.

Military Affairs: The cut already ordered by me did not impair the efficiency of the National Guard. If the General Assembly chooses to cut further, it must accept the responsibility.

Forests and Waters: The appropriation for the purchase of forest lands is cut $300,000. The total balance in the appropriation is only $127,000.

Health: The Department of Health is cut $200,000, every dollar of which is directly taken from the protection of the people of Pennsylvania against disease. This Department has long functioned on a very narrow margin. The proposed cut would bear directly and especially on the children of the State, would require throwing patients out of the tuberculosis sanatoria and crippled children's hospitals. It is utterly without justification. In addition, the work of protecting our people from impure water supplies would be hard hit.

Justice: The Department of Justice is cut more than $200,000, which means not only making the Commonwealth helpless in many vital legal matters, but also entails a reduction in revenue much larger than the cut. This is because of the large number of necessary prosecutions required in delinquent tax cases.

Labor and Industry: The cut of more than a quarter of a million dollars in the Department of Labor and Industry is a most serious attack on the safety not only of working people, but of all other classes of people in Pennsylvania. It can be explained only on the basis that the members of the Committee on Appropriations who are responsible for this bill are entirely indifferent as to whether or not the working people of this Commonwealth are reasonably protected against accidents to life and limb. This cut also would entail a large reduction in revenue.

The State Athletic Commission: The State Athletic Commission has been cut $30,000. I call attention to the fact that for every dollar appropriated the State Athletic Commission returns more than two for the General Fund.

Property and Supplies: The salaries and general expenses of the Department of Property and Supplies are cut $250,000, which would mean that much government property would deteriorate; that supervision of buildings under construction could not be properly done, doubtless leading to extensive losses; and that State buildings must be neglected.

The maintenance of all State sanatoria is seriously hit by a deuction in general supplies of $630,000. Tuberculosis patients would have to be turned out or be underfed.

The bill abolishes practically the wholly uncontracted balance for State construction of every kind. Such action is not only thoroughly unintelligent but also thoroughly harmful. There is at least half a million dollars required for absolutely necessary construction for the care of the wards of the State under the Department of Welfare alone.

Public Instruction: The reduction of $250,000 in the appropriation for the aid of school districts will do more injury to the needy school districts of the Commonwealth than any other proposed reduction. It means that for the next school year some of the needy districts will be unable to keep their schools in session even for the minimum term, and that the salaries of teachers cannot be paid.

I cite this single example alone because proper discussion of the cuts under the Department of Public Instruction is impossible in the time at my command.

I point out, however, that the reduction of $4,305,000 from the Public School Employes' Retirement Fund involves a direct violation of the good faith of the Commonwealth. It is robbing trust funds. In the first part of my first term, in the face of enormous financial diffculties, I succeeded in restoring $8,000,000 to this Fund which had been wrongfully withheld from it. This item is a repudiation of the good faith of the Commonwealth and strikes at every school teacher and every school district in Pennsylvania.

The proposed cuts to Pennsylvania State College, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Pittsburgh, Temple University, and other institutions, involve another direct repudiation of the honorable obligations of the Commonwealth. Contracts have already been made and expenses have already been incurred, trusting in the good faith of the State of Pennsylvania. We cannot allow them to be double crossed. Moreover, it is not good sense to restore cuts made by the Talbot decision with one hand and take even more money away with the other.

State Employes' Retirement Fund. The copy of the bill put in my hands did not contain a proposed cut of $840,000 from the State Employes' Retirement Fund, but the printed bill does. This is another example of breaking contracts and robbing trust funds.

Department of Revenue: The average cost of collecting taxes under the Department of Revenue in the General Fund is eight-tenths of one per cent. In other words, the Department of Revenue collects $99.20 for every 80 cents it spends. The bill cuts $270,000 from salaries and general expenses of this Department, and in effect abolishes the collecting force of the Department as distinct from the services of receiving and transmitting money to the State Treasurer, which must be carried on.

The direct result of this cut, if it is made, will be a reduction in revenue to the Commonwealth of much exceeding ten million dollars. If there is either sense or logic in such a proposal I am unable to discover it.

Department of Welfare: The Department of Welfare appropriation is cut $2,709,000, nearly the whole of which is taken out of the cost of caring for the State's sick, prisoners, and insane in State-owned hospitals and other institutions. This cut means that nothing approaching proper maintenance can be given to these wards of the State.

Either the State should not have undertaken to care for them, or, having undertaken to do so, it should carry out its undertaking. If this cut is carried through, it will result in untold suffering among the present wards of the State, or in returning them in large numbers to be cared for at the expense of the localities from which they come.

With this cut to be borne by those who cannot help themselves, I call your attention in contrast to the proposed reduction of $1,100 out of $1,568,000 in the expenses of the Legislative Department.

The honor of the Commonwealth is involved in carrying out the pledges it has made to schools, school teachers, and the care of the unfortunate. Repudiation of a contract is even more blame-worthy on the part of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania than on the part of any individual citizen. If there were no higher motive, Pennsylvania cannot afford to repudiate its word.

I wish to give notice that if this bill passes in its present form, it will be vetoed. If it passes in any form which disregards the honor of the Commonwealth, which reduces appropriations by more money than is left in them, which passed the burden to the helpless, or which is otherwise open to the vital objections before enumerated in this message, it will be vetoed.

This is no time to disintegrate the Government of Pennsylvania. Never more than at this moment was an alert, effective governmental machine needed to minister to the necessities of our people at a time of unprecedented suffering and need.

I suggest to the House of Representatives that it consider these questions not on a basis of personal interest, nor of supposed political advantage, but on the only true basis, which is the needs of the Commonwealth and its people.

If such a bill as this were passed and it later appeared that the money for unemployment relief ostensibly made available by it was a mere figment of the imagination, the result to the security of life and property in Pennsylvania might be most serious.

I urge the members of the House to give to this whole question the sober consideration which it deserves. As the General Assembly deals with this matter, the security of our people, the relief of the unemployed, and the honor of our Commonwealth will go up or go down.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Governor.

The SPEAKER. The Governor has returned to his Chamber and an interrogation would hardly be in order.

Section [2] 3 This act shall become effective upon its passage and approval by the Governor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just a few hours ago, at the closing minutes of last night's session, this House passed a resolution endorsing the report of the sub-committee of the Committee on Appropriations. A few hours later or at this morning's session, the impression seemed to prevail that this sub-committee had not been fair, had not notified and had not given every institution, every department of the Commonwealth a chance for a hearing.

I want to say, in order to refute that charge, that as you all know Center County has within its bounds certain institutions which will be vitally interested if this bill is permitted to pass. I called upon that committee and asked them whether it would be possible to have certain persons interested appear before them. They very gladly gave unto me a certain time when I might present the men whom I wished to present the financial condition of the institutions interested before that committee. These men appeared, and I want to say, frankly, that they received fair, impartial and most courteous treatment. I believe that no committee has ever been given a job quite so hard as that sub-committee.

As has been so well expressed by one of the members of the Senate, we are to make brick without straw. The people of Pennsylvania or delegations from different areas of the State have been sending in here delegations, and they are telling us that children are crying for food and poverty and want exists in all the districts of our State.

Again, the taxpayers of Pennsylvania have notified us that we dare not increase the taxes. So, there is only one way left for the members of this House and for the members of that Committee to raise any funds whatever, and that is through economy in State government, and in the State and semi-State institutions. While I am sorry and I feel it is almost impossible for some of these institutions to exist if the cut is made as presented in this bill, yet I believe most of the institutions of the State realize that we are now meeting an emergency and, in order to meet that emergency, we must make sacrifices in our different departments and in the different institutions of the State. So, with that thought in mind, I think it would be a mistake if this House, knowing the conditions in the State of Pennsylvania as they are today, would not be willing to make some sacrifices and be able to rise up above those personal and selfish interests, and be willing to say to the people of Pennsylvania, we are willing to come into line with your private business and private individuals and practice more economy in all the departments. I hope, therefore, we will make a start by passing this bill.

There may be some inequalities, there may be some institutions and some departments which will be injured but if that be so there is a chance, after it has passed through the House, to take it up with the Senate. Furthermore, it is only a matter of a few months when the legislature will again be in regular session, and judging from the past I have enough faith in the members of this House to know that if we have wronged any department, if we have wronged any institution, we will be willing to make it right at that time.

I ask you to pass this bill.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have tried to understand this bill, I have tried to study it to determine whether or not it would be sound economy and whether or not we would really be correcting the evil that we are trying to correct by accepting this measure.

I came here during the last session, and I sat here like a good many more, more or less bewildered not knowing what to do in order to be right. I still feel that there are a large number of us here at the present time who do not know what they should do in order to be right.

There are several questions that I would like to ask concerning this measure before I feel satisfied to support it. I do not want to be an obstacle in the way of working out some solution of this problem.

I believe that we have arrived at a time when something definite must be done, I feel satisfied that whatever we do must be sound and consistent, and I am satisfied that if we do not do the right thing at this time, our opportunity for amending the present situation will soon have passed away.

I cannot understand, however, how we can through a reduction in the appropriations to the hospitals of $162,000 offer a constructive program to furnish relief. The hospitals are doing some of the most effective relief work that is being done in the State today. Their charitable work has more than doubled and to take this money away from them at this time would to me seem criminal, because if the facts are known I do not believe that there is enough money to spend to assist the poor sick and the poor afflicted. Furthermore when it comes to reducing the appropriations to State sanitoria who are taking care of tubercular patients, I understand that they will have to turn some of their patients out in the world. If that is going to be the result, I think, then, we will have done more harm than we can hope to counter balance by the rest of this act. Tuberculosis is a disease that spreads, and it must be properly taken care of. A good many of these patients, who have been received into these institutions, have just reached the point where they are beginning to receive the benefits of the care given to them. To turn them out simply means murder. Again the State owned hospitals have been reduced $5,164,301. They are in a class with the other hospitals that are taking care of the sick and afflicted, and also must be given consideration. In the Teachers' Colleges, I understand that this department out of the $10,000,000 that is received as an appropriation, collects close to $6,000,000 through the students, and, therefore, as soon as the cut is made the State is only appropriating $4,000,000 to that department. My friends, I believe that this depression has come on as a result of the progress of civilization. I believe that we are approaching a new era and I believe we have to adjust our present methods to suit a new day. If we are going to do anything that will in any way retard or set back the pace that we have set, we are going to make a mistake. There is a new day dawning, I feel, and I believe that now is the time to begin to adjust ourselves to the conditions that will exist in the future. We have seen fit to substitute iron, steel and copper for sinews, muscle and brains, we have substituted electricity for steam, motor vehicles for horses, and the result has been that our power of production has been speeded up to a point where we can no longer consume all that we produce. That is one thought we should bear in mind, and this condition will never be corrected until we begin to enact legislation to take care of the changes that have been made as a result of that very thing.

I for one would like to have this House give deliberate consideration to this measure. I do not want to join up or connect up with any clique or bloc. I will vote with my own understanding of the bill, and if I am wrong I will gladly be corrected.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, no doubt every man and woman in this Hall of Assembly heard what the Governor said. If you did not hear it, I am going to repeat it, briefly, for you. He told you that if this bill is passed in its present form he would veto it.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I am convinced beyond any doubt that every representative here is very conscientious and sincere and wants to do everything in his power to alleviate the suffering of the citizens of our Commonwealth. It is true that we have differences of opinion, and we are going to have differences of opinion until the consummation of time, whenever that will be.

You have heard what our good friend and zealous worker, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee said this morning that the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee was not perfect and neither is any other chairman or sub-committee of any committee perfect.

They brought this bill out last night. It is up to the members of this Assembly to analyze it and if they are convinced it is going to alleviate the suffering of the citizens of our Commonwealth, and if they are conscientious, they should support it. But we are convinced that the Governor is not in accord with it. Therefore, do not let us be too hasty in passing this measure. Can we not do something whereby we can get the Governor to go along with us and put a constructive and humane program over. I do not want to return to Pittsburgh or Allegheny County or any other part of this State without thinking that this Legislature did do something for the unemployed.

Ladies and gentlemen yesterday certain members of the Labor Organization appeared here and talked to about one-third of the members of this House. We came in for, may I say, some unjust criticism. There is no man in this House that wants to do more or has tried to do more in behalf of labor than myself, and I do want the members affiliated with labor to get that into their noodles and have it remain there until the end of time. I want to say that I am convinced that the majority of members of this House and of the Senate are just as conscientious and have done just as much to alleviate suffering and will continue to do so as the majority of these men sent down here who represent labor. I heard what everyone said and I know something about it. They came in and told us what we should expect when and if we passed the bill which was to pay our salaries. They told us that there are people eating out of garbage cans. We knew that. By the looks of some of those fellows who were on the platform, I was convinced that they were not eating out of garbage cans. I do not think we should be criticized unjustly when we are trying to do something. Now, I am in favor of every labor movement, and I know there are many conscientious men and women affiliated with that organization, but I resent the criticism that was heaped upon the members of the House. I do say this, if the majority of the representatives of various labor organizations were conscientious and sincere they would be able to put across what they want to put across. They have come to me and told me that this bill is a detriment and they have also impressed my mind with the fact that if it would pass many thousands of people are going to be thrown out of work. If this bill does that, as well as I like my good friends, Dr. Steedle and Mr. Talbot and all the others of the sub-committee, as well as I love the Lord, I would be against it, not because Labor has told me that, but because it is going to be more of a detriment than a benefit. However, I do believe that every member of this House wants to do something, and we can do something by cooperating with good men like Kelly, and the Governor and others who I think are sincere. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, since the Governor has told us that he is going to veto the bill, I believe we should have more information regarding it.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 129, be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened intently to your various arguments pro and con. I am trying to be patient. I have heard what you have said about the various funds that you are transferring and exchanging from one department to another.

Permit me, or rather if you will bear with me, while I express to you, as an American citizen, my opinion that this piece of legislation is penny-wise and pound foolish. Let me illustrate to you. You have severed or reduced departments. What will be the ultimate result when that department head acts? He will discharge and turn out into the army of unemployed the lower bracket salary man of his group, and then another man will be walking the street unemployed. He will reduce wages to come within that budget cut, and what have you then. You have decreased the purchasing power and put your American merchant up against the wall.

Your bill, to be specific on page 11, if its provisions are carried out, does the very thing that this Special Session has been called to prevent, if possible. It turns the workmen in your counties out into the streets without jobs. You provide therein that you will cut the appropriation of the Pennsylvania State Park and Harbor Commission, thirty-seven thousand dollars. We in that district have no rural roads to put our unemployed on. Our only hope and salvation are the few works of this nature, and you take them away from us. Let us say to you that your program is penny wise and pound foolish. You can stand here and argue as long as you may, still come down to the fact that taxation is your only answer.

There is no member of this House who is more bitterly opposed to increased taxation than I am, but after the studies I have given to the subject, I believe and am firmly convinced that there are sources in Pennsylvania that have not yet been touched. Why should we as citizens stand back for special privileged interests? Why should the contractors and corporations from out of this State take State contracts bringing thousands into the State to do the work that our citizens should rightly do. Why do we, as a group, consider dollars and cents when the human element should be first. I presented to this House a bill providing that in this emergency six hours should constitute a day's work on public projects. I have not heard from that bill yet. It is drafted and drawn on the very fundamentals wherever we are assembled. Gentlemen, I say to you that I believe we should stop and consider the measure before us. Do not be too hasty.

We have with patience sat through hearings in this House listening to the unemployed, and while we sometimes have been tempted to snicker, those same men are the descendants of Washington, Franklin and some of the other patriots who bore arms against England and if they had the courage and convictions to bear arms then to protect their lives, they have the courage and convictions now. We do not want the blood of these innocents upon us or upon anyone else. It is up to us to devise ways and means. Let us cast aside politics, and you gentlemen can do so. I leave you with this impression, on the State seal you will find the words "Liberty, Virtue and Independence." Try to give to your constituents what that seal means.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, during the Governor's spray of oratorical criticism, hyper-criticism of the things that go into everything that the minds of other men may determine by thought, he threw it all to the four quarters of the winds and let it blow.

For the Governor of Pennsylvania as the Governor, I hold the office in high esteem. It is the best that the people of Pennsylvania can give to any of its citizenry, the executive head of our Commonwealth. Yet, however, I am mindful of the fact that the Governor is just a human being like each and every one of us here assembled. He has the sense of touch, he has instinct, if you prick him he will bleed like the rest of us. For myself I cannot entertain the thought that he is the most outstanding thoughtful individual in this Commonwealth, because we are imbued with the same heritage that he has; I have intelligence, I have not lost, in my own appreciation at least, my enjoyment in any way of all of my five senses. And when I, as a citizen of the Commonwealth, see fit in my own mind and in my own judgment to do what I think may be best for all concerned, there is no reason why I have to take the suspicions or the analyses of a critic.

The Governor no doubt has the right, and I don't deny him that right, of vetoing this measure if he so desires. But let us analyze some of the things that he has said, and in answering him I hope to answer at the same time my good friend from Luzerne, Mr. Hermansen.

By a reduction in the operative expense of the departments and of the sanatoria of Pennsylvania, he would have us believe that every individual inmate of that institution would be placed upon a cart and be carried into the political subdivision from whence he came because we have retrenched in a program of extravagance. Now gentlemen, everyone knows as well as I do that the costs of your table at home have been considerably reduced and I believe it has been estimated that foodstuffs have dropped to the extent of about twenty-seven or twenty-nine per cent, I don't quote these figures as being absolute, but it strikes me that that is about the average.

As a practicing physician I feel perfectly satisfied in my own mind to answer the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Hermansen, from the standpoint of medicine. I say to you and I say to every citizen of the Commonwealth, and I say to the members of this House and I say to the Governor of the Commonwealth that a rigid economic program eliminating the excessive expense and extravagances is not a measure whereby the individuality of any institution will be destroyed.

Again, I reiterate, and I say as I said this morning; no matter where we start somebody must be hurt. That goes as well in any man's personal business today. A man who probably once maintained a corps of office employes of ten or fifteen or twenty or even a hundred if you please, today is probably employing only one or two. Is this condition the fault of that man who formerly employed a hundred? Absolutely not. That is the result of the condition of the hour. Suppose that man had kept that coterie of employes and on Saturday after Saturday when they would be expecting their envelopes paying for the services rendered, that he would say to them in turn, "John, Henry, Mary, Jane," whoever it may be, "today I cannot pay you; you see my books, you know my business, and you know that I have no money." How long would that lady or that gentleman work for that individual in private business? I picture it as being a very little while. Sure you might have exceptions and I am mentally elastic enough to appreciate that out of that list of employes there might be one or two or three or possibly four who have been in the services of this individual for many years; that this man was liberal to his employes and in the days of his prosperity in dollars and cents he paid them and he paid them well and a few might remain probably to make a return in appreciation of his former treatment of them. And so I say that the same thing holds good in governmental expense accounts. If the government continues in its waste and extravagance with all of its bureaus and commissions and in its institutions and the Executive department and the Department of Health and everything in turn, ladies and gentlemen, the day is soon coming when you will all have to work for nothing, and I am sure if we come to an empty treasury on that day there will be very few occupying their desks and that same thing holds good in private enterprise.

Let us look at this bill with some degree of sanity; don't let us be influenced with any animosity whatever, political or whatever you want to term it. Let us meet this question as we see it. The picture of economy must be accepted in some form. I don't say that this measure is one hundred per cent. right, but I do say that here is a start, and let us get a beginning as we must. You all realize that after the passage of this bill by the members of the House of Representatives it must then go across the hall to the Senate chamber where it again must receive consideration and be given deliberation. If that body in its wisdom thinks that we have possibly overstepped our balance sheet in making our reductions, they have the right and the prerogative, senatorially, so to speak, to send it back to the House with the proper amendments that may at least satisfy a certain percentage of the people and possibly might melt the Governor's hatred toward this bill. It is not perfect, I agree, but ladies and gentlemen, let us give it due consideration.

To my good friend, Mr. Dunn, my colleague, who is representing the district that I have represented, and which we both do today, I would say that he knows down deep in his heart that there has never been a piece of labor legislation placed before the membership of this House that I have voted against. I have served in this body many years and I again assure you that at no time in my experience as a legislator from Allegheny County have I been adverse to labor. If time would permit, I might probably recite some of the history of labor bills since 1913, of which session there are yet remaining in this House a few men. I might take you down the line of 1915, 1917, 1919, 1921 and on down to the present, but time does not permit and we don't want to be here all night if we can possibly avoid it, but we want to get out of here as soon as we can and we must remember that there is still a day of reckoning, a day to adjust this thing, and that can be done across the hall. The people of the Commonwealth and all parts of the Commonwealth will admit this one fact, that we are making an effort to do something and we can go home with that end in view and with the knowledge that the attempt on our part was an honest one, and if the Governor of the Commonwealth sees fit to veto this measure, the responsibility for that act rests on him. I contend that he has no right to say to you or to me or to anybody else, "because I disagree with you, your judgment is not sound." He cannot hold up a hoop in this three-tent circus, in here and in the Senate, and say to the members of the House and of the Senate, "This is my opinion. Every one of you jump through that hoop and do the Barnum and Bailey act." We have a right to think for ourselves. He called us here for a distinct purpose, and in the first part of his proclamation was a provision for economy in government. Acting under that call we prepare and present a picture of economy and we sent it out of committee and he says that we are crazy. If he don't use that term, he at least as much as has said that. I don't accept that. I still retain by faculties the same as he does. I hope he retains his faculties as long as he lives and I have the same hope for myself.

To Mr. Dunn I want to answer, nobody will lose a job excepting possibly a paltry few if the bill should pass, but it does make the department head reduce the salaries so that the economic program recommended by this legislative body shall be accomplished, and that is destroying no vital part of the life of any individual and neither is he thrown out on this so-called unemployment band wagon of today. And we have a right to exercise this authority. Why, ladies and gentlemen of the House, in the case of one of the department heads that appeared before the committee, and after we had said that we would recommend and that we would insist on a certain reduction in his department, that department head came back and said to us ,"I have found you another hundred and seventy thousand dollars." And we accepted that gladly, and that is the department that the Governor refers to in his oratorical criticism and says that we will spoil the educational program of the Commonwealth. That is untrue.

Again, the Governor made the statement that if this piece of legislation were to pass, it would cripple the receipt and use on the part of Pennsylvania of the three hundred million dollars of the Wagner bill which has been before the Congress of the United States. I think that bill has a new title now, but in substance it is the same bill the provisions of which have been agreed upon by the Congress, the Senate and the President. He said it would cripple the receipt and handling of that money. The Governor in his office told the subcommittee, that paid him the tribute not to call him before the committee but treated him as an executive, and went to him with a program and asked him what he could do in his department to help out with it; he said, "I cannot do anything further than cut my department twenty-five thousand dollars."

Secondly, before we left we said, "How will this money be distributed and where will the money come from, and can we use the money from the Federal government and put it in the program for distribution?" Yesterday he didn't know, and I say that today he don't know, and he unalterably spoke an untruthful statement here when he said that. It is just a question with him of an attempt to back-bite; because he didn't know yesterday and he doesn't know today that any part of that Federal appropriation can be used for distribution, and yet he said that if we pass this legislation we would destroy the use of these Federal funds and the authority to have them participate with the twenty-three million dollars.

Let us analyze his declaration when he said he cannot—ladies and gentlemen of the House, I say to you this is not the day to use the word "cannot," but I say that this is the day and hour to substitute the words "let us try" and I think that is behooving on his part as much as it is on ours.

What did this committee say in its recommendation to the Governor's office? It recommended a cut of sixty thousand four hundred dollars. Taking him at his own figures, he said that he has already retrenched to the extent of twenty-five thousand dollars, leaving it necessary for him to economize and raise that figure to sixty thousand four hundred dollars or an additional thirty-five thousand four hundred dollars.

In the appropriation of 1929, for the biennium ending June 1st, 1931, there was appropriated to Governor Fisher four hundred and ten thousand four hundred dollars; the unexpended appropriation lapsed from that department of Governor Fisher's administration and inherited by Governor Pinchot's administration, if the term may be so applied, was sixty-eight thousand four hundred dollars. Now we felt that if that was possible—he got that money and we know that the appropriation for 1931-1933 as passed was a hundred and eighty-four thousand dollars I think in round figures, and whose estimated budget for 1933 is a hundred and eighty-eight thousand dollars, leaving him about three hundred and seventy-six thousand dollars, and the difference between that and the four hundred and ten thousand dollars would be thirty-eight thousand four hundred dollars. We only took what Fisher left over for him to use, and it still left him eight thousand four hundred dollars. Now I ask any man here whether that is poor bookkeeping or whether that is sound judgment, to take away from what he had already received and only add thirty-five thousand to what he had agreed to take off himself. He can economize the same as any other officer. The stenography, the electricity, telephone and telegraph, and even the printing and all that kind of stuff comes out of the Department of Property and Supplies. If the office employe list is too heavy and he doesn't want to lay anybody off, let him reduce the salaries of these department heads. He has plenty of big men over there that could take a cut. There is not a man here who has not taken it in some way or other. The professional man is not receiving pay for fifteen per cent. of the service he performs. The employe in the workshop, if he is lucky enough to have a job today that probably made five hundred dollars a month a few years ago, is making about a hundred and fifty dollars today.

Permit me to infringe on your time for a moment in connection with this question of a reduction in salaries. The Pressed Steel Car Company, which is located in my home town, had a payroll in April of 1933 of five hundred and seventy-one thousand dollars. Four years later the payroll, in April of 1932, was four thousand six hundred and some odd dollars. Is the Commonwealth responsible for that? Is the Federal government responsible for that? Is it the individuals themselves that are responsible? I cannot answer. But that is a real picture of the stress of the times in my home town. Men whom I knew that were supervisors and superintendents of departments and who enjoyed all of the luxuries that the world could give on salaries from six to eight thousand dollars a year, are working today in that plant for fifty cents an hour acting as watchmen, working two shifts on turns of eleven hours a day on one turn and thirteen hours a day on the other. And permit me to tell you, they are glad they have that little job.

Now ladies and gentlemen, there is no use debating and talking and arguing; the pendulum of extravagance must be swung in the opposite direction.

Permit me to give you a history of the appropriations beginning with the biennium of 1921-1923, thereby establishing in your own minds our intoxication with money and our readiness to give it away like drunken sailors without ever thinking that the day would come when possibly a hundred thousand dollars would be a big lump of money.

The appropriation for the biennium 1921-1923 was $117,612,340.78.

The appropriation for the biennium 1923-1925 was $114,926,458.61.

The appropriation for the biennium 1925-1927 was $125,048,166.25.

And here is where we began acting, as I said like drunken sailors, dealing out money to the world, whether it was the penny, the nickel, the dime or the dollar, we didn't care. The appropriations for the biennium 1927-1929 were $146,479,602.64.

The appropriations for the biennium 1929-1931 were $190,663,339.07.

In round figures, from 1921 to 1929, we raised our appropriations almost seventy-three million dollars, and now because we see fit to make a curtailment of twenty-two million dollars plus, we are crazy; we don't know anything. The Governor knows it all, and I resent that criticism, as I said before. He only has a human mind and because he is Governor of the Commonwealth doesn't mean that he can tell you or me or any other individual citizen of the Commonwealth that "My least word shall be supreme, and if I tell you to do this you walk that chalk line, and if you deviate one iota, you are all wrong."

This bill under discussion could be gone into in detail and every part of it argued and we could delve down into every section of that bill, but if we did, we would be here I don't know how long. I think it would be like the session of 1913 when we passed the Public Service Commission Act. For two weeks we debated it section for section, and after the debates were all over, the vote remained just the same on the last day as it did when we started to put in the amendments on the first day. It is the same story here.

Ladies and gentlemen, I hope that you have confidence in us—and when I use the term "us" I mean the Appropriations Committee and its sub-committee. Let this bill go to the Senate; if it is wrong in the main and if they can trim it any and make it look nicer and paint the picture a little more beautiful and add a little color and put a little rouge on her lips and cheeks, with a little rouge and powder, I am satisfied to accept whatever they recommend, but don't let us stifle the progress of this bill. Let us put it through today and send it to the Senate and let them try to trim the curls that we were unable to do.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I do not think any one here can accuse me of being a blind follower of the Governor. I have voted against him more often than I have voted for him during the sessions I have been here, but I do want to say that in my humble judgment, at least, the first purpose of this session of this Legislature is not economy. The first purpose is to relieve the unemployed, and I say, as I said last week, that we should have started out by passing an emergency appropriation to take care of the starving while we were arguing about how we were going to get the money. That is what we do ordinarily in the case of an emergency. We do not sit around and argue for several weeks while people are starving and homeless. Fifty-seven thousand families in Philadelphia have had no relief since June 25, and a similar condition exists in many other parts of the State. We should have passed an emergency relief appropriation immediately and then started arguing about just where we were going to get the money. I say that because I do not want any member to get up and say that because I am opposed to this particular bill I am opposed to unemployment relief. That is one thing that I resent about this program. You say if you don't take this and swallow it hook, line, bait and sinker you are against unemployment relief. I do not believe that this is the only choice that lies before this legislature. I do not believe that it is necessary for us to abate the appropriations to hospitals and other State owned institutions in order to relieve the unemployed.

It is all very well for the chairman of the Appropriations Committee to say that the price of food stuffs has fallen twenty-seven per cent., but any hospital man will tell you that their free service during the past year has more than doubled. People that used to pay now go into the free ward because they can't afford to pay, they are unemployed. The hospitals have to take care of them, they can't turn them out, they can't refuse to serve them. They say that everybody must sacrifice. These people have been made ill by malnutrition but the other fellows in the different departments sacrifice nothing. They refuse to give your hospitals assistance. That is what you are doing if you cut down the appropriation to those institutions at the present time. Their need for an appropriation has increased rather than decreased. We can't afford to cut them. I am in full agreement that some things cut be cut off, but what does this bill propose to cut? It leaves it to the department heads to decide where they are going to apply the cuts. Are the department heads going to take cuts themselves? Are you going to cut the big fellows or are you going to cut the men that are vitally needed, who have worked for years, for instance, to get an efficient inspection department in the Department of Labor and Industry? Are you going to lay off those inspectors and cease that work. That is what is said is going to be done if we make that cut. I do not believe that if that is the fact, we should leave it within the power of those heads to do that. If we are going to cut everybody, let us start at the top. But you say, "we can't do that. Their salaries are fixed. All we can do is to pass resolutions asking them to voluntarily take a cut, and trust they will do it." But that is not what you are doing to the little fellow. You are going to say to him, "you are going to take a cut. In many cases you are going to lose your job. You are going out." That is the same thing they have been doing all over the United States. They speak about the cuts that have been made. Only in the last week you read the stories about the salaries that the presidents of these railroad corporations are still getting, despite the fact that half of their employes are not working at all. The big fellows at the top could afford to take a cut of ten per cent. They used to get $135,000, and now they are getting $121,000. I think everyone of you will agree that a cut of ten per cent. in a salary of that size does not mean as much as it does in a salary of one thousand dollars or less. If they had cut all the way down the line, instead of laying off people altogether, which is what they have done, it would have been better. Do we want to make a cut in our Department of Welfare? Their needs have increased. This depression has added to the burdens of all the institutions that come under that department. Do we want to cut those at this time? Would that be unemployment relief? Would that be economy? I do not think you really believe it would be economy. In the long run it would increase the expense to say nothing of its effect on the health of the people of this Commonwealth.

You say that the only way we can relieve the unemployed is by economy. You say that under no circumstances must we levy any new taxes. Why not? Why should public utilities be permitted to go on getting their excess pronts, requiring in most cases that the receivers of their service pay down a deposit before they will give them service, and then turning off the service the first time the bill becomes three weeks over due, as many of the electric companies are doing today. They are not losing any of their net income in the way that other businesses are, because they are protected both by our public service company laws and by the rules they have adopted under those laws. They are still making their net profits, they are still making their excess profits. Do you mean to tell us that we must cut the hospitals, we must cut our State institutions, we must cut our Department of Health, our Department of Labor and Industry, our Department of Welfare but that we dare not touch the excess profits of our public utilities. You dare not put a manufacture's corporation tax on them. Oh, no; that would ruin the whole Commnowealth; that is what they would have you believe.

My friends, the time has come to realize that there is another way out. If you want really to protect the interests of the unemployed of this Commonwealth, if you care more for them than you do for vested rights, if you want to put human rights ahead of property rights, there is another way out. If you want to go on protecting property rights and putting them first, last and all the time and ignoring human rights, then you have an argument for this bill. But I don't believe any of you will admit that that is what you want to do, but that is what you are doing by putting this program before us and telling us you have no other choice, that you dare not do anything else.

Pennsylvania is one of the richest states in the United States. We have an abundance of natural resources, of food, clothing and shelter, and yet we have one million, one hundred and fifty thousand unemployed, who are facing immediate, actual starvation, and yet you say the only way you can do anything for them is to economize and cut this necessary service which we have built after years of effort. It will be much harder to get it back again once you have cut it than it is to keep that service now. I do not say that there are no excess salaries paid in our State government. I believe that there are such salaries, I believe that some departments, with which this Committee has dealt rather lightly, might be able to give more than they have, and I certainly believe that you can raise money by excess profit taxes, and by a manufacturers' corporation tax, and by income taxes. I have been told by an economic authority in Pennsylvania that a flat income tax with an abatement promptly taken and which would undertake to exempt the lower ranges of income would be constitutional. I can see no reason why we should not, at least, try something like that. Let us see if there is some way out of this dilemma. You are cutting out all the building program of the State practically. Our counties and cities have been building roads and this that and the other in order to put the unemployed to work, yet this measure is cutting out a large part of the appropriation for the Pymatuning Reservoir, which I am told is still used to give the unemployed work. I am one who does not believe that public works is a very efficient means of relieving unemployment. I have discussed before at length what I consider to be a program for unemployment relief, and I don't propose to bore you with it again, but I do want to call your attention to the inconsistency of coming here and cutting an appropriation for public works and then going back home and telling your cities and your counties about a program to put the unemployed to work, when you have given them a dole. I am told that this Talbot bill has a provision to permit money to be paid out for direct relief as well as indirect relief. Why, they have cut out almost all of the building program, particularly for institutions that we all know are overcrowded. Certainly every man in this body who is a lawyer knows the difficulty there is in getting a new patient admitted to one of these institutions. You know when you want to get somebody into one of these institutions, in many cases you have to take somebody out who is not quite so crazy but who nevertheless ought not to be free, ought to be under supervision. They are over crowded, they haven't got the room and yet you say, in the name of unemployment relief, let us reduce their appropriations, let us cut their building program, let us forget about these unfortunates, and then pass it in the name of the great god economy. That is not economy, my friends, it is folly, and the worst argument of all that I have heard on this floor is that we should pass it immediately and if there is anything the matter with it let the Senate take care of it. We can say that the Senate is not bound by it. Are we rubber stamps? Should we not decide on the merits of a bill? Should we pass the buck to the Senate or should we have some hesitancy in the matter? Naturally if we pass it, the proponents of the bill over there will say, "The House has passed it. It must be a good measure. Let us pass it too." That is only passing the buck. It is only neccssary to say, "This is a cooperative program, and as they have cut the wages in private industry we must, therefore, cut them for public employes too."

I have heard many times on this floor that the cause of unemployment is the lack of purchasing power on the part of the workers, and the more you cut your wages the more you are going to decrease that purchasing power, whether they happen to be employed by the State or by merchants. One of the greatest periods of prosperity we ever had was during the war, when we were paying high wages both in the State and in private industry. They say today that private industry cannot afford to pay the taxes with which to pay the wages of public employes. Well, if the time has come when private industries cannot operate their industries, when they cannot put the unemployed to work, when there are a million in Pennsylvania facing actual starvation whom they are not able to employ, when they are too poor to pay taxes, then it is time for us to try some other system of operating our industries. We have plenty of industrial resources, plenty of resources of all kinds. Certainly we can take care of the unfortunate and needy. The unemployed are willing and anxious to work, if only you will give them the chance. If you are going to stand by and say "No; we won't give you jobs and we won't give you adequate relief," what do you expect them to do? Do you expect them to maintain respect for the nation? Do you expect them to stand by and starve peaceably without protest?

What would you do if you were out of a job? If you were out of a job, if you had a wife and several kiddies at home that were slowly starving, if the landlord was threatening to evict you, if you had no money to pay the rent, but you were able and willing to work and could not get a job, if the State turned to you and said, "No; we can't relieve you." We must economize. We must not impose taxes on the rich." Would you have any respect for a government like that? I do not believe there is a man or woman in this House that would respect government under such circumstances. The primary duty of any government is to protect its people, to make it possible for them to obtain the necessities of life, and if it is necessary to keep the unemployed from starving it is our duty to take every cent of the rich man's wealth.

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Steedle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SHORTZ. Mr. Speaker, have the department heads indicated or stated explicitly as to how the operation of their departments will be adjusted to meet the conditions brought about by the reductions in appropriations? That is, whether the reductions in appropriations will cause the discharge of many of those who may be termed the lesser employes, thus adding to the ranks of the unemployed or whether the decreased appropriation will be taken care of by proper economies without detriment to the people?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like very much to answer the gentleman's question fully, but it is a rather long and involved one. However, as I understand the purport of the question, my answer is "no."

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I arise in order that I may explain the vote that I shall cast on this bill. It is an important question and it has been seriously discussed on the floor of this House, and it doubtless will receive the honest and the sober consideration of every intelligent man, woman and child of this Commonwealth, and this is a serious hour for every one of us.

I would be entirely disregarding the solemn obligations resting upon me, as it does upon every member of this House, should I not seriously consider the step I am about to take in voting for or against this bill. I take it, Mr. Speaker, that nothing can ever be accomplished in any legislation except by going step by step. This bill is not all that I should like to see it be. I rather reluctantly voted to support it, when I did, but, Mr. Speaker, up to the present time we have not taken any measure or even found a substance of something that we can fall back on to make a provision for unemployment relief. No bill of any kind has as yet been discussed in this chamber to show just what kind of relief is to be given even if this enormous sum of money is saved by the elimination of these various positions and the curtailment of appropriations in these various departments of government. But the time will come when some measure providing ways and means to be given to the unemployed will doubtless be offered. The first thing we need to do is to find the money and all we are doing now, it seems to me, is what any prudent father will do with his family when the rest are out of work and his own purse is depleted. He cannot go to the grocer, to the tailor and to the barber as freely as he could when his purse was full. Let the step be taken. If later on in this session measures are introduced, even though it be upon a taxation basis, to derive revenue from other sources to meet the demands of the unemployed and if necessary put them back to work, where they ought to be, then, sir, this bill itself may avail.

I take it from what His Excellency, the Governor says, when he addressed this chamber a little while ago, that he fully intends to veto the bill in its present shape. What happens? We pass it and send it over to the Senate; they pass it and he gets the bill, and then in all probability what particular objections he might have to some parts of it will have have to be ironed out by conference committees in both Houses. But we are doing something and taking a step forward although it may not be the final word in the matter.

For that reason only I am going to support this bill.

I believe in an occupation tax. There are nine million people in this Commonwealth and at least one-third of that number are employed in all the various lines of industry which still give life and sustenance to the home. I believe the man who has must be made to give; whether that sounds altogether prudent or not; I believe the man who has must recognize the wants of his neighbor, even if he goes down with the ship when it sinks in the final analysis, just as his neighbor does. Suppose you have an occupation tax or head tax ranging from ten dollars upwards. The tax will fall very lightly upon the different industries. It will fall upon the lawyer, the merchant, the doctor, the engineer, the man who holds a political position, all of that kind together and the tax on occupations thus derived, as I figure it out from figures which I have had before me, would amount to at least three hundred million dollars. With that amount of money, sir, distributed as I would like to see it, and as it would be by the provisions of the bill that is now before the Appropriations Committee, that a board of trustees should be appointed by the Governor, five in number, that might lend to the various industries of this State whatever sums of money they needed to enable them to get on their feet.

It seems to me, members of the House, that what ails us today is the want of confidence, one in the other, and particularly so in our banking institutions of this State. I know of one concern in Philadelphia, in existence for fifty or sixty years, doing millions of dollars worth of work every year, and employing in Philadelphia not less than a thousand men, a profitable concern and a charitable concern which had erected hotels and restaurants and everything for the comfort and convenience of their employes; they had orders for three or four hundred thousand dollars worth of work but in order to keep going they went to the bank for a little loan to help themselves along, but instead of their getting the loan the bank sold them out on former obligations they had and they asked for a receiver and threw out of employment a thousand men in Philadelphia alone, and this concern had branches in other parts of the country.

My friends, I believe in this old doctrine that "If the mountain won't come to you, you have to go to the mountain." The only thing that is wrong is that colossal organizations of wealth have heaped up in millions and billions the available assets which should be put into circulation among the masses and the only way you can correct that is by going to the source where it happens to be and make the proper levies and collect the proportion that I would like to make in my bill, and by proper oppropriations from this fund derived from taxation and by putting taxes on occupations and putting the money back to work in the industries where it comes back again into the very hands that donated it or subscribed it, and what is the result? The man that works in one industry, within a week or so afterward is again employed, is out buying products and the production of the other industries, and in less than a month or two your money is in circulation, and all we have been doing thus far and probably all we could do thus far, I say all we have been doing so far is trying to see what we could save, but in the last analysis we don't need to save all this and the Governor's veto comes in and he can cut it down; let us cut it down then but for the present I shall vote aye on this bill.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I realize that this debate has gone quite some distance and that we are all quite tired. But I feel that I would like to express one or two observations to the House before the debate closes.

We are here in pursuance of the Governor's call to provide unemployment relief, and the first object pronounced in that proclamation was to be reductions in appropriations previously made and by "amendments or modifications of existing tax laws," et cetera.

Acting in pursuance of that Article one of Governor Pinchot's call, this House has been in session for three weeks and the various committees have labored quite diligently and faithfully and to the best of their ability and they have produced to the House the bill that is now under discussion. It is part of the program, as you all know, to cut from the appropriations previously made the sum of approximately twenty-three million dollars, so that this fund realized from the economies effected may be distributed in unemployment relief. With this bill before you, you are ready to vote on it, but His Excellency, the Governor, came before us and took up this act item by item, missing none, and criticised the action of this House through the work of its Appropriation Committee. The Governor tells us that he is a firm believer in economy, but in view of his criticism of the economies proposed in this bill I am beginning to wonder if the only economy that he would be in favor of would not be to cut off the navy of the State. He objects to the abolition of the Greater Pennsylvania Council, he objects to a slight cut in administration expenses and in the aviation commission and in the appropriations to the Department of Forests and Waters. I say to this House that if His Excellency will place the purchase of forest land before the importance of meeting the needs of the hungry and distressed of this State I am bound to wonder at the sincerity of intent of this self-appointed apostle of the common man.

I say to you, members of the House, that in one item expressed in his message before you he has misstated the facts, and I refer to it only because it happens to cover a bill introduced by me before the committee.

The Governor has told you that if we were to withhold from the school employee's retirement fund for the coming year the sum of four million three hundred thousand dollars that that will be breaking the faith of the State, that we will be robbing a trust fund. Now gentlemen, I know that the members of the House would not prevent us from looking at the true facts. This State contributes annually to the school employes retirement fund—under existing law we are bound to make that contribution. In order to get money to distribute for unemployment relief the committee has sought the policy of a moratorium in these payments for the next three years. It is the policy for the State not to pay into this fund the sum of four million three hundred thousand dollars but to use it for unemployment relief and in 1935, when we shall have turned the corner of this depression, let us repay this sum into that fund.

Why, gentlemen, the provisions of that bill as to the moratorium was discussed in detail with the Department of Public Instruction of this State. A meeting was held and we discussed that very fact and they agreed with this committee that this House might withhold this money. In that trust fund, gentlemen, there is about ninety-one million dollars invested in securities, and if this House in its wisdom and with the consent of the department withholds the payment of four million three hundred thousand dollars in order to distribute it for unemployment relief in order to conform to the Governor's call, then we are robbing a trust fund.

Gentlemen, I disagree entirely with the policy of the Governor. I cannot believe that he is sincere in his expressed desire to provide unemployment relief. This House has labored hard and it has before it the only possible way for providing for unemployment relief and he tells you that if you pass it he will veto it. Well, ladies and gentlemen of the House, he said he would veto the Talbot bill passed at the last Special Session, but it appears to me that the Talbot bill is at present a law of this Commonwealth, approved by this House and approved by the highest court of the Commonwealth. If the Governor sees fit to veto this bill, if we pass it, possibly we shall have the spectacle of a Governor's veto being over-ridden in Pennsylvania. If we fail to override that veto, gentlemen, then it is his conscience that must rest easy, and may he be able to shut his ears to the cries of the hungry and the needy of the State. Let the responsibility fall where it should; let us do our duty. Here is the whole program. Are we going to give relief to the poor of the State or are we going to be afraid of the Governor's veto?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you all look hungry to me and therefore I am going to shut up in a very short time. My friend, Mr. Hoopes, said that he was not a blind follower of the Governor. I wonder what you would call me. However, I do want to say a few words in behalf of my friend, Doctor Steedle, my good friend and colleague. I do not know of a man in my city who is more friendly to or who is more favorable to labor than he. We don't always agree. You know an Irishman cannot always agree with a Dutchman, but I have found that this Dutchman is right probably about ninety per cent. of the time. I do wish to state this, that I do believe that the Governor is sincere and

I do believe that Mr. Blumberg, who just got through making an address, is sincere, I believe every member of the House is sincere, and Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill, I doubt yet whether the majority of the members of this House understand it. We all want to do what is right. There are parts of that bill that I do not approve of but yet we must vote for it in its entirety. I have been informed that in some things it is going to be a detriment and yet I can see many good things about the bill.

Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, be conscientious when you vote on this bill, and may I say in conclusion that the chairmen of some of these committees who have some other bills in their hands should report them out. Mr. Sowers has a good bill and so has Mr. Hoopes and Mr. Fitzgerald, and I have one that would bring in fifty million dollars to the State if it was reported out and passed, and that is one that provides that the State receive twenty-five per cent. of the profit of public utilities when they make over seven per cent. Report some of these bills out and we will be able to do something independent of this reduction in State expense.

Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I ask you to do only what is right but even now I think that many members don't know whether to vote yes or no. You do what you think is best, that is what I am going to do. I know this bill is going to knock a lot of more men out of work. When the roll is called you will know how I vote on this bill.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman will withdraw that motion for a moment. I only want an opportunity to present a few figures that have been prepared by the Auditor General's Department.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I insist on the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Tahl, Weaver, Conner, Sowers, Heffran, Philip M. Myers, Price, Duffy, Witkin, Green, Burns, Greeby, Schwartz, Storb, Peters, Charles C. A. Baldi, Joseph F. M. Baldi, Fuller, Hart, Neely, Bell, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question.

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to file the following reasons for my vote on House Bill No. 129.

I am voting in favor of this bill because I favor the general principles involved—that of reducing the cost of government. However, I fear that the cuts in appropriations made by this bill are in some cases so severe, are made so hastily and without proper information, that the action we are taking may result in further unemployment. If, for instance, the cuts to the Department of Forests and Waters result in the discharge of employes engaged in forestry work in my county, the passage of this bill simply adds to our local problems. This is carrying savings in government too far and false economy, but since I am helpless to change the situation, I am forced to accept the findings of the Committee on Appropriations that this measure will make moneys for unemployment relief available and at the same time permit departments of the State Government to function. My personal opinion is that an emergency appropriation for unemployment relief should have been made during the first two weeks of the Session, and that thereafter a thorough study should have been undertaken of savings, which can be effected and that detailed information through public hearings or testimony taken before the Appropriations Committee should have been made available. Furthermore, there are other methods of raising moneys for unemployment relief which are not being seriously considered by this House, and which could be resorted to without increasing taxation.

The SPEAKER. There remains on the calendar thirty-seven bills on the third reading calendar and with that, seventeen bills from the second reading calendar this morning, so that we will have on the third reading calendar, if no further action is taken here, fifty-four bills on the third reading calendar for tomorrow, and the Chair now asks the pleasure of the House as to whether they will now take a recess to convene later this evening or whether they will adjourn to meet again tomorrow morning.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

The motion was not agreed to.

RECESS

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House now take a recess until eight o'clock this evening in order to clean up the calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The Speaker (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The time of the recess having expired, the House will be in order.

By Mr. STEEDLE. HOUSE BILL No. 220.

A Supplement to Act No. 15-A, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (1931 Appropriation Acts, page 16), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years, beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one," making an appropriation for the payment of certain expenses of the General Assembly, convened in Extraordinary Session on the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-two.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

By Mr. BICKER. HOUSE BILL No. 221.

An Act reducing the salaries and compensation of certain officers and employes of the executive, legislative and judicial departments of the State Government.

Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

By Mr. BICKER. HOUSE BILL No. 222.

An Act reducing the salaries and compenastion of certain county, city, borough, town and township officers and employes.

Referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

By Mr. SURFACE. HOUSE BILL No. 223.

An Act imposing a State excise tax on the excess earnings of public service companies; providing for valuations by the Public Service Commission, and for the settlement and collection of the tax by the Department of Revenue, and fixing penalties.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

COMMUNICATION IN OPPOSITION TO HOUSE BILL NO. 176.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Atlantic Refining Company in opposition to House Bill No. 176, which was read by the Clerk.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Fund.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WITKIN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us whether this bill will take away the accumulated funds, commonly known as the Volunteer Firemen's Relief Funds, in the State Treasury, and transfer them from the Insurance Department to the General Fund.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I know very little about the contents of this bill. I introduced it by request, and may I say that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, has agreed that he will explain the bill if any questions were asked concerning it. In view of the fact that Mr. Talbot is not now present in the House, may I ask the Speaker to pass this bill temporarily.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the Chair will pass House Bill No. 78 for the present. The Chair hears none, and the bill is passed.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, (Pamphlet Laws one thousand two hundred three), entitled "An act providing aid by the Commonwealth to free public non-sectarian county libraries; authorizing the Department of Public Instruction to provide books for demonstration purposes to encourage the establishment of such county libraries; and making an appropriation."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 83, as follows:

An Act to amend Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number twenty-four A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Downingtown Industrial and Agricultural School Downingtown Pennsylvania"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number twenty-four A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Downingtown Industrial and Agricultural School Downingtown Pennsylvania" is hereby amended to read as follows That the sum of [sixty thousand dollars ($60,000)] fifty-four thousand dollars ($54,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Downingtown Industrial and Agricultural School of Downingtown Pennsylvania for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one for the purpose of maintenance to be paid according to law

Section 2 This act shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, there seem to be more members present than have been voting. This is a bill relating to the Appropriation to the Downingtown State Industrial and Agricultural School and requires a two-thirds vote. Owing to the fact that some of the members have not been voting on prior roll calls I would suggest that they vote on this one so that there will be a sufficient number voting to pass the bill.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of information.

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, are we to understand that it requires a two-thirds vote of the House to pass these bills?

The SPEAKER. The Constitution provides, in reply to the gentleman from Lancaster, Section 17, Article III, "No appropriation shall be made to any charitable or educational institution not under the absolute control of the Commonwealth, other than normal schools established by law for the professional training of teachers for the public schools of the State, except by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House." Does that answer the gentleman's question?

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken as follows, viz:

Patterson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 102, as follows:

An Act to amend Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-six A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-six A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals" is hereby amended to read as follows That the sum of [two million six hundred forty-seven thousand six hundred twenty-two dollars ($2,647,622)] two million three hundred ninety-seven thousand six hundred twenty-two dollars ($2,397,622) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals for and during the two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one and to pay for the deficiency in the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane prior to June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine

No warrant shall be drawn on this appropriation until the directors trustees or managers of such hospitals shall have made on oath or affirmation to the Department of Welfare a monthly or quarterly report as may be required by Secretary of Welfare setting forth the actual total number of weeks of service rendered to indigent insane patients in such hospitals respectively during the period for which the report is made nor until the Secretary of Welfare shall have certified to the Auditor General that the monthly or quarterly report of the cost of such care and treatment contains no charge except for "care treatment removal and maintenance" which words as used in this act shall be construed to mean medical and surgical treatment nursing food and clothing

This act shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Peters, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETERS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BECHTEL. I did not quite get an understanding of this when I spoke to the gentleman, and that is the reason for this interrogation. Do I undertand by this bill that you are restoring the amount which the appropriation was abated by reason of the Talbot Act, or is it a cut in the appropriation.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, it is a cut in the appropriation as originally given.

Mr. BECHTEL. As originally given?

Mr. PETERS. Yes.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be postponed for the present.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the maker of this motion.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman for York, Mr. Spangler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPANGLER. Yes.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask, Mr. Spangler, why the motion to postpone action on this particular bill at this time.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, the feeling of the Appropriation Committee at this time is that this bill should not be considered now. The bill that was passed this afternoon, cuts a certain amount from the Pymatuning Dam bill. I am informed that the sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee has taken considerable testimony in relation to the amount of money needed at this time. This afternoon the House in passing the sub-committee bill reduced the administration expenses by $23,000,000, and that has cut off several thousand dollars from the Pymatuning Dam appropriation.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I thought I was familiar with this House 129, but I cannot lay my finger on an appropriation that deals specifically with the Pymatuning Dam. I wonder if the gentleman can point it out to me.

Mr. SPANGLER. I don't have the report of the Appropriations Committee before me. I think if the gentleman will refer to the statement that was in his letter box this morning he can find out just how much was cut from that appropriation. It was several hundred thousand dollars, and I cannot tell him the exact amount in the bill that was passed this afternoon, but according to the bill that was passed this afternoon, my understanding is that there was four hundred thousand dollars eliminated from that appropriation.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say then that this bill is not necessary?

Mr. SPANGLER. I won't say that. I think this bill that is on the calendar now strikes out seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Mr. RICHARDS. No, it does not, Mr. Speaker. The bill which you have before you, No. 105, strikes out four hundred thousand dollars, and I think House Bill No. 129, this afternoon struck out the appropriation from the Department of Forests and Waters not specifically related to the Pymatuning Dam.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, my understanding of it is, if I may state it to the gentleman from Lawrence, that the reduction from the appropriation leaves the appropriation at the present time one million five hundred thousand dollars, that is, providing the bill we passed this afternoon passes the Senate and is signed by the Governor or it passes over his veto, will leave the appropriation of 1931 at a million one hundred thousand dollars. I understand that the million one hundred thousand dollars will allow for the entire completion of the dam and the clearing of the ground.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to take any more time than is necessary, but what I would like to know is whether the gentleman is informed that this bill is unnecessary, and if that is the case it should be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I consider that to impugn my good faith. I have never introduced or sponsored a bill that was either unnecessary or unmeritorious.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, one more question: Will the gentleman include in his motion to have a public hearing on this bill.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, I don't feel that I can commit myself as to what course this bill shall take after it is postponed, if it is called back on the calendar, which it probably will be, in that event any disposition can be made of it that the gentleman sees fit, providing the House consents.

Mr. RICHARDS. I am sorry if I have caused the gentleman from York any confusion in this interrogation. I really meant nothing but the very best, because I understood the bill was to come before us this afternoon, however, it appears for some reason the bill is not to come up and I can hardly think of any reason for it. Nevertheless I am not disposed to quibble on it.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, may I state to the gentleman from Lawrence, that I realize that the gentleman has a very serious feeling in respect to this bill. This bill was handed to me by the Appropriation Committee and as I am unfamiliar with the facts, other than I have gathered them through talking with the gentleman from Lawrence, I certainly will have no hesitancy in giving the gentleman every opportunity he desires for having an explanation or having him take such action in connection with this bill as he desires. There is no desire on the part of the committee I am sure, to embarrass the gentleman or to compromise this bill.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, let me assure the gentleman that there is no embarrassment on my part, I am not in the least embarrassed about this. I was only fearful that I might have caused him embarrassment, and if I have I am sorry. This bill is certainly one to be considered, and I am not going to take your time with any more discussion on it, but I do think this motion should not prevail. The bill is here and has been here; has been considered by the sub-committee and the general committee on Appropriations. Under the rules I cannot speak on the merits of the bill, nor will I attempt to do so. I ask you to vote down the motion to postpone the bill at the present time.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 106, entitled:

A Supplement to the act, approved the eighteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 1043), entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes; exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," declaring a moratorium on the payments provided by said act to the School Employes' Retirement Fund by the Commonwealth, and on the payments to the Commonwealth by the various school districts, normal school districts, boards and committees as reimbursement for such payments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr Blumberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Is it a fact that this bill attempts to withhold that portion of payments due into this fund by the State.

Mr. BLUMBERG. I am not sure, I understand the question Mr. Speaker. Is the gentleman asking we whether this bill withholds payment by the State to the Retirement Fund?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Yes.

Mr. BLUMBERG. The answer is yes.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe that we are proceeding along lines that are contradictory to our State insurance plan. We are encouraging things here that should not be encouraged, or cannot be approved by our State insurance examiners. We are asking that that portion of the money due by the State into this fund be declared in moratorium. In other words, the employes who have already contributed, as I understand, the majority of the fund would be forced to still contribute and not know whether or not the State was contributing its share. I further believe that those districts that contribute the least would be benefitted the most. For that reason, unless the sponsor can enlighten me further I am going to vote no on the bill.

Mr. BECHTEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BECHTEL. Does this bill have the effect of stopping payments from the teachers fund to retired teachers?

Mr. BLUMBERG. It does not.

Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, this bill does not disturb the operation of the retirement fund in any manner whatsoever. It does exactly what it says: it creates, so far as the payments of the State are concerned into this fund, a moratorium until 1935.

Under the provisions of the existing law the State contributes $3,000,000 to one fund, $1,300,000 to another. If this bill passes it will permit the State to withhold payment next year providing it is necessary. It does not cancel the payment by the State. The State remains legally responsible for the payment of this money to the fund commencing with the year 1935. There is only one defect in this bill as it appears before the House, and it has been agreed to remedy that defect by amendment in the Senate. This bill does not provide in its present form the method of repayment. It has been agreed that there will be a section added to this bill providing that beginning with 1935 the State will have a period of ten years to pay back to the teachers pension fund, one-tenth of the withheld amount a year plus four per cent. per annum, interest compounded.

The provisions of this bill were discussed very thoroughly with the gentlemen who have this fund in control they being Mr. Baish, Dr. Rule and Dr. Nusbaum. They were here and discussed the provisions of this bill with the committee and they are in thorough agreement as to the moratorium feature of the bill. They believe that the fund will not be harmed in any manner. The payments from the fund to retired teachers will continue to be made. This is merely that the State is using its credit. Obviously in times of great stress you use your money where it will do the most good. We are simply borrowing the money temporarily on the credit of the State. It gets the use of this money for relief when we need it most. This fund itself, as I pointed out to you gentlemen this afternoon, has $91,000,000 invested. This does not injure that fund in any manner, and if the program as enunciated to you by the Appropriation Committee is to be upheld by the House this bill is part of that program.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Will the gentleman tell us again how much we save by this moratorium in three years?

Mr. BLUMBERG. We save $4,130,000 for the coming fiscal year.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to call up at this time House Bill No. 78, on page 8 of today's calendar, which was passed temporarily.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Fund,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is the bill that was called up early in the afternoon and I made the request to interrogate Mr. Witkin, the sponsor of the bill. He said he introduced it by request, and knew nothing of the contents, and that Mr. Talbot would answer in his stead, so at this time I desire to interrogate Mr. Talbot.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALBOT. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Is it not a fact that if this bill were enacted into law a sum of approximately $800,000 would be taken from what is commonly known as the Volunteer Fireman's Relief Fund and transferred into the General Fund?

Mr. TALBOT. It would not.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. It would not?

Mr. TALBOT. No sir.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. What is the purpose of the bill?

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, this is not an original procedure, because in the Session of 1929 a sum exceeding $1,000,000 was transferred from the Fireman's Insurance Fund.

The purpose of the fund originally was to refund to the particular districts, as reported by the insurance agents to the State, their share of the two per cent. tax. In districts where there are no volunteer fire companies set up, and the premiums, or at least their share have been received into the State, but they cannot qualify, a balance starts that the State cannot pay to anybody. In consequence there is in this fund at this time over $800,000 undistributed and unencumbered, and that is the reason for this bill.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, then is it not a fact that this balance of $800,000 that has accumulated under the provisions of this bill will, if enacted into law, be transferred from this fireman's insurance fund into the general fund?

Mr. TALBOT. That is correct, but due to the fact that that particular sum has no home.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Yes, I understand.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is exceedingly fortunate that someone has arrived in the House who in a slight degree, without any offense to the gentleman from Delaware, has a knowledge of the contents of this bill and what the bill purports to do.

The gentleman from Delaware very frankly stated that there has accumulated a sum of approximately $800,000, and that the only reason that this fund has not been distributed to volunteer fireman's relief associations in the various cities, boroughs and townships of the Commonwealth, is because they have not qualified rapidly enough in order to apply for this money.

Formerly it was not necessary for volunteer fireman's relief associations to become chartered in this Commonwealth, to become a corporation, in order to obtain these funds. The Legislature placed upon the volunteer fireman's associations of this Commonwealth in cities, boroughs and townships the burden, before they could avail themselves of a cent of those funds, to become incorporated, and after becoming incorporated they must be recognized by the city or borough or township, as the case may be, by resolution adopted, or by ordinance adopted, by the particular municipal body. The only reason this fund has accumulated to the extent of $800,000 is because there are boroughs, there are cities and there are townships who have not become familiar with the law—and it is a common experience of attorneys throughout this Commonwealth, day in and day out to give advice as to why volunteer fire companies are not receiving this relief, and then it is that an attorney who knows his business says, "The reason you, Washington Fire Company or American Fire Company or Peoples Fire Company, or whatever you may call it, the reason you are not receiving this money, is because up to this time you have not incorporated." They immediately come back and say, "Why, we have been incorporated since 1850, or 1860 or 1890, or 1900," as the case may be. The lawyer then says, "Yes, you have been incorporated as a volunteer fire company, but the Legislature in its wisdom"— sometimes I doubt that—"but the Legislature in its wisdom has seen fit to make a stipulation that before you can receive a cent of this money you must have a relief association incorporated." In other words you have two corporations in the one fire company. The whole thing is a myth, and why it was they required it of these fire companies, I don't know. They then go into the court of common pleas, or a court of competent jurisdiction, have their relief association incorporated, have the proper authorities recognize them by resolution or ordinance, and then they make their application here and an investigation is made as to whether or not they are properly incorporated and then they receive the money.

There is not a man in this House who can say truthfully that that sum of $800,000 will not be exhausted by January 1, 1933. And why do I say that? Because commencing in September and running to the first of the year you are going to have any number of volunteer fire companies incorporated into relief associations and receive this money. The Executive today said in many instances we are breaking faith, that we have no right to go after these funds, and if he ever told the truth, he told the truth in this particular instance. I say this is one of the most flagrant violations of faith. This is a betrayal of faith as far as your volunteer firemen are concerned. They have been led to believe that there is a fund over here consisting of two per cent. of the premiums of fire insurance companies that do business in the State of Pennsylvania. For what? To take care of the cost of operating it and so on. Today we witnessed the spectacle of coming into this Legislature and in the guise of economy breaking faith with the men who are taking their lives in their hands when your house and my house is in danger of conflagration. Men who are not receiving a cent for fighting fires, men in the heart of winter, when you and I feel the walls and when the walls are not hot, it is somebody else's house, but what do the volunteer firemen do? They get out of bed and it may be they are fighting that fire all the next day, missing their work, contracting sickness, pneumonia and whatnot, and then the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the guise of economy, says they didn't mean it when they were going to utilize two per cent. of this money for the relief of the volunteer firemen, because that is what that bill is in so many words—absolutely it is nothing else. Men, the sooner we get out of the class of being ninny hammers over here,—I know we all have peculiarities and idiosyncrasies,—the sooner we show and demonstrate that we won't tolerate actions of this kind, doing it in the guise of economic relief, or whatever it may be, the sooner we are going to obtain the respect of the people back home. There were many things in that bill today that a great number of us reluctantly voted for; many features like the tuberculosis features, child hospital features, your feeble minded features, but don't carry the thing to the nth degree. Don't make a runaway of this thing. Don't let the impression go broadcast that we are asleep, that we don't know what we are doing. It is immaterial to me what they did in 1929 or 1931. If they did wrong in those years that wrong is not justified by a continuation of that wrong; it is not an excuse for taking this money, absolutely none.

I am going to respectfully request each man and woman in this House to cast your vote in no unquestionable way and say no as a notice to departments, or heads of governments, or whatever they may be, that actions of this type are not going to be tolerated, and if it is the last thing we do we at least are going to keep faith with those who are not able to be here and defend themselves.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I would be opposed to anything that would in any way take a cent of money away from the volunteer firemen of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I hold here a letter from the Auditor General and ask that it be made a part of the record. It is dated July 6, and reads as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Office of Auditor General, Harrisburg, July 6, 1932.

Honorable Grover C. Talbot, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

My dear Mr. Talbot:

I have your letter of today, in which you call my attention to the fact that the Resolution, Serial No. 6, requests not the balance in the Foreign Fire Insurance Tax Fund but the undistributed surplus held in the fund.

In view of the fact that the entire fund is held for distribution on certification of the Secretary of Revenue, we considered the balance in the fund on June 1st to be the undistributed surplus. I now understand that the information you desire is what amount of this fund we may not be called upon to distribute.

The best way that I can answer that question is to give you our experience with this fund during the past few years.

During the 1929-31 biennium we paid out the first year $811,997, and in the second year $728,989. Under the practice now in force, during August or September of each year the Secretary of Revenue should certify to me as Auditor General the amounts collected in the various districts of the Commonwealth. We then ascertain whether or not the districts entitled to a return of this money, maintain regularly constituted Firemen's Relief Associations. If we find that such associations do exist, we draw our warrant for the payment of such shares of the fund.

The receipts for the calendar year 1930 were $1,076,790, while the certification for distribution in 1931 was $766,744.80, and we actually paid out $689,740. The total receipts to this fund for the calendar year 1931 were $998,895.63, and no certification has as yet been received on account of these receipts.

To return to the question of the undistributed surplus, you are advised that while no definite amount could be stated until the Department of Revenue forwards its certification covering the 1931 receipts of the fund, it is known that on June 1st, 1932, there were $1,665,911.52 in the fund, and if the certification runs the same, or a little bit more than last year, we will probably be required to pay out this year approximately $800,000.

The total receipts for the first six months of the year 1932 were $858,104.16, and approximately this amount of money will remain in the fund after the distribution is made this year.

If you desire any further detail on this fund, I will be glad to furnish the same on request.

Very sincerely yours,
CHARLES A. WATERS,
Auditor General.

Members of the House, as I view the situation, the gentleman from Schuylkill is approaching the question from the wrong angle. If he says there is a hardship created, because they must have two separate corporations, then it would be easy for the gentleman from Schuylkill to provide the necessary legislation and thus obviate any hardship. The letter from the Auditor General distinctly says "undistributed and unencumbered" and while I am not an attorney I doubt very seriously that a fire company incorporating and qualifying under the law could take something from the fund prior to the existence of those qualifications demanded by the department. I am sincere when I say to that I disagree with the gentleman from Schuylkill: We are taking not a nickel that belongs to the volunteer firemen of Pennsylvania. The amount of money going to the individual fire companies that have been qualified is not large as a sum itself, but rather in the number of fire companies not qualified which have made this balance. So, if the member votes aye on this bill, I say to him that in my belief, we do not take a nickel from the volunteer firemen of Pennsylvania.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, the letter from the Auditor General is self-explanatory. It is, in my humble opinion, one of the finest pieces of documentary evidence ever introduced in support of the position that I have advanced either in court or on the floor of this House. That letter states that up to this time the Secretary of the Department of Revenue has not as yet sent a certificate to the Auditor General as to the amount that will be required. In addition to that it states that there is a certain fund there, but the Auditor General does not know how much it will be. If that fund has accumulated, and is not exhausted or nearly exhausted by applications that will be received up to and including January 1, 1933, the best thing for us to do is to increase the portions that these volunteer firemen relief associations are entitled to.

Day in and day out you hear of fires in this Commonwealth where a man is either seriously injured or meets his death in fighting a fire. Now are we at the point where because a few hundred thousand dollars have accumulated, we are going to say to these firemen the reason we took this money out of a fund that you are innately entitled to is because you either have not qualified by becoming incorporated as a separate relief association or been recognized by your local authorities as a relief association duly chartered? Are we going to say that because you have failed to do that we are going to penalize you by taking away that money and putting it into the general fund? If you folks see fit to do that I for one won't be counted among the ayes on this question.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Schuylkill believe that this fund is retroactive in the sense that if a volunteer fire company qualified in September, they would be paid from these funds?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, for the year 1932, they will be paid their proportionate share of relief, and that is based upon the amount of fire insurance policies that have been written in the district where this fire company is—absolutely.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker. I do not quite like the statement of the gentleman from Schuylkill, because it would appear, as he paints the picture, that the members of this House who vote aye on this bill are robbing the volunteer fire companies of Pennsylvania. The letter of the Auditor General is plain. It states that there will be available over eight hundred thousand dollars. The gentleman from Schuylkill states that we made a mistake in 1929. I say to you that I do not believe we did. I am of that same belief now as I was then, and I again say to the gentleman from Schuylkill that he can prepare the proper legislation that will not create this hardship upon volunteer fire companies. We should proceed as we did in 1929 and give this money to the general fund. I rather object to his statement that we are here to rob every fund that exists. We have had the precedent established in the past that we could take the fund, and it seems to me that now in this economic crisis we should take this money and put it in the general fund. For that reason I ask you to vote aye on the bill.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, acting upon the suggestion of the gentleman from Delaware, I don't know know whether I will be living on January 1, 1933, I don't know if I will be across the road or not, but if I happen to be I make him the solemn pledge now that it will give me extreme pleasure to introduce a piece of legislation along the lines suggested by the gentleman from Delaware, but in the meantime certainly the fact that any member of this House has been lax or diliatory in introducing a piece of legislation of this type is no justification for this House voting those funds out of their proper channels. I repeat, I make a solemn pledge to you members now if I happen to be here or across the road that you will see a piece of legislation along the lines suggested by the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman from Schuylkill received any letters of protest from any volunteer fire companies; that is letters of protest?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, my good friend Mr. Dunn from Allegheny County, permit me to state that when I returned to my office last Saturday, just as soon as I got into the office, the young lady told me that before taking up any legal affairs, I had better see what the firemen were excited about. I can tell you, in all sincerity, that it took me upwards of four hours to dictate answers to letters that had been received beseeching me to raise my voice in behalf of the volunteer firemen.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not think that during the ten years I have been here that I have ever taken the position that I am about to take. I do not know, the other members do not know, whether they will be here next week or not. Often times sickness or something else presents us from being here.

I think this thing is entitled either to be passed at this time or defeated. If it is to be interred, let us have the funeral ceremonies conducted just as gracefully as possible upon the floor of the House.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to occupy the platform all day—the soap box is about worn out—neither do I want to have this develop into a mutual admiration society.

There is no member of this House for whom I have greater respect, first as a gentlemen, and second for his ability, than the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, but I have information, which has just been received, that the officers of the State Volunteer Firemen's Association will be here on Monday. They have not requested a public hearing, but they want an interview. If Mr. Staudenmeier will agree to the proposition presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I will assure him that after the conference on Monday with the executive officer of the Volunteer Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania, that bill will immediately come out from the committee. I will go a step further than that, because I think this is a bill that really deserves all the analysis that we can possibly give it. I represent a district the same as Mr. Staudenmeier does, comprised of boroughs and townships—and say that the last thing that I would do would be to vote against any legislation that would injure in any way incorporated firemen's relief associations, therefore, I would ask Mr. Staudenmeier if he will consent to permit that bill to go back into committee, and I will then report the bill on Monday night if the gentleman will so agree.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the statements made by the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, that the officials of the State Volunteer Firemen's Relief Association will be here in Harrisburg next Monday to take this matter up with the Appropriations Committee, I withdraw my objections to the bill going back to the Appropriations Committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 124, entitled:

An Act to amend Section two of the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand three hundred eighty-six), entitled "An act providing for the care, protection, and maintenance of the brig Niagara, Commodore Perry's Flagship at the Battle of Lake Erie, and now the property of the State of Pennsylvania; creating a commission to be The Flagship Niagara Commission, and making an appropriation for such care, protection and maintenance."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1932. No. 10.

SENATE

THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1932.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Acting Chaplain, Dr. Leon C. Prince, offered the following prayer:

O God, Sovereign, Judge of Commonwealth and Nation, mercy and justice proceed from Thy throne. Thou art the need of the strong and the strength of the needy. Grant unto us who are met to legislate against widespread unemployment and distress the wisdom to devise and the judgment to execute sound remedies and measures of relief. Deliver us from factionalism, from suspicion and from strife. Infuse into our councils the spirit of harmony and accord. Thus shall we commit our State in implicit obediance to the divine injunction, "Bear ye one another's burden, and so fulfill the law of Christ." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. FREEMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION REQUESTING ELECTIVE OFFICERS OF STATE GOVERNMENT TO ACCEPT VOLUNTARY PAY CUT

The Clerk of the House of Representatives, being introduced, presented extract from the journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Appropriations:

In the House of Representatives, July 13, 1932.

Whereas The present period of economic depression has brought about the reduction of salaries and incomes of those engaged in private occupations and

Whereas Legislation has been passed and is pending which will make drastic reductions in the salaries of employes of the Federal State and local governments and

Whereas By reason of constitutional restrictions it is impossible to diminish the salary or emoluments of any public officer after his election or appointment and

Whereas It is manifestly unfair and un-American for such public officers who are protected from legal salary reductions to continue to accept the salaries payable to them at the time of their election when other public employes not so protected and those in private life are required to accept less compensation and

Whereas It would be proper for such public officers to voluntarily agree to accept a reduction in the salary now received by them and in this way help share the burden now resting on all citizens by reason of the unusual financial conditions therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the opinion of the Members of this Legislature that all public officers of the Commonwealth whose salaries cannot be reduced by law on account of constitutional prohibition should in a spirit of fairness voluntarily agree to accept a reduction of ten per centum of the amount of salary now received and be it further

Resolved That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each elected or appointed public officer within the Commonwealth receiving payment of salary from the Commonwealth or any county city borough incorporated town or township therein

THURSDAY, July 14, 1932

The House met at 9:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rev. Sidney V. Carmany, a member of the House, offered the following prayer:

How exellent is Thy name, O Lord, in all the earth. We bring to Thee our offering of praise and thanksgiving. Continue Thy goodness with us and grant us Thy favor thro another day.

Bless our State and nation and help us to gird ourselves for a new era wherein righteousness dwelleth. Purge our cities and states and nation of the deep cause of corruption which has so often made sin profitable and uprightness hard. Give us as leaders a new vision of the possible future of our country and set our hearts on fire with large resolves.

Bless whatever good we may be able to accomplish this day and lead us in the paths of righteousness for Thy name's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 65, entitled:

An Act to increase the powers of building and loan associations incroporated under the laws of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. STADTLADER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 143, as follows:

An Act to increase the powers of building and loan associations by empowering them to join the Federal Home Loan Bank or any other corporation or agency established under the authority of the United States Government and to empower them to borrow money from the Federal Home Loan Bank the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or any other corporation or agency established under the authority of the United States Government except National banks and to assign their bonds and mortgages and other property including the right to repledge the shares of stock pledged as collateral security without securing the consent of the owner thereto as security for the repayment of their indebtedness as evidenced by any bond note or obligation they may give therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any building and loan association duly incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth shall have power and authority to become a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank or any corporation other or agency established under the authority of the United States Government and to comply with any of the provisions required for membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank or in such other corporation or agency provided it is authorized to do so by resolution of its board of directors

Section 2 That any building and loan association as aforesaid shall have power and authority to borrow money from the Federal Home Loan Bank the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or any other corporation or agency established under the authority of the United States Government except National banks upon such terms and rates of interest not exceeding the legal rate of interest in this Commonwealth as may be agreed upon and to assign its bonds and mortgages or other property including the right to replace the shares of stock pledged as collateral security without securing the consent of the owner thereto as security for the repayment of its indebtedness as evidenced by its bond obligation or note given for such borrowed money and such bond obligation note or notes may be in such form as is prescribed by the corporation or agency established under the authority of the United States Government as aforesaid Provided however That no building and loan association shall at any time borrow money from any such corporation or agency or in any manner now authorized by law in an amount exceeding thirty-five per centum of the withdrawal value of the stock issued by such association

Section 3 If any clause sentence paragraph or part of this act shall for any reason be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid such judgment shall not affect impair or invalidate the remainder thereof but shall be confined in its operation to the clause sentence paragraph or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, there is some question concerning this bill whether or not the interested parties desire to have a public hearing. May I suggest to the Speaker that the bill be passed for a few moments and if a public hearing is not to be held, we will return to this bill at the end of the session.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman asks leave to pass House Bill 143 temporarily with leave to call up the same later during this session. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and the bill is passed for the present.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 157, entitled:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 193 (Senate Bill No. 32), entitled:

An Act authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated districts, townships, school districts, and poor districts to negotiate temporary emergency loans for certain purposes during the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-two and under certain circumstances to refund such loans annually for a certain period.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further consideration.

The SPEAKER. The attention of the gentleman is called to the fact that this bill has been agreed to on third reading. If it is the purpose of the recommitment to amend it in committee, it will be necessary that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, there is a bill that is now before the House that bears on the same subject that this bill does. The House bill throws certain safeguards around this subject that this bill apparently does not have. For that reason I asked that this bill be recommitted so that it can be made to conform to the wishes of the House so far as those safeguards are concerned.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. SPANGLER Mr. Speaker, I move that the House reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading, and withdraw my motion that the bill be recommitted.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SPANGLER. I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING SPEAKER

Mrs. DENMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 14, 1932.

Three score and five years ago tomorrow, there was born in Whitesville, Allegheny County, a male child who was destined to become the loved and honored Speaker of this House.

His election at the age of twenty-seven as the prothonotary, register, recorder and clerk of the courts of Cameron County, after having been a resident of that County for only six years, bespeaks his ability to make friends, and his re-election to those offices for four terms is convincing proof of his integrity.

Elected to the House in 1914, he began a career as the representative of his county which has continued un-interruptedly to this day, and during two regular sessions and three special sessions of this House, he has served as the Speaker thereof.

His rulings and decisions have ever been fair, and his exercise of the powers of his high office has won for him the full respect and esteem of the entire membership of the House; therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to the Honorable C. J. Goodnough, the Speaker of this House, our most sincere congratulations and felicitations, and wish him many increasingly happy returns of the day which tomorrow he celebrates, and be it further

Resolved, That when this House adjourns today, it adjourns only because tomorrow may sometime become a National Holiday by reason of what happened in Whitesville, Allegheny County, three score and five years ago.

The SPEAKER. May the Chair express his appreciation for the thoughtfulness of the members of the House.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The CHIEF CLERK (E. F. White) put the question.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JULY 18, 1932. No. 11

SENATE

MONDAY, July 18, 1932

The Senate met at 8 o'clock P. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christion H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou ever blessed God, we thank Thee for Thy Goodness, Thy love and Thy Mercy. Thou are possessed with all of our highest ideals of virtue, benevolence and perfection of being. Grant that we may ever seek to embody in our life those virtues we observe in Thee.

Enable us to dedicate our lives to the promotion of those things which will make out of this world Thy kingdom. We would have Thee to rule within the hearts and lives of men.

We believe that the government of any nation cannot be of a higher moral order than that which exists among its citizens. May our State government protect, promote and encourage such institutions among us as will produce the highest type of manhood.

For all of these mercies, with the forgiveness of our sins, we entreat Thee in the name of our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. EINSTEIN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, as we wait this evening at the threshold of duty, impress us with a solemn sense of our most sacred obligations. We would bring to our Republic and our Commonwealth the noblest and best service we are capable of rendering, that each may continue to live in honor and in power, and be a blessing to all men.

Make plain to us, Lord, how divinely blessed it is for us to live and toil that others may be blessed and helped. Thus would we burn out our lives for the weal of our fellowmen.

May Thy unbounded mercies and Thy gracious providences lead us into closer fellowship with Thee, each passing day. Through Christ. Amen.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 169, entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 149), entitled "An act imposing a State tax, payable by those herein defined as distributors, on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth, which are ordinarily, practically, and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power; providing for the collection and lien of the tax, and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof; requiring such distributors to secure permits, to file corporate surety bonds and reports, and to retain certain records; imposing duties on retail dealers, common carriers, county commissioners, and such distributors; providing for rewards; imposing certain costs on counties; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; providing for refunds; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation;" increasing the amount of the liquid fuels tax revenue to be paid to counties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, this appears to be a partnership bill. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. The purpose of this bill is to return to the counties an additional one cent of the gasoline tax?

Mr. WITKIN. It is, sir, Mr. Speaker, in addition to the present one-half cent.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. And that comes from the motor fund?

Mr. WITKIN. Yes sir.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. It goes into effect on the 31st of August of this year?

Mr. WITKIN. Yes sir.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Witkin, you are the sponsor of House Bill No. 153.

Mr. WITKIN. I would have to look that number up. If you say so, I presume so. I don't remember the number. What number?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. House Bill No. 153.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, No sir, I am not.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, it so appears on the calendar of the 13th.

Mr. WITKIN. That is incorrect, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I think not.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 153 was sponsored by Mr. Stone.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. The calendar of the 13th. It may be if I remind you what the bill is you will recall it. It appropriates one million eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the city of Philadelphia for work on the streets.

Mr. WITKIN. That is not House Bill No. 153.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Printer's No. 153, I beg your pardon. House Bill No. 149.

Mr. WITKIN. That is correct, sir.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. And that is from the motor fund?

Mr. WITKIN. That is correct, but that bill has been recommitted.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Very well. I can weave it into my argument, I guess. House Bill No. 150, Printer's No. 150, sponsored by Mr. Blumberg.

Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to appropriate five hundred thousand dollars from the motor fund for the purpose of improving certain designated streets of the city of Philadelphia

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman ask me if such a bill was introduced?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. No; if the bill doesn't do that?

Mr. BLUMBERG. I did introduce a bill providing for such features. May I reply to the gentleman and say that it now reposes in the Committee on Appropriations?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. But that does not mean that it will not come on the floor again.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Probably not, as I am the sponsor.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. I want to weave it into my argument.

Mr. Speaker, with one bill appropriating five hundred thousand dollars from the motor fund for the improvement of streets in the city of Philadelphia, with another bill appropriating one million eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars from the motor fund for the improvement of streets in the city of Philadelphia, now we are asked to appropriate an additional one cent of the gasoline tax back to the counties. I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin, if he has had an estimate made of the unencumbered funds in the motor fund today.

Mr. WITKIN. Of the unencumbered funds? I do not have an estimate.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, it looks very much to me as though the passage of these three bills would destroy the motor fund and make it impossible for the Highway Department to carry on this year or any future year a program looking toward improving the rural roads. This bill should be defeated.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, may I say to the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams, and to the members of the House that in advocating the passage of this bill, it is the intention of the sponsor of bills 149 and 150—the two bills referring to the city of Philadelphia, which the gentleman has mentioned—that upon the passage of this bill the passage of those other two bills will not be pressed, but that they will be permitted to lie dormant in committee. With respect to this bill, therefore, I take it that it does not refer only to the city of Philadelphia and it does not benefit only that municipality, but that it is for the purpose of turning back to the counties in every part of the State of Pennsylvania not one-half cent but an additional one cent. I feel, and I trust that the members so feel from every particular county in this State that it will mean a great step towards solving the unemployment situation in the counties. You are going to be the judges of how the money that would be paid should be spent. You know, as well as I do, that there has been returned during the year commencing June 1, 1930 and ending May 31, 1931 to the respective counties five million four hundred and fifty and some odd thousands of dollars. Every man in this House knows what that means to his particular locality, he knows the number of people who will be taken out of the unemployed class and given work upon the roads in his particular county. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, if three times as many roads are going to be made and constructed by the passage of this bill, the amount of your unemployment is going to decrease at least one-third and probably more.

It seems to me that no more meritorious bill, with due and proper modesty, has ever been presented to this House.

This is a bill which will take out of the unemployed class in every county of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a large number of persons and give them work. The people of Pennsylvania want work, the citizens of Pennsylvania want work. They don't want charity. They only take charity when necessity compels them, and if you want to give them work I know of no better way and of no more decent way than to give them the opportunity to build roads in their counties. I ask you to vote aye upon this bill. Let us put a stop to the necessity of passing legislation which will give charity to the citizens of Pennsylvania who only want the opportunity of earning an honest dollar.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Witkin. He would have the members of this House believe that the only way this money can be used for the relief of the unemployed is to send it back to the counties in the way of an additional one cent of the gasoline tax. He knows full well that the Highway Department will use this money to the advantage of the people in the rural districts. I, for one, have always felt that Philadelphia was entitled to some consideration in the apportionment of the motor fund, but for us to pass this bill—it is not an emergency affair, it is not temporary, it is permanent—means to tie the hands of the Highway Department beyond all reason.

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I want to call your attention to one feature that has not been touched upon concerning this bill and that is this: the counties of the Commonwealth are not equipped to build roads. I am speaking now for the rural counties of the Commonwealth. They are not equipped to build roads. The Highway Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has the organization and has the equipment, and, as the gentleman from Tioga has said, the one cent gasoline tax in the hands of the Highway Department will do more toward relieving the unemployment situation than if it were returned to the counties who are not equipped, who do not have the machinery; who are in no way equipped to build roads. The half cent that is now returned to the counties of the Commonwealth, as a rule, is parceled out to the townships that are unable to bear the burden of maintaining their own roads, but this extra cent parceled out among the townships of the Commonwealth would be simply relieving the burden of the taxpayers of the Commonwealth without having any constructive work done on the roads and without having done anything toward work relief. I ask you to vote down this bill.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Bidelspacher.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Bidelspacher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WITKIN. Isn't it a fact that under the present existing law, wherein one-half cent is returned to the counties, the counties are building roads?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Mr. Speaker, no.

Mr. WITKIN. Are there not any counties that are building roads?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. There may be one or two in which they have county roads, but the rank and file and by far the larger part of the counties of the Commonwealth don't have the organization to build roads.

Mr. WITKIN. What is happening to the one-half cent that the respective counties now procure?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Will you state the question again?

Mr. WITKIN. What is happening to the one-half cent of the gasoline tax that the counties now procure under the present law?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. In some instances the Highway Department will build a concerte highway instead of a macadam road, providing the county will match it with certain monies, and they use a part of it to match the Highway Department in the construction done by the Highway Department.

Mr. WITKIN. So that am I not correct in saying that under the present law the counties where they do not build the roads themselves build them under the supervision of the Highway Department, using this one-half cent toward helping to pay for these roads?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. Built entirely by the Highway Department and the counties very often contribute some of the money toward that project.

Mr. WITKIN. But built in co-operation with and under the supervision of the Highway Department, where such roads are being built?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. No; absolutely not.

Mr. WITKIN. Is it not a fact that the one-half cent is used by the counties, the Highway Department building the roads in the county whereby the people in the counties get the work and are able to work upon those roads?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. No, it does not work out that way.

Mr. WITKIN. Don't they build the roads in the counties?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. No.

Mr. WITKIN. You mean to tell me, the gentleman from Lycoming, that under the present existing law the counties do not get the one-half cent and do not use it for their own benefit?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. They spend it very often to pay damages for roads constructed by the Highway Department. It may be used for that purpose.

Mr. WITKIN. They also spend it, do they not, for the purpose of constructing roads under the supervision of the Highway Department?

Mr. BIDELSPACHER. I have never seen it work out that way.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I merely want to say that the gentleman from Lycoming is in my opinion very much mistaken, that I am reliably informed that the half-cent is used for the benefit of the counties, where the counties do not build the roads themselves they are built then under the supervision of the Highway Department. I reiterate my former remarks that this would simply mean three times as much money going into the counties as at present.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, let me say in explanation of the question propounded by the gentleman from Philadelphia to the gentleman from Lycoming that the amount of money going back from the motor fund of one-half cent to many of the counties would not build a half mile of road, but under the law that money can be used in the payment of the interest on bonds that have been issued for road purposes, for bridges that have been built, for rights-of-way and new locations. It does not necessarily mean that the money must be expended for road construction. As I said before, many of the counties couldn't build a half mile a year out of what they get, but through a bond issue they are able to build roads and they can take this money that comes from the gas tax and apply it to the payment of bonds or the interest on them.

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to take exception to the remarks of Mr. Bidelspacher, the gentleman from Lycoming. If he will come to Montgomery County, he will find that we build just as good roads as have been built anywhere, and we build a good many of them without getting any appropriation from the State—right out of the county treasury.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this Assembly has been called for one purpose, and that purpose is to furnish unemployment relief for the unfortunates of the State. It matters not to me and it should not matter to any one in this House whether it is Philadelphia, McKees Rocks, Coatesville or any other place that is going to obtain money to construct roads. In my opinion it is a constructive and progressive piece of legislation, and I think we should support this bill, because it is going to give employment to many people in Philadelphia, and not only in Philadelphia but elsewhere. In other words, I would vote for any bill that would give work no matter where the money came from just so long as it is going to furnish jobs to some of our unfortunates. Therefore, I will ask you to support this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 210 (Senate Bill No. 73), entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eight) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for delinquent taxes and authorizing the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners and a judge to adjourn and readjourn such sales during periods of economic depression providing for advertisement and notice preceding any adjournment or readjournment and dispensing with prior advertisement and notice in such cases providing for the consolidation of the advertisments and notices of different year's taxes held on the same date and validating adjourned sales where the original sale has not been advertised or notice thereof given

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, with the knowledge and consent of the sponsor of this bill I move that it be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for further study and amendment.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 158, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation under the police power and as a governmental duty to the Department of Welfare for State aid to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor and providing for the allocation and use of the moneys so appropriated

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in the exercise of the police power for the protection of the public health safety morals and welfare threatened by existing conditions of unemployment and in the assumption by the Commonwealth of its duty to the care of the poor the sum of twenty-four million dollars is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for use in the construction and improvement of rural roads to provide work relief and for payment to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor which appropriation shall be allocated as hereinafter provided and paid over by said department in the months of August September October November December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two (1932) and January February and March one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (1933) The amount to be paid over during said months shall be as follows

August	$3,000,000
September	3,000,000
October	3,000,000
November	3,000,000
December	3,000,000
1933
January	3,000,000
February	3,000,000
March	3,000,000
Total	$24,000,000

Section 2 The Department of Welfare shall make allocations during said months respectively of the moneys appropriated to it among the several counties of this Commonwealth on a ratio that the estimated number of unemployed persons in a county bears to the estimated total number of unemployed persons in the entire Commonwealth as shown by the latest available tables compiled and issued by the Department of Labor and Industry

Section 3 The moneys so allocated to a county shall be available for expenditure in that county only The county Commissioners of any county other than a county coextensive with a city shall have authority by resolution to provide that any part of the sum so allocated to a county shall be expended in the construction and improvement of rural roads taken over as State highways at the session of the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one in order to furnish work relief instead of direct relief which resolution shall be adopted within thirty days after this act takes effect Certified copies of such resolution shall immediately be filed with the Department of Welfare the Department of Highways and the Department of the Auditor General

Where any such resolution has been so adopted by the county commissioners of a county and certified copies filed as aforesaid the amount of the county's allocation so set aside for work relief shall from time to time be paid into the Motor License Fund and be expended in accordance with existing laws by the Department of Highways in such county in the construction and improvement of rural roads taken over as State highways The roads or portions thereof to be so constructed and improved by the Department of Highways in any county shall be designated by the county commissioners by and with the consent of the Department of Highways and the labor employed by the Department (other than that required for supervision engineering and in the operation of road machinery) in such construction work shall be furnished by residents of such county in need of employment to be selected by the County Commissioners and the county poor boards where such boards exist from lists of names submitted by the relief organizations if any existing in said county Where no such county poor boards exist the selection shall be made by the county commissioners as above provided

The Department of Highways may cumulate the respective amounts in the Motor License Fund credited to a county until sufficient funds are available to undertake the construction work authorized by this section

Section 4 The amount available in any county except a county coextensive with a city over and above the sum set aside by the county commissioners for work relief shall be available for expenditure by political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor and where such political subdivision is coextensive with the county the amount allocated to the county over and above the amount paid to the Motor License Fund shall from time to time be paid by the State Treasurer on requisition of the State Department of Welfare to such political subdivision

Where the territory of such political subdivision or divisions is not coextensive with a county the amount allocated to the county other than a county coextensive with a city which is over and above the amount paid into the Motor License Fund shall from time to time be paid by the State Treasurer on requisition of the Department of Welfare into the county treasury and shall in turn be allocated to the various political subdivisions charged with the care of the poor located wholly or partly in such county by the county commissioners with the approval of the court of common pleas on the basis of unemployed persons resident within the several political subdivisions but within the county as ascertained from the best sources of informatoin obtainable and when such allocation has been made the amounts paid into the county treasury by the department shall be paid to the respective political subdivisions entitled thereto

Section 5 In counties coextensive with cities the moneys allocated to the county shall be paid by the State Treasurer on requisition of the Department of Welfare into the city treasury The council of the city shall have authority by ordinance to provide that any sum of the amount so allocated to the county shall be expended for the payment of wages to residents of the city for the performance of such work as the city council may designate The amount over and above that set by the council for work relief or the total sum so paid into the city treasury in case no such ordinance is adopted shall be allocated by the Department of Welfare of such city among the various political subdivisions charged with the care of the poor within such city on the basis of unemployed persons within the respective political subdivisions as ascertained from the best source of information obtainable and when such allocation has been made the amounts paid into the city treasury shall be paid to the respective subdivisions charged with the care of the poor entitled thereto

Section 6 Each political subdivision charged by law with the care of the poor shall have authority under the provisions of this act any law to the contrary notwithstanding to expend the moneys received from the appropriation made by this act for the purpose of providing food clothing fuel and shelter for residents within their districts who have gained a legal settlement and who are without means of support Such moneys may also be expended by such political subdivisions charged with the care of the poor for the performance of labor by persons resident within the district who have gained a legal settlement such labor to be performed for the State or any county city borough town township school district or poor district Such moneys shall not be expended for any other purpose In no case shall any of said appropriation be used for paying cash commonly known as a "dole" to persons entitled to relief

Section 5 The amounts allocated to political subdivisions under the provisions of this act and by them expended shall be audited by the auditors of the respective political subdivisions in the same manner and with like effect as other moneys expended by such subdivisions

Section 6 This act shall be in force immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, due to the fact that there are several amendments to be made to this bill, I move that it be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION

REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Mr. EDERER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, July 18th, 1932.

Resolved, That the Attorney General shall, not later than July twenty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two, transmit to the House of Representatives a report containing in detail the following information: The names and addresses of the personnel attached to or connected with the Department of Justice, together with the respective monthly compensation of each, as well as the names of deputy attorneys general and other attorneys in charge of the legal affairs of closed banks, together with their respective monthly compensation, and the names of the firms, if any, with which each such deputy attorney general or attorney is associated as a member or employe, and the total amount paid each to June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two.

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives shall, upon its passage, transmit a copy of this resolution to the Attorney General.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 172, Printer's No. 115, from page 7 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Staudenmeier.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 172, entitled:

An Act to amend sections four hundred nine and six hundred three of the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred five) entitled, "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims, registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forefeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," as amended, further regulating the registration of foreign motor vehicles, licensing of foreign operators and increasing certain penalties.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of a hearing.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 176, Printer's No. 116, from page 8 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Staudenmeier.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 176, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred five) entitled "An Act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissable as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds," as amended, by providing for change in certain definitions; changing existing regulations for registration of certain vehicles; revising fees for such registrations; and revising existing regulations for length, height, weight, and speed; and providing certain penalties.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of a hearing.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. HEFFERNAN, from the Committee on Appropriations, re-reported as amended, House Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Fund.

Mr. BARTON, from the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, reported as amended, House Bill No. 107, entitled:

INTERROGATION ON BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudemeier, upon the bills that have just been referred back to committee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. I will, gladly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. For information, I desire to ask the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, when he proposes to have the public hearing on these three truck bills that have just been referred back to committee.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from York, that is the very matter we have under discussion at this time. I have been endeavoring to get the people who are interested to agree to a public hearing, if it is possible, tomorrow afternoon at 3.00 o'clock Standard Time. I don't know if that proposition will be accepted or not, but I think we ought to have that hearing just as soon as possible If there are any merits in either of these bills, of if there are demerits in them, they should be brought out.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Schuylkill think that the persons who desire to be heard on these bills can appear before the committee as early as tomorrow afternoon?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I will say this for the information of the gentleman from York; that there appears to be a regiment present here now, some that are in favor of the bills and some that are opposed to them. I think you could have a respectable public hearing right after this session, as far as time is concerned.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I understand then that so far as the gentleman from Schuylkill knows he is going to fix tomorrow afternoon for the public hearing on these bills.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, the hearing will be sometime tomorrow afternoon as far as we know, if that is possible.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I only wish to say to the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier that there are a great many interests that want to be heard on these bills, and I don't think it would be possible to get them together by tomorrow afternoon. I have a great many requests from people all over the State who wish to be heard. It might be possible to get them here for the next day but not tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from McKean, I believe there are many persons here tonight who are so thoroughly conversant with the provisions contained in the three bills that we will be able to enlighten not only the members of the committee but those who wish to attend as to those propositions which to their minds appear to be good and those which appear to be bad, and if the gentleman from McKean feels that his people whom he has in mind would have some additional objections I am sure they would be able to obtain such information as they desire.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 5

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 14, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Resolution No. 5.

This resolution would require the Budget Secretary to issue printed quarterly statements "of the financial affairs and the condition of the General Fund of the State Treasury."

The resolution specifies that such reports shall contain, among other things, the total appropriation liability of the Commonwealth, and, "the balance in the General Fund by departments and agencies receiving appropriations." It also requires that the quarterly report issued as of April 1 of each odd-numbered year shall contain a detailed estimate of anticipated revenues for the fiscal biennium beginning in June of the same year, and that each statement, as of July 1, shall contain a detailed estimate of the revenues of the current fiscal year.

I am in hearty accord with the feeling of the General Assembly that the financial affairs of the Commonwealth should be given the widest possible publicity. Before the introduction of this resolution, plans had already been made for issuing periodical public financial statements.

This particular resolution is objectionable in several respects, as follows:

1. The requirement that the statements show the balance in the General Fund by departments and agencies receiving appropriations is meaningless. The General Fund is not subdivided into parts and the balance is not earmarked according to departments and agencies receiving appropriations. Even if it were, this information would not be in the possession of the Budget Secretary. Therefore, it would be impossible for the Budget Secretary to comply with this requirement.

2. An estimate of revenue as of April 1 in each odd-numbered year would not serve any useful purpose. It is the duty of the Governor to present to the Legislature in the budget an estimate of revenue for the following biennium as of the date of the preparation of the budget. This estimate must, necessarily, be revised in the light of revenue legislation enacted by the General Assembly and in the light of experience up to the date when the revision is made. To revise the estimates as of an arbitrary date, such as April 1, would be useless. When the Legislature is in session the Secretary of Revenue and the Budget Secretary are available at all times to furnish to the Legislature and its committees the most recent information in their possession, and, as far as I know, there has never been a disposition by these officers to withhold from the Legislature any information which it requests.

3. It would be idle, to have a revised estimate of revenue made as of July 1 of each year. The estimate of revenue made at the conclusion of a session of the Legislature must necessarily be regarded as the official estimate until such time as the Legislature again convenes and is in a position to take action upon the basis of a revised estimate. Estimates made between sessions would simply confuse both the public and the Legislature.

4. None of the subjects stated in the proclamation convening this Special Session suggests the passage of legislation of this type. Therefore, even if approved, it would be a nullity.

For these reasons the resolution is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the resolution become effective, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 9

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 18, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Resolution No. 9.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

SENATE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 66.

An Act lapsing all unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations from the general fund made by the General Assembly at its session of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine and prior sessions.

HOUSE BILL No. 126.

An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred seventy-six) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the commission to be appointed by the Governor to be used and expended for and toward the celebration of the Chicago Centennial Anniversary"

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I note by this evening's paper that the Governor of the Commonwealth has addressed a letter to the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee in which he calls the attention of the Legislature to the necessity for particular economies.

This is the first utterance that I have heard from the Governor in which he has asked the House to reduce expenses, or any of the three departments of the State government. It is a matter of gratification that the Governor at this time recognizes the necessity for economy even within one of the departments of the State government. Of course, the Governor does not confess his own sins; he refuses to say anything in respect to economies in the executive department of the State government, and he makes his accusation against the legislative department. I must say, that so far as I am concerned, I agree that the Governor has touched a very soft spot in our own department, for I am one of those who believe that we should be consistent in the matter of economy; that if we are going to make cuts in other departments that we should apply the same remedy to the legislative department of the State government, and where leaks have occurred, or where errors have been permitted or where extravagances have crept in in these days of crisis, and these days of great depression, it seems to me that we should set our own house in order. I am perfectly satisfied to recommend to this Legislature that the matters that the Governor refers to need correction, in so far as the legislative branch of the government is concerned, and particularly in so far as the House of Representataives' expense bill is concerned, that it should be reduced, and I believe that the Governor has conferred a great favor on us by pointing out in such a particular way wherein we can reduce our own expenses. But I would say to the Governor, now that he has made a good beginning, now that he has shown that he can dig into one department and single out instances where economies should be made, that he should apply that same assiduity, that same determination, to effect rigid economies in the great executive department of the State that he asks to be applied to the legislative department.

In so far as particularizing is concerned, I see in one section that he refers to a mileage bill of seven hundred and thirty-two miles that the House paid for travelling, and he states, "I never knew before that you could get three hundred and sixty-six miles away from Harrisburg and still keep within the State of Pennsylvania." Now, that shows that the Governor of our Commonwealth can, if he will, look into the various expense accounts of this State and point out the places where they can be corrected. Now, we have already, so far as the Legislature is concerned, pointed out to the Executive wherein great economies can be made in the executive branch of the government. Of course the reason that we are so particular in pointing out economies in the executive branch of the government is because the executive branch is the greatest spending agency of the whole State and therefore the greatest economies can be made in the executive branch.

I have pointed out, and others have pointed out from time to time, the excessive salaries that are being paid in the executive branch of the State of Pennsylvania. Although every private business has reduced expenses by cutting to the bone, nevertheless the executive department of the State of Pennsylvania still continues to move along on a prosperity basis and has made no effort, and the Governor has pointed out no effort, whereby economies can be made. He does come forward and say, after the Steedle bill has been passed that the cuts in the appropriations to charities and also other economies that were effected, would impair the efficiency of these institutions, but he does not point out a single instance where executive economies can be effected that will vastly reduce the expenses of the State in so far as the administrative offices are concerned.

I might also mention that we have almost four thousand automobiles running around the State, the vast majority of which are for the transportation of members of the department that could be very vastly curtailed in the interest of economy in the executive department. I would recommend to the Governor, now that he has made a good beginning, to follow up this good course that he has started and see what he can do in pointing out various economies that can be made, and reasonably made, in the executive department of our government.

I also believe that the Governor was perfectly wise in calling our attention to economies that should be made in the judicial branch of the government. I feel that the judges of our courts should, during this temporary emergency, agree to accept a reduction of their salaries and I further feel that it might be very well if the Legislature looked into the matter of the traveling, or "tramp" judges that go from county to county and thereby greatly augment their present salary.

There are a great many ways by which economies can be made and, as I said a moment ago, now that the Governor has found himself in the way of economical administration in one department, I would ask that the Governor examine the executive department of the government of this State and see whether he cannot find a great many economies that could be effected by himself as the Governor of this Commonwealth and thereby reduce the general expenses of our State.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WIKE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JULY 19, 1932. No. 12

SENATE

TUESDAY, July 19, 1932

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Heavenly Father, we pray for all nations of the earth. We ask that they may so relate themselves to each other as to guarantee world peace. Grant to the world a speedy recovery from the effects of its recent great war. May a reconstruction be inaugurated which will return prosperity to all of the nations of the earth.

Remove selfish ambitions from the hearts of individuals and nations, so as to eliminate the causes of great social unrest. Give unto all a spirit of mutual helpfulness, to the glory of Thy name and the blessing of mankind. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. QUIGLEY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION URGING CONGRESS TO PASS THE COSTIGAN-LAGUARDIA BILL

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of House concurrent Resolution Noported from the Committee on Federal Relations on July 13.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 11, 1932.

Whereas, There is now pending in Congress of the United States the Costigan-LaGuardia Bill, the passage of which would not only provide immediate relief through the extension of credit to the unemployed heads of households, but should have a marked effect upon business conditions generally, and

Whereas, Any measure that will release money, will promote buying and stimulate business and be of inestimable aid in relieving the present economic depression, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Senate and House of Representatives of this Special Session of the Pennsylvania State Legislature hereby memorialize the present Congress of the United States to act favorably upon the above referred to bill, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania, in the Congress of the United States.

RESOLUTION RECOMMITTED

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, in view of the fact that Congress has now adjourned, I move that this Resolution be recommitted to the Committee on Federal Relations.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate bill No. 85 (House Bill No. 71), as follows:

An Act relating to public improvements undertaken and made in times of economic depression for the purpose of furnishing employment for persons otherwise unemployed authorizing any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth to undertake and make such public improvements under certain conditions authorizing one or more poor districts to furnish the labor for such public improvements from among the persons entitled to relief and other citizens of this Commonwealth under certain circumstances and to make such public improvements in and for such poor districts under certain conditions with the approval of the court of common pleas providing for reimbursement of such poor districts under certain circumstances out of a State loan when and if approved providing that such poor districts be reimbursed when not coextensive with the municipal subdivision out of any funds lawfully available for the purpose by general taxation or out of municipal liens and providing for interest providing that the provisions of this act are severable as affected by the Constitution and repealing inconsistent laws and defining municipal subdivision as meaning any county city borough township or poor district of this Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That throughout this act unless the context indicated a different intention the singular includes the plural and the masculine pronoun includes the feminine

As used in this act

"Municipal subdivision" means any county city borough township or poor district of this Commonwealth

"Person entitled to relief" means any person who has been a resident of this Commonwealth for at least one year immediately preceding his application for relief and has no other means of support for himself and his dependents and who is unable to obtain for himself and his dependents food clothing fuel or shelter because of inability to obtain employment who has no relatives or other persons legally liable and able to support him who has made earnest and unsuccessful efforts to obtain employment

"Public improvement" shall include the erection construction repair remodeling extension or improvement of any public building street road highway sewer sewage disposal plant municipal water works municipal electric plant or municipal airport public bridge or viaduct

Section 2 It hereby is declared to be a proper governmental function of any municipal subdivision or this Commonwealth to cause public improvements to be made for the relief of distress caused by unemployment during prolonged periods of economic depression

Section 3 Any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth for the purpose of furnishing employment to persons entitled to relief may cause any public improvement to be undertaken and made which by law now existing or hereafter enacted it would be authorized to undertake and make provided the money necessary for the materials and expenses other than the labor to be furnished therefor by a poor district or poor districts as herein provided shall not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation on such indebtedness and in cases where reimbursement is to be made to a poor district or poor districts the money to make such reimbursement can be raised by general taxation for such purpose by law now existing or hereafter enacted providing therefor or can be paid out of money collected by and through municipal liens for such public improvement by law now existing or hereafter enacted

Section 4 When ever any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth by proper resolution or ordinance has determined to undertake and make any public improvement under the terms of this act the poor district which is coextensive with or forms a part of such municipal subdivision or of which such municipal subdivision forms a part or any poor district in the same or an adjoining county may contract to furnish the labor for such public improvement in whole or in part from among the persons entitled to relief within such poor district or poor districts and from among other citizens of this Commonwealth if there are not enough persons entitled to relief but no such poor district shall undertake to furnish such labor unless the persons entitled to relief within such poor district or within all the poor districts joining in the furnishing of such labor who sign contracts to work on such public improvement shall equal ninety per centum of the laborers necessary to do the work but if the number of such persons subsequently shall be decreased below said ninety per centum nevertheless such poor district shall finish its contract to furnish such labor

Two or more poor districts in the same county as the municipal subdivision doing the work or in a county adjoining such county may join in the furnishing of such labor and when the work is done in this manner such poor districts shall submit a joint statement to the municipal subdivision for which the work was done showing the value of the labor furnished by each and if and when the municipal subdivision for which the work has been done makes reimbursement as hereinafter provided it shall reimburse such poor districts pro rata on the basis of such statement Such laborers shall be paid by the poor district in which they reside out of its general funds or out of any other funds legally available for such purpose The wages to be paid such laborers as herein provided shall be paid in cash at the prevailing wage for the same class of labor in the locality where the labor is performed

Section 5 If such poor district is not coextensive with the municipal subdivision for which the work has been done and not otherwise such poor districts or poor district shall be reimbursed for the amount of the value of the labor furnished such municipal subdivision the same to be paid or reimbursed by the municipal subdivision for which the work was done in such manner as such municipal subdivision may deem best with interest at the rate of three per centum Provided That not less than one-tenth of the whole principal amount shall be paid in any one year until the whole is repaid with interest as aforesaid All money so repaid shall be used as general funds by such poor district

Section 6 Any such poor district may undertake and make any public improvement in and for itself that is authorized by law and under the supervision of such competent superintendent or superintendents as may be necessary selected either from among such persons entitled to relief or otherwise do the work by the services of the persons entitled to relief in such poor district to whatever extent such persons may be available but no authority to do so shall be or is given by this act unless the court of common pleas of the county wherein the work is to be done has found as a fact the existence of a time of economic depression causing distress because of general unemployment and has approved such action

Section 7 If and when an issue of the bonds of this Commonwealth is proposed and approved as provided in paragraph five of the call of the Governor for this Extraordinary Session the poor districts availing themselves of the provisions of this act may be reimbursed to the same extent as though the said funds had been expended for unemployment relief in any other manner

Section 9 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions are declared unconstitutional the decision so holding shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It hereby is declared as a legislative intent that this act would have been enacted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 10 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 72, as follows:

An Act making application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds to which the State is entitled from funds made available for furnishing relief and work relief by Act of Congress of the United States providing for the expenditure of such funds under a system of administration established by the Governor or under the direction and responsibility of the Governor in relieving distress providing for an allocation of the funds so received among the several counties prescribing the use for which such funds may be expended and limiting monthly expenditures conferring powers upon county commissioners and city councils of said cities and making an appropriation

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the State of Pennsylvania hereby makes application through the Governor of the State to the Reconstruction

Finance Corporation for funds from time to time to be paid to the Governor on his application and to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people residing in the State of Pennsylvania and in relieving the hardship resulting from unemployment in accordance with the Act of Congress of the United States approved entitled "An act to relieve destitution to broaden the lending powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and to create employment by providing for and expending a public works program"

The Governor of the Commonwealth shall in each such application for funds certify to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation the necessity for such funds and that the resources of the State including moneys then available and which can be made available by the State its political subdivisions and private contributions are inadequate to meet the relief needs of the State

Section 2 The funds received by the Governor from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall be held in a special fund in the State Treasury to be known as the "Federal Unemployment Relief Fund" and the moneys in such fund being Federal moneys shall be there held without regard to the restrictions applicable to the ordinary revenues of the State and be expended in accordance with the said Act of Congress and this act

The Governor shall from time to time issue to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation his receipt countersigned by the State Treasurer for the amount of the funds received from time to time which receipt shall state such funds are accepted subject to the terms of said act of Congress

The funds advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and held in the Federal Unemployment Fund shall be deposited in State depositors in like manner and with like interest rates as is provided by law for active State deposits and any interest earned on such deposits shall be credited to the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund and be allocated and be expended for the same purposes as the principal sum held in such fund

Section 3 The funds received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall immediately upon receipt and deposit in the State Treasury be made available for expenditure by the Governor and be expended subject to the limitations prescribed by this act by the Governor under such system of administration as he may establish or under the direction of the Governor and upon his responsibility as provided by said Act of Congress

The amount so received from time to time shall be apportioned by the Governor for use in the several counties of this Commonwealth on a ratio that the estimated number of unemployed persons in a county bears to the estimated total number of unemployed persons in the entire Commonwealth as shown by the latest available tables compiled and issued by the Department of Labor and Industry

The first allocation shall in addition to the funds received by the Governor include any funds paid to municipalities and political subdivisions as provided in section four of this act and when the allocations of the various counties have been determined the amounts so paid to said municipalities and political subdivisions shall be deducted from the share of the county in which such respective municipalities and political subdivisions are located Thereafter as further allocations of funds received are made the same allocation procedure shall be followed as to the payments to municipalities and political subdivisions since the last allocation

Section 4 From the portion of the Federal appropriation coming to the State of Pennsylvania the Governor may request with the approval of the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation payments to municipalities and political subdivisions of the State and in such cases the Governor shall make his certificate to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and therein state the necessity for such funds and that the resources of the municipality or political subdivision including moneys then available and which can be made available by the municipalities or political subdivisions and private contributions are inedequate to meet relief needs Any such municip lity or political subdivision before receiving any such moneys shall enter into an agreement with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the repayment to the Corporation of the amount so received with interest at the rate of three per centum per annum at such times and upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the corporation and such municipality or political subdivisions Any such payment to a municipality or political subdivision shall be charged against the amount allocated under the provisions of this act to the county in which such municipality or political subdivision is located as hereinbefore provided

The funds so received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation over and above the amount paid to any municipality or political subdivision as hereinbefore provided shall be used in the respective counties to which allocated by the Governor in order to supplement the moneys appropriated by the Legislature at the Special Session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two from the General Fund for unemployment relief purposes and also to provide relief when the State funds available in such county are exhausted

Such Federal funds may be expended in counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the county commissioners of the county to which such moneys are allocated and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement

In counties of the second class the amount allocated to the county from time to time shall first be divided equally between the county and any city of the second class The amount allocated to the county may be expended in the county outside any such city of the second class for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the county commissioners of the county and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement. The amount allocated to any city of the second class may be expended in such city for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the mayor the city council of such city and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement.

In counties coextensive with cities the amount allocated to the county may be expended for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the mayor the city council of such city and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement.

Any of said Federal funds not paid to municipalities and not expended for work relief as hereinbefore provided may be expended in the counties or cities to which allocated for food clothing fuel and shelter for residents of such county or city who have gained a legal settlement and who are without means of support and the Governor may require that in return for such food clothing fuel and shelter labor shall be performed by the persons receiving the same for the State the county or any city borough town township school district or poor district within or coextensive with such county.

Section 5 The total monthly expenditure in the several counties of this Commonwealth made by the Governor under the provisions of this act when added to relief moneys made available during such month by appropriation from the General Fund at the Special Session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two for unemployment relief purposes shall not exceed three million dollars ($3,000,000) and in any month when no such relief moneys are available from General Fund appropriations the total amount expended by the Governor from the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund shall not exceed three million dollars ($3,000,000) in such month Provided however That in the case of moneys to be expended for work relief in any such county or city the amount available for expenditure in such county or city in any month may be cumulated for expenditure in a succeeding month or months

Section 6 In applying said funds to the purposes for which dedicated by the Act of Congress of the United States and this act the Governor is authorized to use the facilities and personnel of any of the departments or agencies of the State

Section 7 Payments from said fund shall be made under such system of requisition and accounting as the Governor Auditor General and State Treasurer shall determine

Section 8 The requisitions on and expenditures from the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund and all accounts connected therewith shall be audited by the Auditor General in like manner and with like powers and authority as is provided by the laws of the Commonwealth for audits in connection with the administration of the fiscal affairs of the State Government

Section 9 The Governor shall file with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and with the Auditor General of the Commonwealth a statement of the disbursements made by him or under his direction and upon his responsibility in accordance with the Act of Congress

Section 10 The sum of thirty-five thousand four hundred dollars ($35,400) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund to the Governor for printing of stationery receipts and any other documents necessary in the conduct of the work connected with the administration of this act the payment of any other expenses necessary in connection with the organization of the necessary personnel the payment of the compensation and expenses of clerical and other assistants required the payment of the expenses including those of volunteers whose services shall be accepted by the Governor and for postage and incidental expenses

The sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Auditor General for the payment of the cost of auditing accounts as provided in section eight of this act and for the costs of administration in connection with this act

The sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the State Treasurer for the payment of the costs of administration in connection with the provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 78, as follows:

An Act to repeal the act approved the seventeenth day of February one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws thirty-six) entitled "An act providing a uniform method of electing certain party officers and delegates to the State and National Conventions and of making nominations for certain public offices providing for the payment of the expenses of the same making certain violations thereof misdemeanors and prescribing penalties for the violation of its provisions" and the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred nineteen) entitled "An act regulating certain political parties providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices the election of delegates and alternate delegates to National party conventions and of certain party officers including State committeemen a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State of the expenses of the same authorizing the State committee of a political party to make and to alter amend and revoke rules and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein and repealing inconsistent legislation"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the seventeenth day of February one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws thirty-six) entitled "An act providing a uniform method of electing certain party officers and delegates to the State and National Conventions and of making nominations for certain public offices providing for the payment of the expenses of the same making certain violations thereof misdemeanors and prescribing penalties for the violation of its provisions" and the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred nineteen) entitled "An act regulating certain political parties providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices the election of delegates and alternate delegates to National party conventions and of certain party officers including State committeemen a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State of the expenses of the same authorizing the State committee of a political party to make and to alter amend and revoke rules and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein and repealing inconsistent legislation" be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 78, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of a public hearing.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EINSTEIN. Mr. President, we know that this bill is not within the Governor's call; but the bill was to come into the Senate for the purpose of a hearing, and we will not have a hearing this year—it is too late. Senator Chapman is the gentleman who introduced this bill, and we put out this bill for the purpose of putting us on record as to whether or not we favor a change from the primary system to the old delegate system. I really believe, as far as this bill is concerned, it is a good bill; and I would not insist on its going back for a hearing, but the only reason that we put the bill out was for the purpose of getting the members acquainted with the bill. Then, if it is introduced in the Regular Session, we would know what we are voting on. I really believe that is all the bill was put out for.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, this bill is revolutionary in nature. It is a step backward, and certainly we are entitled to have the people who are interested in this kind of legislation heard. It is admitted by the sponsor and by the supporters of this bill that it is entirely outside the call. Therefore every member of this Senate who votes for this bill or against it, will know that it is absolutely illegal and useless. The sponsor and supporters of the bill have said it is a mere gesture; and I contend that the time can be taken up on more serious matters. This is not the time to make mere gestures. If there is any merit in this bill, let it be prepared carefully at the Regular Session and given consideration. But if it is to be before this body for consideration, then we should hear both sides of this question; and not a word has been said either for or against it on this floor.

Now, if we recommit this bill, I notice that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Einstein, thinks it is entirely too late for a public hearing. I do not see how any one can say that with authority. No time has been fixed for adournment. Therefore no one can say we do not have time for a hearing. And I ask the members of this body in all fairness, particularly when we know the bill itself is not at all legal, to send it back for the purpose of a hearing. If, after hearing the arguments, then they decide to send it out and desire to waste time, they can do so. But to vote on the bill is absolutely useless. They know it will be vetoed and that it could not be put into effect.

Mr. EINSTEIN. Mr. President, excuse me for taking any more time; but I desire to answer the gentleman when he says that we do not know whether we would have time for a hearing. Now, it has been said the Governor will veto the bill. That we do not know any more than we know we are going to have time for a public hearing. It has been said it is a step backward. I think it is a step forward. In other words, any organization, whether the Democratic party or the Republican party, when it puts up a candidate for the party before the people, those people have the right to know whom they are voting for. A Republican organization ,or a Democratic organization, will be responsible for that candidate; and I believe it is not a step backward, but that it is a step forward—I really do. I believe any organization that sponsors a candidate will sponsor a good man in order to have the votes of the party. And it is a mild way to put it and would be less expensive. We had a number of years ago the non-partisan bill, which at that time we thought was a very good bill; and it has been repealed. I desire to have this bill go back to committee, but I really believe it is a bill worthy of consideration. If the motion is not seconded, I am perfectly satisfied to second it.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, is correct, and he speaks with considerable assurance when he says this bill is not within the call and cannot be passed. Now, he certainly well knows we cannot have a public hearing at this short session. Let us dispose of it in the regular way. We have done that before. We have passed lots of bills in this body and sent them to the other House, and there they have died in committee, because there have been some defects about them. But let us have a roll call on this bill and pass it on its merits. It is folly to have the people go to the expense of coming here to a public hearing when the bill, as Mr. Harris states positively, is not within the call. So why do we want to have a hearing? If we are going to pass this bill, which is dead timber, as he states, let us not put the people to the trouble and expense of coming here for a public hearing, which would be of no purpose; because, after we have acted on this bill, it would be of no purpose.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny states that this is a gesture, and that it is not within the call. I think this is one of the best bills that has been presented, and that it is not a gesture. Our own county would save thirty-five hundred dollars a year.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman, will confine himself to the question.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, it is an economic bill, and I hope it passes.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move to amend the motion made by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, so that it will read that the bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I accept the amendment.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion as amended?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, is this an Administration bill?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, it is not.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, does it have the support of the Administration?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I do not know. I have not seen the Governor, and have not talked with him.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I hope this motion will prevail. I do not believe this is a good piece of legislation. My mind runs back to the convention at the time Judge Pennypacker was nominated over John P. Elkin, and I recall very well at that time that the people of Pennsylvania elected delegates to nominate John P. Elkin for Governor.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, will confine himself to the motion before the body.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, the other members have talked about the bill, so why should I be confined to the motion. I just want to finish by saying that the leaders of the Republican organization at that time were paying delegates forty-five hundred dollars a piece to take them away from John P. Elkin and then have them vote for Judge Pennypacker.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Warren, Senator Chapman?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Warren if he does not admit that this bill is entirely outside of the call?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I do not.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Warren, if he has made any inquiry as to whether this bill comes within the call?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I have not. I only know that it is an economic measure.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, the Senator from Warren has stated that it is the desire to save money; and in reply to that I would say to him that to print this bill would be an expense to the State. To have the State go to the expense of printing this bill is an expense that could be well done without at this time. The money that would be spent in the printing of this bill, either in the Senate or the House, could be very well saved, and the time would also be a factor.

Mr. ELY. Mr. President, I desire to inquire whether the amendment to the motion permits this debate on the merits of the bill.

The PRESIDENT. It does not

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion as amended?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 78, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Mansfield and Mr. Harris, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—18

Baumer,	Harris,	McClure,	Snyder,
Buckman,	Homsher,	Pethick,	Sordoni,
Ealy,	Kitts,	Roberts,	Weingartner,
Einstein,	Lanius,	Salus,	Woodward,

The Senate adjourned at 4.14 p. m. until Wednesday, July 20, 1932, at 11 o'clock a. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, July 19, 1932

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

How great and marvelous are Thy works, O Lord of hosts, and how bountiful are Thy mercies! Give unto us all this morning hour, the tokens of Thy presence with us. Thou hast renewed unto us both vigor of mind and of body. Thou hast granted unto us the privileges and obligations of a new day. In all our ways we would acknowledge Thee. Direct, we pray, our footsteps aright.

We confess our unworthiness. We plead for Thy continued patience with us. Help us to be deeply conscious of the truth that unto the upright there ariseth a light in the darkness, and the path of the just is as a shining light that shineth more and more, unto the perfect day. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday when, on motion of Mr. Wike, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

BILL ON FIRST READING

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having been voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 220, entitled:

A Supplement to Act No. 15-A, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (1931 Appropriation Acts, page 16), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one," making an appropriation for the payment of certain expenses of the General Assembly, convened in Extraordinary Session on the twenty-seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-two.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 78, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Fund

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That eight hundred thousand ($800,000) dollars of the undistributable accumulations in the State Treasury set aside by the State Treasurer and held in the Fire Insurance Tax Fund and which remained as an undistributed surplus in said fund on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two are hereby specifically appropriated to and shall be paid by the State Treasurer into the General Fund

Section 2 This act shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have just been informed that the officials of the State Firemen's Association who were here last evening, including the President, the Secretary, the Chairman of the Law Committee and the Chairman of the Executive Committee, have agreed that this bill be amended in its present form, to wit: that the sum of eight hundred thousand dollars of the undistributed accumulations in the State Treasury be transferred to the general fund. This would mean a balance, according to them, of about eight hundred thousand dollars in the fund, which they think will cover all needs. Inasmuch as they are going to assume the responsibility, I am willing to vote aye on the bill, otherwise I have not changed my attitude in the least, because I think that funds of this type should not be disturbed, that the machinery, which set them in motion, should not be disturbed unless there is a valid reason for doing so. However, as these officers, who are the ones vitally affected, have agreed to assume the responsibility and will send out statments to the various Volunteer Firemen's Relief Associations in the State to that effect, I am willing to vote aye on the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is a delegation coming from the western end of the State who will be here at 12.00 o'clock today. They represent what is known in the western end of the State as the Tax Justice League. They are from Butler, Westmoreland, Jefferson, Armstrong, Cambria and Indiana Counties, and I am told that there will be probably from five hundred to two thousand of them here. Last week this Hall was procured for them, and they expect to be here and to present their views at 1.30 o'clock standard time.

What they have to say does not deal with legislation of the present moment, but it is a movement on the part of the western end of the State and probably of other sections to take some measures that will relieve the present depression by means of dealing with the tax situation, which will be of very material interest in 1933 legislation.

Their visit is for the purpose of giving expression to their views. I trust that every member of this House who can conveniently do so will be present on that occasion, because I feel that what they have to say will be of vital importance. One of the gentlemen who is going to speak will be Mr. Lydick, the editorial writer of the Evening Gazette, a gentleman who was at one time a member of this Legislature from Allegheny and who is very thoroughly acquainted with the subject. The meeting will also be addressed by Mr. Rollins of Westmoreland County who is President of the Organization.

Viewing it as I do and feeling as I do that it is very vital that we get all the information we can, I trust that every member of this House will be present and to you I extend a cordial invitation, because I believe it is to your interset and to mine to hear what they have to say.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman on his question of pernosal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

RECESS

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now take a recess until 5.00 o'clock p. m. today.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The time of the recess having expired, the House will be in order.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 15.

SENATE BILL No. 34.

An Act to further amend section twenty-nine and clauses (b) and (d) of section thirty-two of an act, approved the fifteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws, eight hundred nine), entitled "An act relating to the organization, maintenance, and operation of the Department of Banking, and the scope of its supervision and control over corporations, partnerships, unincorporated associations, and individuals, and the assets and liabilities thereof, providing penalties for the enforcement of its provisions; and repealing The Banking Department Act of nineteen hundred and nineteen, with table of contents," by conferring additional powers on the Secretary of Banking with regard to the leasing of real estate, the pledge of assets in his possession as security for loans, the sale of listed and unlisted securities, and the extension of the period for the payment of mortgages.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 71.

An Act relating to public improvements undertaken and made in times of economic depression for the purpose of furnishing employment for persons otherwise unemployed; authorizing any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth to undertake and make such public improvements under certain conditions; authorizing one or more poor districts to furnish the labor for such public improvements from among the persons entitled to relief, and other citizens of this Commonwealth under certain circumstances, and to make such public improvements in and for such poor districts under certain conditions with the approval of the court of common pleas; providing for reimbursement of such poor districts under certain circumstances out of a State loan when and if approved; providing that such poor districts be reimbursed when not coextensive with the municipal subdivision out of any funds lawfully available for the purpose by general taxation or out of munipical liens and providing for interest; providing that the provisions of this act are severable as affected by the Constitution; and repealing inconsistent laws; and defining municipal subdivision as meaning any county, city, borough, township or poor district of this Commonwealth.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 4, page 5, line 2, by inserting after the word "purpose" the following: "The wages to be paid such laborers as herein provided shall be paid in cash at the prevailing wage for the same class of labor in the locality where the labor is performed."

On the question,
Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

SENATE BILL No. 34.

An Act to further amend section twenty-nine and clauses (b) and (d) of section thirty-two of an act, approved the fifteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws, eight hundred nine), entitled "An act relating to the organization, maintenance, and operation of the Department of Banking, and the scope of its supervision and control over corporations, partnerships, unincorporated associations, and individuals, and the assets and liabilities thereof, providing penalties for the enforcement of its provisions; and repealing The Banking Department Act of nineteen hundred and nineteen, with table of contents," by conferring additional powers on the Secretary of Banking with regard to the leasing of real estate, the pledge of assets in his possession as security for loans, the sale of listed and unlisted securities and the extension of the period for the payment of mortgages.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 166, Printer's No. 149, from page 3 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Steedle.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 166, entitled:

An Act to amend Section two of the act approved the twenty-third day of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 1499), entitled "A supplement to the act, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act Number Fifteen A), entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years, beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one,' making additional appropriations to the Department of Military Affairs and to the Department of Welfare."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when this bill was called in turn last Thursday or Friday, the gentleman from Berks asked if he could interrogate the sponsor of the bill. At that time I was not as well acquainted with the bill as I am now, and I shall be glad to answer any questions that the gentleman desires to ask me.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor what is the purpose of this bill?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen, if you will recall in the Extraordinary Session there were two bills introduced by myself. One was known as the $2,000,000 hospital emergency relief bill. This bill of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars was a companion bill to that for state-owned medical and surgical institutions.

After we had adjourned and gone to our homes the Governor vetoed the two million dollar hospital appropriation bill for state-aided hospitals. He did, however, sign the $250,000 bill for state-aided medical and surgical and state-owned hospitals. The reason for the veto, if my memory serves me correctly, was that there had been no money provided by the two million dollar bill for state-aided institutions. None of these State institutions has used one cent of the $250,000; not one penny of it has been encumbered by the State institutions. In view of the fact that no money has been withdrawn from the treasury of the $250,000, and since we appreciated that there might be some little incidental expenses, we left the bill at $10,000 and withdrew $240,000 in the economy bill presented and passed in House Bill No. 129 last week. That is the status of House Bill No. 166, Printer's No. 149, which we are now discussing. This money has never been used, it is lying there and we felt that since we needed money to raise sufficient money for unemployment relief that this money in question should be put in the general fund so that it might be part of the economy plan as suggested in House Bill No. 129.

Mr. HOOPES. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, what institutions are affected by this measure?

Mr. STEEDLE. What institutions?

Mr. HOOPES. Yes; what particular institutions are affected by this measure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, the State-owned medical and surgical, all of them.

Mr. HOOPES. All of them?

Mr. STEEDLE. The whole ten.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman has any information as to whether or not these hospitals will need this money to carry on the work which they are now carrying on until the Regular Session meets?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, the best evidence that we have in hand is that with the appropriations and with proper economy, even with the cuts which we gave them in House Bill No. 129, we feel that they can get along without any further money. If it should be that these institutions do incur a deficiency they can apply back to the General Session of 1933, which is only five months hence, and then have a general deficiency bill put in. But, after all, that is not good business at the present time, and we feel they should use what has already been appropriated to them in the session of 1931, and that, since they were not called upon to use any of the $250,000, we feel that they do not need it.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, the mere fact that they have not used it up to this time would not indicate necessarily that they would not need it.

Mr. STEEDLE. I cannot answer that.

Mr. HOOPES. Is it not a fact that the free services of these hospitals, along with all other medical and surgical hospitals, have practically doubled due to the inability of the people to pay for service during the depression?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Berks, I can conscientiously and truthfully say from my own association with hospitals that the demand upon State-aided hospitals as well as State-owned, no doubt has increased two fold and probably will continue to increase, but we feel that the economy plan, even with the cuts we have made in bill No. 129, will still give them sufficient to maintain and operate their institutions.

Mr. HOOPES. In other words, Mr. Speaker, it is the feeling of the Appropriations Committee that even though their free services have more than doubled, they can operate with less money than they did before?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, the question, I think, has been answered by my former statement.

On the question recurring,

Shall the blil pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

RESOLUTION

SUGGESTING REDUCTION IN SALARY OF JUDGES

Mr. SPANGLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 19, 1932.

Whereas, Contemplated reductions in the appropriations heretofore made to the different departments, boards and commissions of the State government will result in the reduction of the salaries paid to the officers and employes connected with such departments, boards and commissions, and

Whereas, No reduction has been so far made by the Legislature in the appropriation heretofore made to the judicial branch of the State government and that consequently no reduction of salaries of judges will follow, and

Whereas, The judges of the Commonwealth have not been affected by the economic depression which has necessiated a return to the most rigid economy by all others, and

Whereas, It is unfair and un-American that this favored class should fail to share in the attempt to save the resources of the Commonwealth in order that such savings can be used for the relief of the poor and needy, and

Whereas, It is fair, patriotic and truly American for every public officer to make a sacrifice similar to that which at this time is being made by every one fortunate enough to have a means of livelihood, in order to preserve that equality of opportunity which is the proud boast of America, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of this Legislature that the judges of our courts should voluntarily accept a reduction in the amount of salaries received by them and that those now receiving less than ten thousand dollars per annum should have their salaries reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum thereof, and that those now receiving in excess of ten thousand dollars per annum should accept an annual reduction amounting to fifteen per centum thereof, and be it

Resolved, That the Auditor General and the State Treasurer are hereby authorized to approve and pay a reduced compensation to any judge of the Commonwealth who shall file with the Auditor General an agreement to accept the reduction suggested by this resolution, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forward a copy of this resolution to each judge within the Commonwealth immediately after its approval.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution lies over under the rules.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 128, Printer's No. 154, from page 3 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Ederer.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 128, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the thirteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, (Act number eighteen A, Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the acquisition of land and buildings for the Commonwealth, and the creation and construction of new buildings and additions, alterations or improvements to and replacement of new or existing buildings of the Commonwealth, including fixtures and heating or sewerage systems and service lines for the accommodation of the buildings" as the same was approved.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Ederer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman, is it not true that if this bill becomes effective, it will seriously add to unemployment.

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Erie, I do not believe that it will seriously affect unemployment inasmuch as the Department of Property and Supplies has had this money for quite some considerable time. This money is all unencumbered, and it is a part of one of the bills in the twenty-two million dollar plan of reductions.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, some days ago I spoke relative to the call and purpose of this session, which was unemployment. According to the reply of the gentleman, Mr. Ederer, I take it for granted that this money which is earmarked for certain specific purposes, namely, for the construction, repair and maintenance of buildings, is to be taken from that purpose and used for direct relief through other channels.

I believe that if organizations or those fiscal officers responsible have not at this late date expended those funds, we, as legislators, should determine why they have not been expended when people are starving in this State. When we originally voted for those bills we did so in good faith, trusting and hoping that through the expenditure of that money our citizens would be to a certain extent given employment. Should this bill pass some body will have to take care of the citizens that would ordinarily be employed in this construction and the maintenance and the cost of the provisions necessary in life for those people will revert back in additional taxes to the local unit of government. If the State does not furnish the work to those people the local unit of government will be compelled to pay for their upkeep through the poor boards. Further than that it cripples every arm of the government intended to aid those who cannot aid themselves, and for that reason I ask the members of this House not only to consider this bill but to vote it down, to protect those who are not here and are physically unable to be here to protect themselves. This is the most vicious piece of legislation I have seen before this House. We are here to aid these people, and instead of doing that we are taking their bread and butter and sustenance away from them. I again ask the members of this House to vote this bill down.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on last Wednesday we passed the General Appropriation Bill amended, which in approximate figures totaled economies or savings in governmental costs to the amount of $22,000,000 plus. The bill before you is a part of that program. If you see fit to vote this bill down, you defeat the purpose of the General Appropriation Bill that you passed.

But to answer the gentleman from Erie in that we are taking and making more unemployed, let me say to you that all of this money in the general building program was made available as of March or April of 1931. No one will deny that unemployment was nearly as prevalent then or at least, during the rest of the year and up until the first of June as it is now. The department heads had it within their power to contract for the various buildings that they needed in the various institutions, but due to the fact that they did not take advanage of this opportunity and no contracts had been let by the State involving this amount of money, we passed the general appropriation bill, cutting these items out and in following that course, I trust you will vote aye on this bill.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Delaware made the remarks that these funds have not been expended and are, therefore, unencumbered, I agree with that, but I still maintain that they should have been spent. It is neither the fault of the Legislature or of the people who will be made the victims, but it is the fault of those responsible for the expenditure of those funds. I care not what their political faith may be, I charge them openly with wilfully delaying expenditures that would benefit the citizens of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to call attention to a few provisions of this bill. We are here for the purpose of unemployment relief, at least that is what we were called here for. We have been told that we should not give out a dole that we should give work relief.

I think all of us know that our hospital facilities, particularly for our tubercular patients and the insane, are greatly overcrowded at the present time. I think, also, all of you will agree that we can get more buildings for the same money today than we could get for a good many years past. In other words, by spending money for public buildings at the present time, particularly hospitals, you will get more for your money that at any time since the war, at least, and in addition you will be putting people to work by using this money.

What is the use of taking money away with one hand and giving it back with the other? That is what this bill purposes to do. For instance, there is an appropriation here for the hospital at Harrisburg of $402,000 for the replacement of existing buildings. Everybody knows that this hospital is grossly overcrowded, and it is hard to find places for our insane patients in many parts of the State at the present time, and yet you are cutting that appropriation from $402,000 to $22,000. You are cutting the appropriation for the Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, which is also overcrowded. I suppose you want to turn them out or leave them in the prisons where they are a menace to other people. You are cutting the appropriation for the Danville State Hospital also for the Dorrance State Hospital from five hundred and fifteen thousand dollars down to fifty-five thousand dollars.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman, if I have understood him correctly, is speaking on the provisions of the bill.

Mr. HOOPES. If quoting the bill is not speaking on the bill. I don't know what is. I do not blame the gentleman from Delaware for not wanting these things pointed out to the House.

For the Warren State Hospital at Warren they are cutting the appropriations from $290,000 to $130,000. They are cutting the appropriation for the Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon from $391,000 to $41,000. The State Industrial Home at Muncy, they are cutting that only $20,000, but they are cutting it from $170,000 to $150,000, and so on all the way down the line until we come to the State Colony for Epileptics, cutting it from $740,000 to $60,000. Members of the House do you call that economy? You can go on through the bill and find plenty of other similar provisions. I think we are here for unemployment relief, to be sure, but this measure is not giving relief to the unemployed. It is going to cause more unemployment. It is cutting down our public works at a time when many members of the House are advocating that we should build roads for the unemployed. Why not let them build some of these buildings that we need so badly? Perhaps we need them even more than we need public roads. As I have said before, I don't believe that public works, as it is generally understood, is a solution for unemployment, but abolishing public works certainly would not improve the conditions of unemployment in this Commonwealth at this time. We can get more buildings for the same money now than we could before. Let us go ahead and construct these buildings. Let us, to some degree at least, serve the needs of the feeble minded, the tubercular, the insane and all the others. In times of depression people are less able to send patients to private hospitals and there is all the more need why we should have more adequate public facilities to care for these people. Are we going to take from them at the time they need it the most? We have just got through cutting appropriations for State-owned and State medical and surgical hospitals, even though it is admitted that their free services have been doubled. In the name of economy and unemployment relief I contend, members of the House, that it is nothing of the sort, that it is merely a political scheme, trying to make a bluff of aiding the unemployed and avoiding taxing those who are able to pay and should pay. Let us put taxes on the excess profits of our public utilities. Let us put on a manufacturers' corporation tax. There are plenty of places where you can get this money without taking it away from those who need it the most: the insane, the poor, the crippled, the afflicted, the tubercular. That is not the way to relieve the situation. It is well recognized, particularly in the case of tubercular sanatoria, that their services are more needed today because of malnutrition. Thousand of patients are needing attention today that did not need it before. Is that going to relieve the situation; cutting out those appropriations? Let us be fair about this matter, let us vote to help the unemployed by voting down this measure and then raise the money for relief from the places where it ought to come by taxing those who are able to pay.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, if he believes in prison labor?

Mr. HOOPES. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman realize that in these various penal institutions most of the work is done by inmates confined there?

Mr. HOOPES. Some of it is, but that does not apply to the hospitals. Only a few thousand dollars out of this total of several million would be done by the inmates of these institutions.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The affirmative roll was verified.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Wettach, was recorded as voting in the affirmative, and he is not here.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded as voting.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Hagmaier, is recorded as voting aye and the gentleman was not in his seat at the time the roll was called.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hagmaier, within the bar of the House when his name was called?

Mr. HAGMAIER. Mr. Speaker, I was in the rear of the House when my name was called.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman within the door of the House?

Mr. HAGMAIER. Mr. Speaker, I was in the rear of the rail.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman still within the bar of the House, inside of the door of the House?

Mr. HAGMAIER. I was, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Did the gentleman vote when his name was called?

Mr. HAGMAIER. Mr. Speaker, I did not reply when my name was called.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny being within the bar of the House was entitled to vote.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hagmaier, has stated that he did not reply when his name was called so he did not vote, regardless of where he was.

The SPEAKER. Rule seventy-six provides that "No member shall be permitted to record his vote who neglects to vote when his name is first called by the Clerk." Therefore, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hagmaier, is not entitled to be recorded as voting.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Wike, is recorded as voting. I think he is recorded as voting aye.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is recorded as having voted aye.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, he is not here.

The SPEAKER. In the confusion in the House and with the similarity of names the Speaker may not have heard the gentleman from Berks aright. Does the gentleman from Berks refer to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Wike?

Mr. HOOPES. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Wike, is not recorded as voting.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I think under the rules of the House if the gentleman from Berks wishes to challenge the vote of any member he must challenge it in writing.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia is correct. The challenge of a vote must be in writing.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, with reference to the vote of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hagmaier, the Speaker said that under the rules if the gentleman did not reply when his name was called that he was not entitled to be recorded as voting. I ask you, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman did not hear his name called when in the rear of the House, whether he cannot now vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the gentleman is not entitled to vote if he did not vote when his name was first called.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point or order.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask if it is not true that the rules provide that a member must vote unless he gives a reasonable excuse or is excused from voting. If the member is within the bar of the House and if he is in his seat must he not give a reasonable excuse why he did not vote?

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the point of order is not well taken.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Storb, voted.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, challenge the vote of the gentleman from Montgomery Mr. Storb?

Mr. HOOPES. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks will present his challenge in writing.

Mr. DENNING. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire how I am recorded as voting?

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman vote?

Mr. DENNING. Mr. Speaker, I voted aye.

The SPEAKER. The affirmative roll was called; did the gentleman from Philadelphia hear his name?

Mr. DENNING. I did not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded as voting. The Chair endeavored to maintain order in the House when the roll was called in order to prevent this everlasting correcting of the roll. The rolls are called in a loud and distinct voice. The gentlemen should be in their seats. If the gentleman states he was within the hall of the House and voted aye, the gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. DENNING. Mr. Speaker, I voted aye.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

CHALLENGE OF VOTE

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, challenges in writing the vote of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Storb, because he was not in the House.

The gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Storb, is not recorded as voting.

Mr. HOOPES. I beg your pardon, Mr. Speaker. I thought I heard his name called.

Mr. DWYER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask how I am recorded as voting.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman vote?

Mr. DWYER. I voted aye, Mr. Speaker; I was standing on the other side of the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be recorded as having voted aye.

The negative roll was verified, and the roll was verified and was as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, JULY 20, 1932. No. 13.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, July 20, 1932

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain. Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou Infinite God, as we contemplate a being transcendent as Thou art we stand in reverance and awe before Thee, and become possessed with the spirit of adoration, worship and praise.

As we appear in Thy presence we realize a sense of moral uplift and a transformation of character; we obtain a new and larger and more satisfying interest in life.

We pray that such a spiritual quickening may come to us while we linger before Thee, with a heavenward look, in our morning devotions, as will enable us to render unto Thee a better service this day.

For these favors we entreat Thee in the name of our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. ARMSTRONG, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 71

The Clerk of the House of Representatives, being introduced, informs the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 71, entitled:

An Act relating to public improvements undertaken and made in times of economic depression for the purpose of furnishing employment for persons otherwise unemployed; authorizing any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth to undertake and make such public improvements under certain conditions; authorizing one or more poor districts to furnish the labor for such public improvements from among the persons entitled to relief, and other citizens of this Commonwealth under certain circumstances, and to make such public improvements in and for such poor districts under certain conditions with the approval of the court of common pleas; providing for reimbursement of such poor districts under certain circumstances out of a State loan when and if approved; providing that such poor districts be reimbursed when not coextensive with the municipal subdivision out of any funds lawfully available for the purpose by general taxation or out of munipical liens and providing for interest; providing that the provisions of this act are severable as affected by the Constitution; and repealing inconsistent laws; and defining municipal subdivision as meaning any county, city, borough, township or poor district of this Commonwealth.

RESOLUTION SUGGESTING VOLUNTARY REDUCTION INCOMPENSATION OF JUDGES

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Appropriations:

In the House of Representatives, July 19, 1932

Whereas Comtemplated reductions in the appropriations heretofore made to the different departments boards and commissions of the State government will result in the reduction of the salaries paid to the officers and employes connected with such departments boards and commissions and

Whereas No reduction has been so far made by the Legislature in the appropriation heretofore made to the judicial branch of the State government and that consequently no reduction of salaries of judges will follow and

Whereas The judges of the Commonwealth have not been affected by the economic depression which has necessitated a return to the most rigid economy by all others and

Whereas It is unfair and un-American that this favored class should fail to share in the attempt to save the resources of the Commonwealth in order that such savings can be used for the relief of the poor and needy and

Whereas It is fair patriotic and truly American for every public officer to make a sacrifice similar to that which at this time is being made by every one fortunate enough to have a means of livelihood in order to preserve that equality of opportunity which is the proud boast of America therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the sense of this Legislature that the judges of our courts should voluntarily accept a reduction in the amount of salaries received by them and that those now receiving less than ten thousand dollars per annum should have their salaries reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum therof and that those now receiving in excess of ten thousand dollars per annum should accept an annual reduction amounting to fifteen per centum therof and be it

Resolved That the Auditor General and the State Treasurer are hereby authorized to approve and pay a reduced compensation to any judge of the Commonwealth who shall file with the Auditor General an agreement to accept the reduction suggested by this resolution and be it further

Resolved That the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forward a copy of this resolution to each judge within the Commonwealth immediately after its approval

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House of Representatives as follows:

House Bill No. 128 (Senate Bill No. 172), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the thirteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one, (Act number eighteen A, Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the acquisition of land and buildings for the Commonwealth, and the erection and construction of new buildings and additions, alterations or improvements to and replacement of new or existing buildings of the Commonwealth, including fixtures and heating or sewerage systems and service lines for the accommodation of the buildings" as the same was approved.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

House Bill No. 166 (Senate Bill No. 173), entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-third day of December, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 1499), entitled "A supplement to the act approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number fifteen A), entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative, and judicial departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years, beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year, ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one,' making additional appropriations to the Department of Military Affairs and to the Department of Welfare."

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. SALUS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, July 20, 1932.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July 25 at eight o'clock Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July 25, at eight o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE LIABILITY OF COMPANIES BONDING STATE DEPOSITORIES

Mr. SALUS offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, July 19, 1932.

Whereas, There has been much discussion in the public press concerning the liability of bonding companies, with respect to State deposits in banks, and the cancellation of State depository bonds:

Whereas, Litigation is now pending in the courts to determine the rights of bonding companies to cancel existing bonds covering State deposits, thereby causing uncertainty to the State, banks, trust companies and bonding companies regarding the liability thereon, therefore be it

Resolved, That the State Treasurer, Auditor General, Secretary of Banking, and four Senators, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, are hereby constituted a committee to study the situation with respect to the bonding of banks and trust companies having State deposits, and to make report thereon to the Senate upon its convening in 1933 with such recommendations and such drafts of legislation as may be deemed necessary to clarify the law on this subject, and establish the rights and liabilities of bonding companies and the rights of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

It was agreed to.

The fourth section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

Section 4 This act shall not abate or diminish the power of building and loan associations to borrow money under the provisions of existing law

The fifth section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act empowering cities of the first class to levy, assess and collect or to provide for the levying, assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes; authorizing the establishment of bureaus, and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes, and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I move to amend title, page 1, line 1, by striking out the word "class" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and second classes and counties of the second class."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE MESSAGES

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 66

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1932.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 66, entitled:

An Act lapsing all unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations from the general fund made by the General Assembly at its session of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine and prior sessions.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, July 20, 1932.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July 25, at eight o'clock Eastern Standard Time; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, July 25, at eight o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO DISPOSITION OF FUNDS OF DEPOSITORS OF BANKS CLOSED BY THE SECRETARY OF BANKING

Mr. PARKINSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. PARKINSON offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate, July 20, 1932.

Whereas, Large sums of money belonging to persons and corporations who were depositors in banks and trust companies which have been closed by action of the Secretary of Banking are now in the custody and control of the said Secretary, and

Whereas, It is fitting and proper that such moneys should be deposited in banks situated in the same localities from which it was deposited and should draw as much interest as can possibly be obtained in order to save for such depositors the largest possible amount, and

Whereas, It is rumored that the Secretary of Banking is depositing such moneys in favorite banks in cities distant from the closed bank from which it was taken and outside of the community from which it was deposited and that interest thereon is paid by such banks at the low rate of one per centum per annum, and

Whereas, Such depositing of funds in distant banks is unfair to the depositors and to the communities, and the low rate of interest asked on such deposits is not only unfair to such depositors but is a form of favoritism that should not be permitted, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Senate that moneys in the control and custody of the Secretary of Banking should be deposited in banks paying the highest rate of interest thereon consistent with safety and whenever possible should be placed in banks in the community wherein the closed bank was situated, and be it

Resolved, That the Secretary of Banking is hereby requested to hereafter handle such funds in accordance with this resolution, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall forward a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of Banking immediately after its adoption.

Mr. PARKINSON. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SCOTT, from the Committee on Finance, re-reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 90 (House Bill No. 1), entitled:

An Act authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated districts, townships, school districts, and poor districts with the approval of the court of Common Pleas to negotiate temporary emergency loans for certain purposes during the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-two and under certain circumstances to refund such loans annually for a certain period.

RECESS

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until four o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. BOWERS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

An Act relating to public improvements undertaken and made in times of economic depression for the purpose of furnishing employment for persons otherwise unemployed; authorizing any municipal subdivision of this Commonwealth to undertake and make such public improvements under certain conditions; authorizing one or more poor districts to furnish the labor for such public improvements from among the persons entitled to relief, and other citizens of this Commonwealth under certain circumstances, and to make such public improvements in and for such poor districts under certain conditions with the approval of the court of common pleas; providing for reimbursement of such poor districts under certain circumstances out of a State loan when and if approved; providing that such poor districts be reimbursed when not co-extensive with the municipal subdivision out of any funds lawfully available for the purpose by general taxation or out of municipal liens and providing for interest; providing that the provisions of this act are severable as affected by the Constitution; and repealing inconsistent laws ;and defining municipal subdivision as meaning any county, city, borough, township or poor district of this Commonwealth.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 48

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented communication from the House of Representatives, informing the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 48, entitled:

An Act to repeal article twenty-one of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws. general special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith."

RESOLUTION URGING THE DISCONTINUANCE OF PUBLICATION OF BULLETINS

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Printing:

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1932.

Whereas, The Governor and the Legislature are convinced that economy in government is one of the steps necessary to prevent a further increase in taxation and to reduce taxation in the future, and

Whereas, One of the important elements of expense in the State government is the cost of printing which has grown tremendously during the last decade, and

Whereas, The belief prevails that many unnecessary State bulletins are published and that there is useless waste in printing forms, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor is hereby respectfully urged to order departments, boards and commissions of the State government to discontinue the publication of bulletins which can be dispensed with, without harm to the work of the Commonwealth and its people, and to prevent, by executive order, the continual change of budget, requisition and other forms and papers, and to provide for their simplification in order that the cost of printing may be reduced, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Governor by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BRANDT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there obection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BRANDT, from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 42, entitled:

An Act relating to limited dividend housing companies; defining and providing for the formation of such corporations for the purpose of eliminating unsanitary and dangerous housing conditions and constructing and operating safe and sanitary dwellings and apartments to be let at reasonable rentals; extending to such corporations certain existing laws relating generally to corporations of the second class; providing for the supervision and regulation of the activities of such corporations by the State Board of Housing in the Department of Property and Supplies; providing for the protection of such corporations and the parties dealing with them; prescribing, defining and limiting the powers and duties of such corporations; conferring upon certain of such corporations the power of eminent domain; exempting such corporations from the payment of the capital stock tax; making certain securities of such corporations legal investments for funds in the hands of municipal officers, insurance companies and associations, saving banks and savings institutions, and authorizing certain existing companies to accept the provisions of this act.

Mr. BRANDT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, July 20, 1932

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rev. Frank W. Ruth, a member of the House, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heaveny Father, the strength of all them that put their trust in Thee, who hast not appointed us unto wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ; because through the weakness of our mortal nature we can do no good thing without Thee, we beseech Thee to grant us the help of Thy grace, and to breathe into us that divine charity which is the fulfilling of the law; that in keeping Thy commandments we may please Thee both in will and deed, and be counted worthy, after the sufferings of this life, to reign with Christ in Heaven; to whom, with Thee and the Holy Ghost, be honor and glory, world without end. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when on motion of Mr. Lose, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

COMMUNICATION URGING REDUCTION OF EXPENSES

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the following communication presented by the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. McElwee.

The communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

Ellwood City, Pa., July 18, 1932.

Honorable Wm. McElwee, Jr., Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

The Pennsylvania State Legislature has been called into Special Session for the purpose of providing immediate relief for the more unfortunate citizens of our great and naturally rich State—relief which very probably will be needed for an indefinitely extended period.

As in the past the eyes of all members of the Legislature will probably be turned toward the source of all State income—the taxables. When additional funds have been required, the method regularly employed has been to increase the burden of taxation rather than find means whereby reductions could and should have been made, without decreasing the efficiency of the various departments of the State Government. These considerations are in the minds of many of your constituents, among whom are the members of the Foremen's Club of the National Tube Company—Ellwood Works, Ellwood City, Pa.

In order that you may know that many of your constituents are vitally interested in the matter of relief and the method of providing same, the following preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The State Legislature is convening to consider the matter of relief to its citizens, a large number of whom are now entirely dependent upon community and State aid and a larger number who are on the verge of need for immediate relief, thus lessening the number of taxables, and

Whereas, The usual efforts of the Legislature to provide special or additional funds have been by means of increased taxes rather than reduction of expenses—reductions which we believe could be effected without injury to the successful operation of the various departments of the State Government. Therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Foremen's Club before mentioned, having a membership of approximately 200 and contacting more than 2000 citizens and taxpayers in the State of Pennsylvania, that the matters referred to in the preamble to this resolution be referred to our representative in the State Legislature, the Honorable Wm. McElwee, Jr., for presentation to that distinguished body for its consideration.

THE FOREMEN'S CLUB,
National Tube Co.—Ellwood Works, Ellwood City, Pa.
J. E. McDaniel, President.

Attest:
George W. Wilson, Secretary.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. BARTON asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Kahle for the balance of the week.

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ACT ON CONTROL OF MOTOR TRUCKS

Mr. PETERS offered a resolution which was twice read as follows and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1932.

Whereas, Considerable agitation exists not only in this Commonwealth, but among the other States of the Union regarding the increasing size and number of motor trucks being driven on the highways of the Nation, and the increasing percentage of freight being transported by such motor trucks, and

Whereas, The plan of limiting the field of such motor transportation by increasing the taxation thereon and limiting the size thereof, which is being advocated as a solution of such problem, and as a protective measure for other common carriers, as well as a means of protecting our highways and adequately placing on such motor trucks their proportionate share of the cost of the upkeep of said highways, is met by great opposition because of the cheaper transportation made possible under present conditions, and the realization that the outlawing of heavy trucks now in operation will work great hardship on the owners, and

Whereas, A great percentage of such transportation is interstate, and an attempt by this Commonwealth to impose heavy burdens on foreign motor trucks will immediately react upon shippers in this Commonwealth who ship outside the State by such transportation, and

Whereas, The whole problem to be properly controlled and justly regulated, must be considered as national in scope, now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly express it as their opinion that the whole problem is one calling for Federal control under the interstate commerce regulatory powers of the Federal Government, and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does memorialize the Congress of the United States to exercise such powers by proper enactment, prohibiting the use in interstate commerce after the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six of motor trucks of more than five tons carrying capacity, also of trailers other than semi-trailers, and making such regulations as to the wheel base of motor trucks permitted to be used, as shall best provide for safe transportation and the least wear on highways, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Chief Clerk of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

RESOLUTION No. 20

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 20, Printer's No. 184.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 19, 1932.

Whereas, Contemplated reductions in the appropriations heretofore made to the different departments boards and commissions of the State government will result in the reduction of the salaries paid to the officers and employees connected with such departments boards and commissions and

Whereas, No reduction has been so far made by the Legislature in the appropriation heretofore made to the judicial branch of the State government and that consequently no reduction of salaries of judges will follow and

Whereas, The judges of the Commonwealth have not been affected by the economic depression which has necessitated a return to the most rigid economy by all others and

Whereas It is unfair and un-American that this favored class should fail to share in the attempt to save the resources of the Commonwealth in order that such savings can be used for the relief of the poor and needy and

Whereas It is fair patriotic and truly American for every public officer to make a sacrifice similar to that which at this time is being made by every one fortunate enough to have a means of livelihood in order to preserve that equality of opportunity which is the proud boast of America therefore be it.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That it is the sense of this Legislature that the judges of our courts should voluntarily accept a reduction in the amount of salaries received by them and that those now receiving less than ten thousand dollars per annum should have their salaries reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum thereof that those now receiving in excess of ten thousand dollars per annum should accept an annual reduction amounting to fifteen per centum thereof and be it

Resolved That the Auditor General and the State Treasurer are hereby authorized to approve and pay a reduced compensation to any judge of the Commonwealth who shall file with the Auditor General an agreement to accept the reduction suggested by this resolution and be it further

Resolved That the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forward a copy of this resolution to each judge within the Commonwealth immediately after its approval

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to make one explanation, and that is that on page two in line seven there was a typographical error made and there will have to be an amendment added. I have the amendment prepared so that the resolution will read: "Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the sense of this Legislature that the judges of our courts should voluntarily accept a reduction in the amount of salaries received by them and that those now receiving less than ten thousand dollars per annum should have their salaries reduced by an amount equal to ten per centum thereof and that those now receiving"—I strike out "in excess of"—"ten thousand dollars or more per annum should accept an annual reduction amounting to fifteen percentum thereof, and be it further resolved—"and so forth. The amendment to the resolution is a very short one and is being prepared and if the House passes this resolution the amendment will be put in the resolution in the Senate committee. As the time is very short I am calling up this resolution and requesting the House to give it its approval.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPANGLER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand this resolution, it is merely a recommendation to the judges to accept a voluntary cut in their salaries.

Mr. SPANGLER. Yes.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman from York, why do you do that by resolution instead of by changing the statute law fixing the salaries of judges?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, in reply I would say that we cannot change the statute law changing the salaries that will cover the judges now in office. We cannot, under the general law, increase or diminish the salary of any public officer during his term of office. Now, I realize that the judges some years ago, by an opinion of the Supreme Court, declared that it was constitutional for them to accept an increase in salary while in office but recently there was an opinion handed down that would lead one to believe that the judges take a different view in respect to a decrease in salary, and rather than have any difficulty so far as litigation in the courts over this question is concerned I believe that the proper way to do it is by a resolution that requests the judges to accept less in accordance with the provisions of this resolution.

Now, we will have to do the same thing in respect to the officers in the executive branch of the government and in the legislative branch of the government.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman from York further does the gentleman agree with me that under the provisions of the call of the Governor that it is not possible in this Extraordinary Session to change the statute law respecting salaries?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, we are not changing the statute law by this resolution.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from York if he will agree with me that it is not possible to change the statute law in this Extraordinary Session.

Mr. SPANGLER. No.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from York in what provisions in the Governor's call do you read that you have the authority to change the statute law fixing salaries?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, we are not changing the statute law; we are simply making a request.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, the point I make is this, the gentleman from York says that he does not agree with me that it is not possible to change the statute law under the call of the Governor in this Extraordinary Session.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I say that we cannot change the statute law and that is the reason for this resolution.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Then the gentleman from York agrees with me?

Mr. SPANGLER. Yes sir, I do agree with you.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, that is all I wanted to get on the record.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPANGLER. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman from York to say that we have no power to diminish the salaries of judges?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, that would be my off-hand opinion, I won't say that positively, because I rather think that because of the fact that the Supreme Court has said that salary increases could be accepted that by the same process of reasoning they should say that they can be decreased; but if we attempt to decrease salaries it is apt to lead to litigation and long delay and will do no good as far as the present situation is concerned.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from York desirous of doing indirectly what he admits cannot be done directly?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not admit that it cannot be done directly, but I do believe that if done directly it will cause unconscionable delay and it will do no good as far as present economy is concerned.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from York, has not the Supreme Court decided that you cannot reduce the salaries of judges during their term of office?

Mr. SPANGLER. I question that.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from York believe that the salaries of the judges of our courts are too high.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in answer to the gentleman, I do. Under the circumstances existing today I think that the judges of our courts should be willing to accept less money during this emergency. This is an emergency measure. To my knowledge judges' salaries during the last ten years have been raised three different times and the reason that they have given for the request for these increases and the reason that the increases have been granted was because of the falling price of the dollar; in other words, because the dollar purchased less than it did prior to 1913. If we ask these judges to accept less money under the provisions of this resolution, and if the judges are willing to accept the provisions of this resolution, they will still be receiving as much as they received back in 1919.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker; is it not a fact that many of the judges would earn a great deal more as practicing lawyers than they do as judges on the bench, and the only reason that they accept that position is their desire to serve the public?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I don't agree with that.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on State Government.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, apparently the purpose of this motion is to kill this resolution. Now, this Legislature is gathered here for two purposes; one to aid the unemployed and the other to effect economies and provide the necessary funds whereby the purposes of the meeting of this Legislature shall be fulfilled.

Now, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is obvious that we are up against a situation where we must in this State government effect economies; we cannot avoid that issue. We have got to raise the money by one of two methods. We either have to tax the people who are overburdened at the present time or we have to endeavor to economize and use the money which we get as a result of that economy for the purpose for which this Legislature was called. Just last week we passed an omnibus bill carrying a maximum sum of twenty-two to twenty-three million dollars. It is now thought that some of that money will have to be lopped off, perhaps a great deal of it. If that is true, where is this money to come from to take its place?

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, here is another source of revenue and one which it is perfectly proper and right for this Legislature to use. Why should not the judges of this State, whose salaries we have increased from time to time on the theory that the dollar was buying less, now that the dollar buys more, accept a reduction in their salaries. I can see no logical reason why the judges as well as the employees and officers in the executive branch should not be willing in this time of crisis and stress, to accept a reduction, and I think the Legislature, at its next session, will be willing to accept a reduction of its salary. We have got at the present time to show the will to pull ourselves out of this emergency and the only way we can do it is by courage and force and by resolution. It is for that purpose that I have introduced this resolution and not because I want to see all salaries cut, but I realize now that the State is faced with the emergency which it is, that we must find some source of revenue whereby we can help ourselves out of this very unfortunate situation, and for that reason I have introduced this resolution, which is only going to have a temporary effect for the time being.

I earnestly ask the members of the House to pass this resolution.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, nobody in this State stands for economy more than I do, but I do not stand for an economy that means the lowering of standards of living.

I have listened to my good friend from York on numerous occasions express thoughts which reduced to their essence means that Americans who formerly wore silk shirts must now wear rags.

For years and years in this Legislature we endeavored to put our judiciary on a high scale and make them equal to any other judiciary in any commonwealth in the world. Now, shall we, in the twinkling of an eye, because somebody hollers "economy," reduce our judiciary, reduce our standards, reduce our methods of living and return to the barbarous ages of old? Everybody cries "economy." Economy is being carried too far; economy which hurts when you reduce the standard. Is it the idea to ask the farmer to go back and live in the leather back as they did in the old days? The idea cutting this and cutting that and cutting something else means when you come to the essence of things, that all of us must go back to the old way of living. We are living in an age when we are able to produce silk shirts instead of cotton ones, and hence why should we not have silk shirts? We are living in an age when we can have good clothing and not poor clothing.

You are adopting the wrong theory of economy; you are adopting a theory that would mean a cheaper, meaner and lower standard of living, when today we have everything in our possession that means that we should live better and on a higher plane and on a higher standard. If there were less potatoes today then we should eat less potatoes, but if there are more potatoes then my friend's argument is that because there are more we should eat less. Would my friend argue that because there are more apples that we should eat less apples? Would my friend argue that the people of the city of Philadelphia, who are willing to work, who are anxious to work and desirous of making their living by the sweat of their brow, that they should reduce themselves to the condition of life that our forefathers lived under?

I ask you, ladies and gentlemen of the House; I ask you in all fairness to keep up the American standard; I ask you to elevate it, to keep it going, to raise it to a higher and better plane. I ask you to send this resolution to the Committee on State Government that it might die and may die.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the genlteman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia why he didn't make the speech which he just made on the other economy bills which he voted for during the past two weeks?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the reason I didn't make that speech then was because I knew and you knew that the waste of money in this State administration is terrific and the people's money should not be squandered, it should be left back in their homes that they might have the necessities of life.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, are you more concerned in squandering the money of the people on judges than you are on the hospitals and other institutions?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the fair judge is worthy of his pay and worthy of a good pay, and I stand for the honest judge getting a fair and decent pay equal even to what poverty-stricken England with its dole pays its judges, and ours are paid far below their standard.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman from Philadelphia to say that if there was a reduction of ten per cent. in judges' salaries that it would cause a reduction or lessening of their standards of living?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't know whether a ten per cent. reduction would reduce their standard of living or not, but I do know that I stand for an economy that is opposed to waste. I stand today and have always stood for the raising of higher standards of living and I think our judiciary are entitled to a higher standard of living and ought to be paid on an equality with the judges of New York State and of England and of other countries.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as has previously been stated, we have increased the salaries of judges from time to time. Even without the increases in salaries there has never been any lack of material or candidates for these jobs when we have had a vacancy. It always seemed to me that practically every lawyer at bar was desirous of becoming a judge regardless of the salary, and I think that that condition applies now. The salaries of judges range from nine thousand to twenty thousand dollars a year, and it does seem to me that a reduction of ten per cent. in their salaries would not have any material effect upon the standard of living of the judiciary.

I noticed in the paper this morning where the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot, made a statement in regard to the proposed reductions in the appropriations to State institutions. In advocating the cuts which have taken about three million dollars from the State hospitals, he takes the position that this is permissable and possible because we have about twenty to twenty-seven per cent. of a reduction in the cost of foodstuffs. Apparently if the hospitals of the State can get along with a ten per cent. reduction, amounting to three million dollars, the judiciary of the State could certainly get along very well with a ten per cent. reduction in a salary of nine thousand dollars without impairing the efficiency or lowering their standards of living. The gentleman is quoted as saying: "Insofar as institutions are concerned no one can deny that there have been from twenty to twenty-seven per cent. reductions in the costs of food-stuffs, provisions and equipment, and we sincerely believe on the part of the Commonwealth that this economy can be effected without any real hurt to any department."

If that kind of a proposition can be applied to our institutions, it seems to me that the same theory is applicable to the judiciary as well as every other public official in this Commonwealth, and in this crisis, as the gentleman from York has already said, the judiciary as well as everybody else should take some of their responsibility and some of the burden. I don't think that the judiciary will suffer in any degree whatsoever, and there certainly will not be any lack of candidates in case of vacancy, if there was a cut in their salary of ten per cent. The regrettable part is that we cannot cut their salaries here by an act of Assembly; the only way we can get around it is by resolution, putting it up to their good judgment and their desire to cooperate. It seems that under the statutory law that they may accept when we raise their salaries, but when we try to reduce them again it becomes unethical and cannot be done.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think that this Assembly should put it right up to them as to whether they are going to bear their share of the burden during this crisis.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO PREPARE INCOME TAX BILL

Mr. SOWERS offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 19, 1932.

Whereas, This second Extraordinary Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, like the first, has been called primarily, if not exclusively for unemployment relief, and all of the labors and energies of this Session should be devoted to that object, and the enactment of legislation giving relief and after many days of discussion and debate it appears that not enough money by several millions of dollars can be recovered by practicing most rigid economy on subject matters within the Governor's call and that only by additional taxation can sufficient money be obtained, and it is generally conceded that an individual income tax law is fair and equitable to all, and that it is the duty of the possessors of income to give food, clothing and shelter to those denied employment by no fault of their own, and also the duty of the Commonwealth whenever possible to give employment to those anxious and willing to labor for their support and maintenance, and the present economic depression will cease to exist and a temporary remedy for unemployment is necessary and immediately necessary; now therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (A) That the Speaker appoint a special committee of nine members of the House (B) That the Special Committee with the aid and assistance of the Legislative Reference Bureau draft and prepare an income tax bill and offer the same to the House without sponsorship, and that it then be committed to the same committee for further consideration and report (C) That the bill contain a provision that the tax be an emergency one and last only for three years (D) Contain a tax levy of one per cent. on all net incomes (E) Contain an allowance of $25.00 for preparation and filing of income tax report (F) Contain an allowance for discount of ten dollars for prompt payment (G) Eliminate all exemptions (H) Eliminate all manner of excuses for reduction (I) That a Bureau in the Department of Revenue or elsewhere be created to collect the tax (J) That the heads of the Bureau be appointed by the Governor or other authorities (K) That the employes of the Bureau be selected by a proper and practical Civil Service examination (L) That the bill be applicable to all inhabitants of the Commonwealth (M) That the Bill apply to non-residents making their living within the Commonwealth (N) That the tax collected be paid into the General Fund.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, this resolution is too important to be passed without everybody having an opportunity to read, and I ask that it lay over for printing.

The resolution was laid over under the rules.

LEAVE GRANTED FOR COMMITTEE TO SIT DURING SESSION OF HOUSE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission of the House that the Ways and Means Committee be permitted to withdraw and meet to consider a very important measure which I find among Ways and Means Committee bills.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give permission to the Committee on Ways and Means to sit during the session of the House? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and permission is granted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, the meeting of the Ways and Means Committee, just consented to by the House, will be held immediately in Room 324.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section eight of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" as amended by section one of the act approved the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand five hundred ten) entitled "An act to amend section eight of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty) entitled 'An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands prescribing interest charges on non-payment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances' by further regulating the adjournment and readjournment of sales of seated lands for delinquent taxes and authorizing the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners and a judge to adjourn and readjourn such sales for periods not exceeding one year during periods of economic depression" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 8 Such sale shall be made on the first Monday of August in the second year succeeding the year in which the respective taxes are assessed and levied or on any day to which such sale may be adjourned or readjourned from time to time except in the case of taxes levied for any year prior to the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty in which case and for such taxes the sale shall be held in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one or on any day to which such sale is adjourned or readjourned Provided That the advertisement and notice of a sale as required by this act may be given preceding the date of any adourned or readjourned sale in which case no prior advertisement or notice shall be required and in case the sales for different years' taxes be held on the same date the advertisements and notices may be consolidated Provided further That if any such sale be adjourned or readjourned after advertisement and notice by public announcement at such sale [or] adjournment or readjournment no additional advertisements or notice shall be necessary for such adjourned or readjourned sale Provided further That no such adjournment or readjournment shall be for a longer period than thirty days unless the county treasurer with the consent in writing of the county commissioners and the approval of a judge of the court of the county in which the sale is pending shall declare at the time fixed for a sale or any adjournment or readjournments thereof that because of widespread economic and business depression and unusual unemployment incident thereto a sale would be inadvisable in which case any such sale may be adjourned or readjourned at any one time and from time to time for a period not exceeding [one year] two years and six months and in no case beyond the date of the actual holding of the first subsequent sale for any other years' taxes

For each tract of land so disposed of the county treasurer shall be entitled to the following fees which shall be taxed as part of the costs of such proceedings and shall be paid the same as other costs

Advertising each tract including printer's charge the actual cost

Selling each tract or part thereof	.25
Writing and signing each deed	1.50
Acknowledging every deed	.50
Writing and filing every bond to acknowledge the purchase money	.25

The county shall in the first instance be liable for the cost of advertising treasurers' sales and the fees collected for such advertising shall be paid into the county treasury for the use of the county

For receiving and paying over the purchase money or taxes collected by him the county treasurer shall be entitled to a commission of two per centum (2%) thereof such commission to be deducted from the amount to be paid to the taxing district upon any settlement with the taxing district and upon presentation to the taxing district of a transcript of the information required to be compiled by the county treasurer by section eleven hereof

Section 2 Whenever any county treasurer shall have heretofore omitted to advertise the fact of holding any sale and/or shall have omitted to serve written notice thereof as required by the provisions of section seven of the act to which this is an amendment such omission shall not invalidate the return of said sale nor the lien of such taxes and such taxes may nevertheless be collected by sale of the property upon which the tax is due if the adjourned or readjourned sale at which the same is sold is advertised and notice thereof given in accordance with the provisions of said act

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Committee on Appropriations, House Bill No. 230 (Senate Bill No. 72), entitled:

An Act making application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds to which the State is entitled from funds made available for furnishing relief and work relief by Act of Congress of the United States providing for the expenditure of such funds under a system of administration established by the Governor or under the direction and responsibility of the Governor in relieving distress providing for an allocation of the funds so received among the several counties; prescribing the use for which such funds may be expended, and limiting monthly expenditures; conferring powers upon county commissioners and city councils of said cities and making an appropriation

The SPEAKER. The bill is now re-referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

DISCONTINUANCE OF PUBLICATIONS

Mr. SPANGLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer the following resolution and for its immediate consideration which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1932.

Whereas, The Governor and the Legislature are convinced that economy in government is one of the steps necessary to prevent a further increase in taxation and to reduce taxation in the future, and

Whereas, One of the important elements of expense in the State government is the cost of printing which has grown tremendously during the last decade, and

Whereas, The belief prevails that many unnecessary State bulletins are published and that there is useless waste in printing forms, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor is hereby respectfully urged to order departments, boards and commissions of the State government to discontinue the publication of bulletins which can be dispensed with, without harm to the work of the Commonwealth and its people, and to prevent, by Executive order, the continual change of budget, requisition and other forms and papers, and to provide for their simplification in order that the cost of printing may be reduced, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Governor by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 66 FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. TALBOT asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1932.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 66, Printer's No. 49, entitled "An act lapsing all unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations from the general fund made by the General Assembly at its session of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and prior sessions," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 21, 1932. No. 14.

SENATE

THURSDAY, July 21, 1932

The Senate met at 9 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we pray Thee to guide us safely through times of peril and distress. Prevent our country from applying injurious remedies for the curing of its political and economic ills.

Give us wise and sane leadership during these times of storm and stress.

We thank Thee that the foundations of our government were so well laid by the fathers of our nation that they have stood the test of time and have splendidly endured.

May we of the present generation build wisely upon these solid foundations, so that to the end of time our nation may stand intact in the grandeur of its service to humanity. For these mercies we will ascribe to Thee endless praise. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 . . . . HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JULY 25, 1932. No. 15.

SENATE

MONDAY, July 25, 1932

The Senate met at 8 o'clock P. M. (Eastern Standard Time.)

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou Supreme Ruler of the Universe Who dost govern all things, Thou hast instituted laws which control with great precision the physical world. Thou hast likewise ordained laws to govern in the realm of morals and spirit.

We know that none of Thy laws can be violated without incurring disadvantage and suffering. We believe that Thou dost desire recognition on the part of those who frame civil law, and dost demand that such laws should embody the principles set forth in Thy divine revelation.

We ask that this and all other law-making bodies may be guided by Thy counsel in the enactment of civil law. Thus, Thy Name shall be glorified, and the citizens of all lands be blessed.

For these favors we entreat Thee in the Name of Our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SALUS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the seventeenth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and six (P. L. 36), entitled "An act providing a uniform method of electing certain party officers, and delegates to the State and National conventions, and of making nominations for certain public offices; providing for the payment of the expenses of the same; making certain violations thereof misdemeanors, and prescribing penalties for the violation of its provisions," and the act approved the twelfth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 719), entitled "An act regulating certain political parties, providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices, the election of delegates and alternate delegates to National party conventions, and of certain party officers, including State committeemen; a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States; and the payment by the several counties, and their reimbursement by the State, of the expenses of the same; authorizing the State committee of a political party to make, and to alter, amend, and revoke, rules; and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein; and repealing inconsistent legislation."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, the purpose of this bill is to abolish the direct primary. It affects only State-wide candidates, it is fundamentally right. In 1906 Pennsylvania Legislature enacted direct primary law, masqueraded and camouflaged under the name of reform. Time has failed to justify or vindicate its enactment. It has produced candidates who are responsible to no political parties or no political principles. It has produced a government controlled by blocs, frequently radical cliques, instead of a government controlled by political parties or political principles. It has abolished the conservative Senate, it has formed the Senate into a debating society which could well become abolished, in so far as useful for the peoples concerned.

The framers of our Constitution foresaw this danger and created a Senate which would act as a buffer to all impending legislation. The House established by the framers of the Constitution for the discussion and rejection of popular measures.

There has been a mass production of laws since 1906 comparable to mass production of products responsible to the present financial depression. There are 1,900,000 laws on the statute books of the United States. Every year there is introduced in Congress 25,000 impending laws, 19,000 introduced annually in the various legislatures of the United States. It has failed to produce or make a higher type of candidate for office. It has failed to produce economy. My own district primaries was 4,500, Pittsburgh, 200,000 and Philadelphia nearly a half million annually.

With the advent of women in the primaries the convention system would make a most conservative and effectual method of selecting candidates for office and better laws for our people would result.

Mr. PRINCE. Mr. President, I am in thorough accord with the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman. This is an economy measure, but it is much more than that. The direct primary involves two distinct fallacies. One is that you can reform the moral character of politics by mechanical contrivances; and the other is that representative democracy, which is our traditional American type of government, is inferior to direct democracy, which is a modern innovation.

I indict the direct primary for having obtained popular and legislative approval under false pretences. The direct primary promised to abolish machine politics and boss rule. Mr. President, I have no quarrel with these objects of popular scorn and defamation. Ours is a government by political parties and political parties are run on the military system, as all successful organizations of any sort are run. The political machine is nothing more or less than an organization, and a political boss is nothing more or less than a leader; but the sponsors of the direct primary promise to get rid of both.

The American electorate is notorious for indifference to the continuing obligations of the franchise. The reformers argued that this indifference on the part of the "best" people, and by "best" people, Mr. President, they meant themselves, was due to the fact that they were elbowed out of party councils by the corrupt politicians. "Give the virtuous a chance," they said. "Establish the direct primary, and the 'lesser breed, without the law,' will 'fold their tents like the Arabs and silently steal away.'"

Well, the direct primary superseded the convention system, and what happened? Fifteen per cent. of the electorate of this State ordinarily attend a primary election. The other eighty-five per cent. stay at home or go fishing as they always have done. That fifteen per cent. represents not the reform vote, not the independent vote, but the straight organization vote that always turns out.

The organization slates its own candidates, who almost invariably win.

The direct primary has made elections more expensive without making them more virtuous. I do not know which is the worse, Mr. President, the political Pharisee whose hands are too white to soil with the touch of common clay, the man who is so good he cannot go into politics, or the man so bad he has to be kicked out; but I rather think the Pharisee is the worse of the two.

That is the negative side of the picture. That is what the direct primary has not done—eliminated machine politics and boss rule. Now let us see what it has done. It has discouraged from entering politics the very men whom it promised to promote; it has compelled the unsuccessful candidate to throw away his money, and has compelled the successful candidate to go through two campaigns instead of one, and one is hard enough. The busy man cannot afford the time, and the poor man cannot afford the price.

The more extensive the area to be covered the more numerous the voters to be reached, the more prohibitive is the price. Four or five hundred thousand dollars is not an excessive sum of money to spend to nominate a governor or United States Senator in Pennsylvania under the direct primary system. Eight hundred thousand votes, approximately, were cast at the Republican Primary Election in 1928. The estimated cost of one letter mailed to each voter is 10 cents. That makes $80,000, the first throw, for one letter to each registered voter. With three-cent postage of course it would be more. Add to that one follow-up letter, transportation, meals, and other forms of advertising—all strictly legitimate expenses—and then tell me if the direct primary has not made politics a rich man's or a spendthrift's game.

Again, the direct primary has nourished that deadly curse of democracy, the demagogue. It is impossible for a demagogue to manipulate or control a convention or conference which practices selective methods of nomination; but he can sweep, and has swept, an electorate off its feet. There were no dangerous demogagues in the early days of the Republic.

Not all motion is forward motion, Mr. President. The direct primary is close kin to the initiative and the referendum, the recall, the popular election of United States Senators; and they are all moves in the wrong direction. The Fathers of this Republic never ordained a direct democracy. Neither good citizenship nor intelligent partisanship requires that the individual voter shall directly participate in every act of his government; but good citizenship and good partisanship do both require that he shall keep himself informed, maintain his interest, choose his political agents with the same care that he would use in selecting his business employes, and hold them to their duty.

Mr. President, I believe in righteous laws, but have little faith in laws to make men righteous. When men are right, political or mechanical contrivances to insure wise and virtuous action will be superfluous; but until men are right, mechanical contrivances to make them so will be futile. The people of this State and of all States can have irreproachable government whenever they want it badly enough to go after it and stay on the job. Eternal vigilance is not only the price of liberty, it is the price of good government.

Because it has deceived with lying promises, because it is built on a false premise, because it has piled up useless costs on the tax-payer, because it has made worse what was already none too good, I charge that the direct primary is a humbug and a fraud, and I, for one, welcome a showdown on it here and now.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, it seems to me unnecessary to debate the merits of the principle involved in this bill at this time. That principle, the abolishing of the primary election laws and the return to the old convention system, may or may not be good. Certainly the primary election laws have not brought about the ideal conditions which their sponsors had hoped would result. But this is not the time to pass this bill. In the first place, it is not germane to the call of the Governor for this Extraordinary Session. The mere fact that incidentally there may be some saving in expense by the passage of this bill is not sufficient to bring it within the call of the Governor, which relates in no manner to the passage of primary election laws. In 1906, when these primary election laws were first passed, Governor Pennypacker, in his call for the Special Session of the Legislature, particularly referred to the passage of such legislation.

Also this bill is defective. It simply proposes to cut away all the important legislation with respect to the primary laws of the last twenty-six years, and substitute nothing in their place. Surely the members of this Senate will not wish to vote hastily on this question, without taking into consideration the changes which have taken place in these last twenty-six years. I may refer only to one instance: Since 1906 the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States was passed, which provides for the direct election of United States Senators. Now, if we pass this bill, with nothing to take the place of the laws which are cut away, it seems to me, as I understand it, there will be no provision for carrying out the mandate of the Seventeenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.

And if this bill would be germane to the call of the Governor, and if it should be passed at this Special Session, then so important a question should not be taken up and disposed of lightly, without giving the people of this Commonwealth a full chance for hearings in committees and by discussion in the newspapers.

Now, the purpose of the sponsor of this bill was to provoke discussion. He has accomplished that purpose. The members of this Senate, by their votes last week, have showed they are more or less favorable to the idea of repeal of the primary election laws, if a proper bill were introduced at a regular session of the Legislature. So it seems to me the vote this evening should not be on the merits of the question back of this bill, or the principle involved in it, but on the propriety of voting upon it and of passing such legislation at this Special Session; and for these reasons I think the vote should be in the negative.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Warren, Mr. Chapman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask what clause of the Governor's call this comes under, if any.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, it comes under the economy clause.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, what is the number of that clause?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, the call is very wide, so that the legislators can act in most any place and in any way that reduces the taxes to the people.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, there are fourteen points in the Governor's call. Which one does this come under, if any?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, that is not material.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. President, I understood the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, in his remarks, to state that the Senate was for this bill, and that at the Regular Session no doubt such a bill, properly framed, would pass. I would like to ascertain whether the Senator from Somerset himself is for a return to the convention system.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, that question is irrelevant and immaterial, but I may say that perhaps if a bill were properly drawn, and introduced at the next session, I might be for it; but I will reserve my right of action until that time. I wish to see the bill before I express my opinion.

MOTION TO POSTPONE CONSIDERATION OF THE BILL FOR THE PRESENT

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, in view of the fact that the hour has about arrived for the Governor to address the Senate, I move that further consideration of this bill be suspended until the Governor has left the Senate Chamber.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lawrence, Mr. Weingartner, will state his point of order.

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, inasmuch as the Senate has invited the Governor to address it at 8.30, I make the point of order that that is a special order of business for this time, and that this debate must be suspended until after the Governor's address.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is not well taken.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for, seventeen Senators voted in the affirmative and twenty-two in the negative, whereupon the question was decided in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I desire to say just one word on this bill. Every member of this Senate understands fully that this is not within the call; and when they vote upon this bill they know it is a mere gesture. This has no legal standing in this body tonight, and I believe that every member of this body fully understands that. But I believe that there is one great principle involved, and that is, whether the people of this State shall have the right to name the nominee of their party or whether the bosses of the State, in control of the convention, shall have that right.

And the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

GOVERNOR INTRODUCED

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I have the honor to present His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot.

The PRESIDENT. I have the honor of presenting His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot, who will now address the Senate.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES AGAINST HON. W. D. B. AINEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

July 25, 1932

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I present to you for your information the additional charges which I have today preferred against W. D. B. Ainey, Chairman of the Public Service Commission. These charges are as follows:

"Honorable W. D. B. Ainey,
"Chairman, The Public Service Commission,
"Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

"Sir:

"In addition to the charges already pending against you upon which you were heard on Monday, July 11, 1932, I hereby prefer against you the following charges of misconduct in office:

"1. That you have at various times while a member of the Public Service Commission, permitted public service companies or their officers or agents to provide for you services, transportation, and favors of various kinds.

"Among instances of this reprehensible conduct are the following:

"(a) You permitted Mr. A. W. Thompson, then President of the Philadelphia Company—a holding company controlling the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Duquesne Light and Power Company, the Allegheny County Heating Company, and the Equitable Gas Company—to pay your hospital bills to the amount of $3,073.40 when you were a patient at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland, from December 23, 1925, to April 9, 1926.

"(b) You permitted either the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company or Mitten Management, Incorporated, through A. B. Millar, their representative, to pay for your transportation to Europe in the fall of 1927.

"2. That you committed perjury when you declared under oath in paragraph 25 of your answer to my original charges: 'I have never permitted any man directly or indirectly to influence me in my official duties. I have never been and would not be the recipient of any favor, gratiuity, gift, bribe, or otherwise from any person or corporation whatsoever.'

"3 That since you became a Public Service Commissioner in 1914 you have accumulated real and personal property enough, either in your own name or the name of your daughter, or of yourself and daughter, to make you a rich man, and that this property was acquired largely through the use of money which came to you from improper sources.

"In accordance with Article IV, Section 15, of The Public Service Company Law, you will be afforded an opportunity to be publicly heard in person or by counsel in your own defense on Monday, August 8, 1932, at two o'clock, P. M., Eastern Standard Time, in the Governor's Reception Room, in the State Capitol.

(Signed) GIFFORD PINCHOT"

With these new charges I present photostatic copies of certain records of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland, which show that A. W. Thompson, then President of the Philadelphia Company, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, a holding company for Pennsylvania public utilities, paid bills to the amount of three thousand and seventy-three dollars and forty cents ($3,073.40) for hospital treatment to Chairman Ainey, between December 23, 1925, and April 9, 1926.

There have also been presented to the Senate Investigating Committee photostatic copies of the records of the Cunard Steamship Company and its agent in Philadelphia which show that A. B. Millar, at that time in the employ of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and Mitten Management, and now Managing Director of the Pennsylvania Electric Association and the Pennsylvania Gas Association, paid for the passage of W. D. A. Ainey and his attendant on the steamer Berengaria sailing from New York on August 10, 1927, contrary to his sworn statement that he did not. Additional evidence germane to the charges is also transmitted.

I have fixed Monday, August 8, 1932, at two o'clock, P. M., Eastern Standard Time, as the date for a hearing for Chairman Ainey upon the additional charges. It is the first practicable date which can be set under Article IV, Section 15, of The Public Service Company Law.

In cooperation with the Attorney General a committee of your honorable body is now investigating the charges heretofore made against Chairman Ainey. It will doubtless be your desire to refer to that committee for investigation the charges made today.

The original records at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland, conclusively show that A. W. Thompson, then President of the Philadelphia Company, paid bills totalling $3,073.40 for Chairman Ainey's treatment in that hospital from December, 1925, to April, 1926. These records consist of the detailed account of Chairman Ainey and the hospital's complete record of checks deposited to its account. On the Ainey record appears the sentence "Bill to Thompson, A. W., Address 435 Sixth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania." That address was then and is now the address of the Philadelphia Company.

On Mr. Ainey's account appear credits of varying amounts. The hospital's check record shows that these amounts are identical with the amounts of checks drawn by Thompson in payment of Ainey's bill.

The Philadelphia Company is a holding company. It controls the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the Duquesne Light Company, the Equitable Gas Company, and other Pennsylvania utilities. At the time when these payments were made by Mr. Thompson the Equitable Gas Company had before the Public Service Commission a highly important rate case. The complaints of the Allied Boards of Trade of Allegheny County, the City of Pittsburgh, the City of McKeesport, and other complaints were finally dismissed and the citizens of Pittsburgh and vicinity paid the increased rates during the seven years before a decision was reached, and have been paying them ever since.

Evidence already laid before your Investigating Committee conclusively shows that on August 3, 1927, A. B. Millar, the representative of Thomas E. Mitten and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, purchased accommodations for Chairman Ainey and his male attendant on the Steamship Berengaria on which they sailed to Europe on August 10, 1927. This evidence includes a receipt given by the travel agency to Mr. Millar for $1785 covering transportation for himself, his wife, his daughter, Chairman Ainey, and Mr. Murphy, Ainey's attendant. It also includes the deposit slip of the travel agency for $1785 and the charge against Millar's bank account in this identical amount.

The records of the Cunard Steamship Company show that Ainey traveled as one of the Millar party of five. It has also been established that before leaving for Europe Millar, notwithstanding his testimony to the contrary last week, tried to get accommodations for his party of five for the return trip.

Millar testified that the trip lasted ten weeks. The passenger list of the Hamburg-American ship Resolute shows that the same party returned not in ten but in five weeks.

Millar testified that the cost of the trip was $8,000, originally paid by Mitten Management and subsequently refunded to that Company by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company.

Evidence laid before your Committee this evening shows that Mitten Management has no record of such a refund.

I have confidential information that during a period of slightly more than five years Mr. Ainey deposited in certain banks upwards of $185,000, of which less than $3,000 represented salary. The deposit of such a sum on a salary of $10,500 a year requires explanation. Your special Investigating Committee, through its right of subpoena, can and should call upon Chairman Ainey to explain fully these deposits and his other property holdings.

This evidence drags at last into the light an evil system long suspected in Pennsylvania but until now not definitely proved. This system includes the deliberate bribing of public officials as a method of doing business.

Its purpose is extortion and illegal profits. By this system the utilities succeed in charging excessive rates to the people and in securing huge profits for insiders.

We have here the spectacle of the heads of two great corporations, of high standing among the business organizations of the State, paying out money secretly for the expenses of a public official whose decisions were vital to them.

In all the long fight for justice to the people of Pennsylvania from the public utilities since the Public Service Commission was first established, this is the most significant event. It is conclusive evidence that certain relations of the public utilities and the Public Service Commission have not been honest, and that Ainey as Chairman of the Public Service Commission has sold the public out. It is clear proof that the utility rates now in existence in Pennsylvania are in some cases at least the results of bribery and corruption.

The practice of the public utilities to secure the appointment of Public Service Commissioners favorable to them, to prevent the removal of Commissioners favorable to them, and to take over Commissioners who, when appointed, were favorable to the people, has long been suspected. This evidence will change suspicion into certainty, and the public belief that regulation does not regulate will be changed into deep seated conviction, unless prompt punishment follows the disclosure of the offense.

The reason I cannot dismiss Chairman Ainey and ask for the consent of the Senate at once is that the evidence now submitted does not fall technically within the specific charges previously made. Under Article IV, Section 15, of The Public Service Company Law at least ten days notice of a hearing must be given. Otherwise I would at this time ask for your consent to his immediate removal.

In view of the extreme gravity of the offense in this case, and the urgent necessity for restoring confidence in regulation of public ownership of all utilities, I ask that the Senate recess until those charges can be disposed of, even though the Legislature be sooner adjourned.

Unless the Senate complies with this request, it will enable Chairman Ainey, although known to be unfaithful and unfit, to remain in control of the Public Service Commission for half a year longer, and will thus effectually destroy whatever remnants of respect for the Commission, and for regulation under the Commission, may still survive.

A second member of the Public Service Commission, Emerson Collins, is now facing charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty. I have fixed August 1st as the date when he may be heard in his own defense.

Because of the seriousness of the charges against Chairman Ainey and the fact that Commissioner Collins has already received $25,000 salary during thirty months while incapacitated for any work, I shall be obliged to reconvene the Senate if it shall finally adjourn before acting upon my recommendiation upon these charges.

But I have not come before you merely to put in your hands the proof of indefensible, if not criminal, relations between Chairman Ainey and certain public utilities in Pennsylvania, important though that evidence unquestionably is. I have come before you to urge upon you action that will go far to clear up the long disputed and much controverted public utility question in Pennsylvania—action which will be of direct and unquestioned value to every man and woman who pays, directly or indirectly, a public utility rate or charge anywhere in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Heretofore my accusation, often repeated, that the Public Service Commission, under the Chairmanship of W. D. B. Ainey, is the cat's-paw of the public utility corporations has been widely denounced by utility sympathizers as unproved and unjustified. The evidence herewith submitted would seem to show that I spoke no more than the truth.

In addition, I recall to your minds that the year before Chairman Ainey went to Johns Hopkins Hospital in September, 1924, the Public Service Commission, to quote my own statement, "acted with indecent haste in making a temporary fare of 7½-8 cents for the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, and without full and fair consideration for the rights of the people. Their action was so grossly improper that I was compelled to make a vigorous public protest against it. The course pursued by the Commission excited widespread public indignation against that body, not only in Philadelphia but throughout Pennsylvania."

In January, 1926 (the year Chairman Ainey's bills were paid by A. W. Thompson), I quote again, "with the same indecent haste, a bare majority of the seven Commissioners, at seven o'clock on the evening before the meeting of the General Assembly in Extraordinary Session, when important phases of the case had not been fully studied and reported on by the Commission's experts, forced a decision (confirming the temporary fare) in the Philadelphia Rapid Transit fare case.

"In the face of the declaration of two Commissioner that they were not yet ready to act, in the face of the fact that important information in the hands of the Commission had not yet been digested, a bare majority of the Commission steam-rollered the minority and once more rendered hasty judgment on a matter of the most vital consequence to the people of Philadelphia." * * * *

"Such action is not only improper in itself, but it tends to throw into discredit the whole system of regulation of public utilities."

In 1925 I removed Commissioners Benn and Shelby because they were unfaithful public servants and unduly favorable to the public utilities. In an opinion which was read with amazement by the bar of Pennsylvania, the Supreme Court restored them to office. The present situation supplies a perfect opportunity to ascertain whether or not I was right.

You have known since May, 1931, of the findings of the House Committee on Investigation of the Public Service Commission and Public Utility Companies to the effect that in 1930 the excess earnings of the electric public utilities were $31,864,414 above a fair rate of return, and that Pennsylvania investors were sold electric securities which contained $113,327,521 of pure water. You have also known of the evidence that similarly huge excess earnings had been taken by the utilities, without serious objection or dissent from the Commission, for several years prior to 1930.

The same inquiry produced evidence of excess earnings in the natural gas industry of $6,843,856. You have known for over a year also of evidence that Pennsylvania investors were sold water company securities whose values were weakened by an inexcusable inflation of $30,421,865 for good will, and of evidence of a similar inflation of $18,216,806 in the natural gas industry.

Together with the water in electric securities, a total of almost $162,000,000 was, in a few years, pumped into untilty securities with the assent of the Commission. Pennsylvania investors in these securities have since suffered terrific punishment as a result of the attitude of the Commission on this matter. It has been costly indeed to both consumers and investors in Pennsylvania.

Suspicion that all is not right with the Commission is not new. You have had before you since April, 1931, the conclusion of the Chairman of the Senate Committee on Utilities, made after the first evidence as to the neglect of its duty by the Commission had been given. He said: "The removal of the present Commissioners * * * * will renew public confidence in utility regulation * * * *."

This is no small matter, for the utilities in this Commonwealth which fall under the jurisdiction of the Commission annually take from the people, justly and unjustly, a total of more than half a billion dollars.

Because of the evidence discovered in the case of Chairman Ainey, members of the Public Service Commission are under suspicion. If they are innocent, as they are presumed to be, you owe it to them to clear their names. If they are guilty, you owe it to the people to discover and punish their guilt.

No member of the Commission whose hands are clean can be otherwise than anxious to have that cleanness shown. If, on the other hand, any of them are guilty, their objections to an investigation, and the objections of their friends, can have no weight.

I recommend that the Senate investigation, which now includes only the relations of Chairman Ainey to certain public utilities, be broadened to cover the relations between Pennsylvania utilities and the Public Service Commission, and the relations of these utilities with every man who was a member of the Public Service Commission, at or about the time covered by the charges against Ainey, and until this day.

I recommend that the present Investigation Committee, or such other agency as the Senate may choose to create, be directed to continue investigations in cooperation with the Attorney General, that it be authorized to sit during the recess of the Senate, and that it be instructed to subpoena and examine the accounts, bank deposits, and other financial records, of all who were members of the Commission at the time of the transactions involved in this case, and for a reasonable number of years before and after.

The evidence already at hand is abundant to justifiy the dismissal of Chairman Ainey. On no conceivable theory can the payment of the expenses of a Public Service Commissioner, and especially the Chairman of the Public Service Commission, by the officers of public utilities, be justified. But it is important to know whether Chairman Ainey also was given and accepted money or other valuable considerations from other public utilities, and if so, from which utilities. It is far less significant to uncover the reprehensible conduct of an individual, and to punish him for it, than it is to ascertain whether that conduct was or was not part of a system.

It is at least as necessary to discover what other public utilities, if there are any others, have been guilty of bribery as it is to learn what members of the Public Service Commission, if there are any others, have accepted bribes.

The guilt of Chairman Ainey is of great consequence, but it sinks almost to insignificance in comparison with the question it raises whether the bribery in this case is part of a system through which the public utilities of this State have obtained favors to which they had no right. If it is because of such a system that they have been able to extort some hundreds of millions, if not a billion or two, of dollars over and above a fair return from the people of this Commonwealth, that fact ought to be known.

Since there is no one in Pennsylvania who is not deeply interested in and directly affected by the answer to this question, the people are certainly entitled to know the facts.

Those who, because of their own interests, have persistently blocked the cleaning up of the public utility situation in this State may now cry that Chairman Ainey's case is an exception to the rule—that one man proved unfaithful does not indict the rest. What I ask is only that such statements be proved true or false.

One thing is already clear. It is that the regular practices of certain of the utility companies have been such as to raise the question whether they are in fact utilities for the service of the public or conspiracies for unfair private profit. Only investigation can disclose how many of the State's so-called public utilities are guilty of the same practices and tarred with the same stick.

This case is given increased significance and importance by the fact that Chairman Ainey is the most prominent and widely known Public Service Commissioner in America. He has been a member of the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania since May 20, 1915, and its Chairman since August 20, 1915. He was Vice-President of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners in 1924 and President in 1925, and has held office longer than any other Public Service Commissioner in the United States. He was one of three permanently elected delegates from the United States to the conference of the Inter-parliamentary Union in Paris, France, August 25-30, 1927. It was for the purpose of attending this conference that he crossed the ocean, as already noted.

We may have pity for the offender who at the end of a life of good repute is discovered not to have deserved it. I have no desire to insist unduly upon the heinousness of his offense. What interests me in this matter, and what will chiefly interest the people of Pennsylvania, is that the facts already made known open the road to a settlement in the public interest of the public utility problem in Pennsylvania, and if in Pennsylvania, then ultimately in the whole United States.

Before the evidence herewith transmitted was known, the investigation of the Federal Trade Commission has shown that public utilities were in the habit of propagandizing in public schools "from the eighth grade up," that they acquired newspapers, subsidized teachers and lecturers, dictated the tone and contents of school books, augmented the incomes of school officials, established professorships in universities, contributed to women's clubs, and even undertook to control the preaching of ministers of religion. Bribery, however, is a step beyond all of these.

Bribery of a Judge on the bench is universally and rightly regarded as one of the most despicable of crimes. In most cases of bribery, however, while the principles of justice are outraged, the number of persons who suffer injustice is extremely small. But in such a case as this justice is denied to the whole people. There is no one of any occupation, in any station in life, of either sex or any age, but is daily and powerfully affected in comfort, safety, and welfare by justice or injustice from public utilities. Therefore such a case as this is far worse than the bribery of a Judge.

I am deeply aware of the national importance of this evidence. The people of the United States have chosen the method of regulation of public utilities as against public ownership. But regulation cannot survive unless it can hold the confidence of the people. Nothing could more effectively destroy such confidence than the knowledge of practices like those which are now disclosed.

No public utility question of equal importance to this has ever arisen in any State since regulation became a public policy. Few matters of equal importance to the people of the State have ever come before the Senate of Pennsylvania. I believe I am well within the fact when I say that the people will expect the Senate to take full advantage of this opportunity to act for the protection of the people and in behalf of the millions who must pay the bills.

CHARGES REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I move that the charges against the Chairman of the Public Service Commission be referred to the Ainey Investigating Committee now operating under the resolution passed by this body.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 90 (House Bill No. 1), on first reading, entitled:

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 95 (House Bill No. 76), as follows:

An Act to amend Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-five A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in Dixmont Hospital at Dixmont Allegheny County"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-five A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in Dixmont Hospital Allegheny County" is hereby amended to read as follows That the sum of [three hundred forty-six thousand five hundred dollars ($346,500)] three hundred ten thousand dollars ($310,000) or as much thereof as may be necesary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare for and during the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane at Dixmont Hopital Dixmont Allegheny County at a rate not exceeding three dollars ($3) per week for the care treatment and maintenance of each indigent patient in the hospital.

No warrant shall be drawn or settlement made until the directors or managers of the hospital shall have made on oath or affirmation to the Department of Welfare a monthly or quarterly report as may be required by the Department of Welfare setting forth the actual total number of weeks of service rendered to indigent patients in said hospital during the period for which the report is made nor until the Secretary of Welfare shall have certified to the Auditor General that the monthly or quarterly report of the cost of such care and treatment contains no charge except for "care treatment removal and maintenance" which words as used in this act shall be construed to mean medical and surgical treatment and nursing food and clothing

This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 96 (House Bill No. 129), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend and further amend certain appropriation items contained in section two of the act, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, (Act number fifteen A), entitled, "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt, and the support of the public schools, for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one; and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one," as the same were approved.

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I note that this is a rather important bill. It is now on third reading after having been in the Committee on Appropriations on at least one or two occasions and I would like to ask the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee when the committee met.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Centre, Mr. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I will. We have had several meetings with representatives of the departments and discussed the bill in detail.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask how many of the committee met and when was notice given to the members of the committee that there would be a meeting of the committee?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, there was notice given to the sub-committee appointed.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, was that sub-committee appointed by virtue of any authority given the Chairman by the Committee on Appropriations?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I think I had that authority.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, may I ask the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, if this bill is recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations will the other members of this committee have opportunity to function?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, if they care to have that privilege, yes.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SORDINI. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate: Representing more than two hundred thousand people in my senatorial district I wish to voice the objection of a great many of them to the provision of Senate Bill No. 96 (House Bill No. 129) which cuts millions of dollars from the appropriations to the different agencies, departments and organizations of our government.

I am opposed to any reductions that will in any way conflict with welfare work because I feel that if there was ever a time in the history of Pennsylvania when our citizens were entitled to charitable work in our hospitals, sanitoriums, etc., it is now, and I feel that we, as legislators, should not in any way try to hamper the work that these institutions have been doing in the past and will be called upon to do in the future.

There is much unemployment, and where unemployment exists compensation has been greatly reduced. This condition leads to undernourishment, as well as weary and mental unrest, and at no time should a community be more prone than under these conditions to ease the spread of disease and sickness. The reason of limited purchasing power on the part of patients means the hospitals are finding in avoiding large deficits, therefore, now of all times, with the need more severe, instead of cutting appropriations of asylums, sanitoriums and other institutions, it would be logical to increase them.

As an illustration, take the Mont Alto Sanitorium: the reduction proposed for this institution's budget may be met in only one way, by closing at least one-third of the institution, which would mean approximately three hundred and twenty beds for adults, or closing the children's hospital, representing approximately the same number of beds. On the first of July of this year, the waiting list was two hundred forty-six adults and three hundred and seventy-five children, a total of six hundred and twenty-two sick people in urgent need of sanitorium treatment. And now they contemplate making a reduction of the appropriation to this institution which would eliminate all of these six hundred and twenty-two and compel them to discharge thirty per cent. of those they are now taking care of.

The Anthracite Forest Protective Association would practically have to go out of existence, if this bill were passed in its present form. This organization, organized non-profit, to look after timberlands of the State, cooperating with the State Department of Forests and Waters in the protection of Forests from fires. It has been functioning in the anthracite region for the past fifteen years, and has done much work in preventing the bad fires that formerly existed in this territory. Yet the very existence of this association is threatened by this bill as approximately half their income is derived from the Department of Forests and Waters.

In the Department of Labor and Industry, I am sure you will be interested to know that a cut of $400,000 in their appropriation will seriously effect the Bureau of Compensation, the Bureau of Inspection, and the Bureau of Rehabilitation. The Department of Labor and Industry is today the direct result of the intelligent effort of manufacturers and labor leaders cooperating during the past forty years to build this Department to represent both labor and industry in formulating laws and regulations for the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania. In the Inspection Department a real service is rendered in industrial communities showing how to protect the lives and limbs of industrial workers which in turn to say nothing of the humanitarian side of the work, greatly reduces the insurances rates, because, naturally, the less accidents the employer has in his factory, the less he is compelled to pay for insurance which in turn increases his profit so that he can expand his factory and put more people to work. Compensation laws are essential to the welfare of an industrial community, as it places the burden for caring for the injured worker on the employer or business where it rightly belongs, thus relieving the Poor Board, welfare organizations, or other charitable agency who otherwise would have to care for these dependents. And I feel that this is no time for any community to assume additional relief work.

The Rehibilitation Bureau has been very successful in its services since it was organized in 1920. It has offered service to over 15,000 disabled persons, of this number more than 5,000 have been returned to remunerative employment. If the State of Pennsylvania were obliged to maintain all these physically handicapped in State institutions, it would cost approximately between $1,500,000 and $2,500,000 per year. On the other hand, through rehabilitation the reclaimed individual with an average annual income of $1,200 earns approximately $6,000,000. From the economic side alone this would appear bad business to cut the appropriation that would interfere with this humanitarian work. Furthermore, every dollar withdrawn from the Bureau of Rehabilitation the people of the State will lose $2.00 due to the fact that the Federal Government matches dollar for dollar, the expenditure for rehabilitation purposes.

In the Department of Agriculture where substantial appropriation reductions are contemplated, let us consider only the work that this Department is doing in reference to tubercular cattle, which farmers are compelled to kill for the benefit of the health of the State. Now mind you it is not the Department of Agriculture that is urging this work. It is the Health Boards of our cities and towns and townships that are becoming more and more insistent that the milk supply which they have a right to control shall be free from the disease of tuberculosis. There are, I understand, approximately two thousand herds now signed up for the applications for the test, and I understand there has been a few farmers this year who have been compelled to choose killing their herds at their own expense or losing their milk markets because of the fact that there are so many herds in waiting and these new herds were so far down the list that it would take more than two years to reach them. And in the meantime the health authorities would not permit delivery of milk until such time as the Department of Agriculture could reach these farmers' herds of cattle. And therefore, these farmers at their own expense killed their cattle because they would rather take the loss of the cattle than the loss of their milk market, which if taken in these days would be very difficult to restore. These agreements are definitely entered into between the Department of Agriculture and the farmer of the State and we have no right to ask the Department to ignore them. While it is true that this State law can be repealed, and while these farmers have not as yet all signed up for the destruction of their cattle, the general feeling has been that the State was going to pay these indemnities so that it is practically the same as a contract. As you know, a contract between individuals is supposed to be sacred, so of course a contract between the State and the farmer can be nothing less. In reference to the teachers Retirement Fund, I understand it is proposed to make a three-year moratorium on the payment that the State is supposed to make on the Teachers' Retirement Fund, and that future Legislatures are supposed to take care of paying back to the teachers the money we propose to hold, in addition to what those Legislatures will have to pay as their just share of that fund session to session.

Just what influence this would have upon the teachers that are now retiring, is a technical and financial problem that I do not believe we as Senators with the meager information we have had up to this time, definitely understand, and certainly before we are asked to pass upon anything that would take away any part of a Retirement Fund which a teacher has built up partly at his or her expense, and in conjunction with the promise made to them in years gone by, should be entered into only after careful consideration and that, I do not feel we have given to this problem.

We are assembled here, fifty men, Senators elected by and supposed to be representing approximately ten million people in the State of Pennsylvania. This bill comes before the Senate tonight and to the best of my knowledge and belief it never appeared before the Appropriation Committee for a hearing. I consider the Chairman of this Committee one of the able men of this Senate, but I do not ask him to accept the responsibility that has been placed upon my shoulders by the people in my Senatorial district. I am perfectly capable of drawing conclusions of my own when presented with facts. No facts in connection with these appropriation cuts have been presented to me, and I strenuously object, not only to the cuts in the appropriation, but the manner in which the slashes have been made. Please do not misunderstand me, gentlemen there is no feeling of rancor in my objection to this bill, nor the method used in presenting it to the Senate. However, I do emphatically object to the bill and to the manner in which it is presented, and I feel before we can vote on this important measure it should be recommitted for a public hearing at which time the facts from both the opponents and the proponents of the bill could be heard, and an intelligent verdict be rendered by the Members of the Senate in voting for or against the bill.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, it does appear to me that our friend, the Senator from Luzerne, is going a little bit fast. Let me say to him and to all of you, that only this afternoon an agreement was reached with Dr. Rule and representatives of all the teachers, upon a method of procedure which has their approval and which they will recommend to the Governor, for his approval. That is the very reason why this bill was recommitted tonight, in order that those things which have been satisfactorily ironed out may be incorporated in the bill.

Mr. SORDINI. Mr .President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I am awfully glad for this information. I am only one member of this Senate. I am not looking for any favors one way or the other. I represent approximately two hundred thousand people and I expected to be called in on a measure as important as this. Possibly if I would know all the angles of this bill I might vote in favor of it, but I know nothing about it one way or the other, and that is why I am voicing the objections to the manner in which it has been presented.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 97, (House Bill No. 79), as follows:

An Act to amend Section three of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand two hundred three) entitled "An act providing aid by the Commonwealth to free public non-sectarian county libraries authorizing the Department of Public Instruction to provide books for demonstration purposes to encourage the establishment of such county libraries and making an appropriation"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Section three of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand two hundred three) entitled "An act providing aid by the Commonwealth to free public non-sectarian county libraries authorizing the Department of Public Instruction to provide books for demonstration purposes to encourage the establishment of such county libraries and making an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows That the sum of [twenty thousand dollars ($20,000)] seventeen thousand dollars ($17,000) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one for the purpose of paying the maintenance aid to county libraries and for the purchase and transporation of books as provided in this act

This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Chairmain of the Appropriation Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Centre, Mr. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I notice a number of bills on the calendar, most of them are House Bills reducing appropriations. I would like to ask the Senator from Centre, Mr. Scott, whether the passage of these bills should not be deferred until the Steedle bill, House Bill 129, is disposed of,—whether these other bills are not dependent upon that bill for money with which to take care of them?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, not at all.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, then these bills on the calendar have nothing to do with the Steedle bill?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, no.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 104, (House Bill No. 102), as follows:

An Act to amend Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-six A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Act number thirty-six A Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred thirty-one) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals" is hereby amended to read as follows That the sum of [two million six hundred forty-seven thousand six hundred twenty-two dollars ($2,647,622)] two million three hundred ninety-seven thousand six hundred twenty-two dollars ($2,397,622) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Welfare to pay for the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals for and during the two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one and to pay for the deficiency in the care treatment removal and maintenance of the indigent insane prior to June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine

No warrant shall be drawn on this appropriation until the directors trustees or managers of such hospitals shall have made on oath or affirmation to the Department of Welfare a monthly or quarterly report as may be required by Secretary of Welfare setting forth the actual total number of weeks of service rendered to indigent insane patients in such hospitals respectively during the period for which the report is made nor until the Secretary of Welfare shall have certified to the Auditor General that the monthly or quarterly report of the cost of such care and treatment contains no charge except for "care treatment removal and maintenance" which words as used in this act shall be construed to mean medical and surgical treatment nursing food and clothing

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Centre, Mr. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, this bill makes an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the care, treatment, removal and maintenance of the indigent insane in county and poor district hospitals. As I read it, it is a cut of $250,000.00. Mr. President, I would like to inquire whether, if this act is passed, there will be sufficient money in the hands of the Department to properly take care of the indigent insane of the State for the rest of the biennium.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, this bill has been taken up with the Secretary of the Department of Welfare and has her full approval.

A Supplement to Act Number sixty-two-A approved the twenty-sixth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (one thousand nine hundred thirty-one Appropriation Acts page one hundred six) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, this bill and certain of the other bills following are intended to restore appropriations said to have been abated through the passage at the last Special Session of the Legislature of the bill known as the "Talbot Bill." I have deemed it advisable to vote for this bill because I do not wish it said that I am unwilling to give the hospitals and the other institutions the money they seem to be so sadly in need of at this time. Possibly I am not informed as to the situation but I do not understand the logic which makes it necessary to pass these bills at this time. The budget secretary says that before the end of May, 1933, there will not be sufficient money available to pay the appropriations made by the session of 1931 and by the Talbot Bill. Perhaps the secretary is right. But so many mathematicians have added the revenues received and expected and substracted the expenditures made and proposed, and the results have been so startlingly different, that who can tell with accuracy what are the correct figures? If the budget secretary is right, then eventually appropriations made at the Regular Session of 1931 must fail for want of funds, or the Legislature in the next Regular Session which meets five months before the end of this biennium will have to make a deficiency appropriation. But suppose, despite the estimate of the budget secretary, there will be sufficient funds to meet the appropriations, such as by the economies the Governor says he is now putting into effect, or possibly by increases in revenues over those expected. Must the hospitals and other institutions suffer simply because the budget secretary has made a mistake? Wouldn't it be more reasonable and would it not be more logical to keep on paying the money until the fund actually fails, trusting that other revenues will be received or that there will be a lapse of certain appropriations or economies will be enforced, or deficiency appropriations later, there will be enough to pay all the appropriations made?

If the Governor should veto these bills passed tonight and those proposed to be passed later, cutting some of the appropriations made at the Regular Session, then the passage of these bills now before us will be worse than useless.

I would not take this time to speak on these bills were it not for the fact that I think an important principle is involved. If the budget secretary may by his estimate of the funds to be received, whether right or wrong, cut the appropriations, then his will becomes paramount to that of the Legislature. It seems he was never intended to have such power under the law; and I, therefore, desire to state in voting for these bills, (and I think I am expressing the view of the majority of the members of the Senate), I am not assenting to the views that there has legally been any abatement in the appropriations made at the Regular Session of the Legislature, (through the passage of the Talbot Bill), merely because of the estimate of the budget secretary or which we can adjust by the enactment into law of these bills now before us.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER SENATE BILL No. 133 (HOUSE BILL No. 157)

An Act to amend section five hundred and one of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for refunds," by requiring extra fees for the assignment of special registration plates.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 133 (House Bill No. 157), entitled:

passed finally.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I voted aye.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I voted aye.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I can see no reason why this bill should go over. It passed the House on third reading, I ask the members to vote against the motion of the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I simply want an opportunity to examine this bill. I do not know what committee it went to. If it went to the Roads Committee, I do not know—I think it is the Roads Committee, I noticed it on the Calendar, and I simply ask that it go over in order that I may have an opportunity to examine the bill.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I would like to know what the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, wants to know about this bill?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I have not looked at it. I insist upon my motion.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, the people in this State are generally opposed to taxation. This bill provides an additional license fee for special tags, and people will be more willing to pay for these tags. At the present time these license tags are handed out to a few, a chosen few; and this would be a source of revenue for the State. It will be a source of revenue which the people will be glad to pay. It is a very short amendment. I can see no reason to put it over, and I ask the members of the Senate to defeat the motion before us.

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Delware, Mr. McClure.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. McClure, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, I would like to know the probable amount of additional revenue which will be raised if this bill becomes a law.

Mr. McCLURE. Mr. President, it is estimated at two hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, in order to make my position clear in this matter, the bill may be all right, but the bill slipped by me. I simply ask the courtesy that it may go over until tomorrow, and that I may have a chance to make a study of it. I insist on my motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for, ten Senators voted in the affirmative, and twenty-nine Senators voted in the negative; whereupon the motion was decided in the negative.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 166 (House Bill No. 38), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two hundred two, seven hundred two, seven hundred seven, paragraph (d) of section eight hundred one, and section eight hundred four of an act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred forty-three), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person association and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," as amended, by providing for the settlement and collection of a franchise tax on foreign corporations; requiring such corporations to file reports; and providing a penalty for failure to do so.

be recommitted to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. CLIPPINGER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COYNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 168 (House Bill No. 214), on third reading, entitled:

An Act empowering cities of the first and second classes and counties of the second class to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 169 (House Bill No. 37), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section twenty-one of an act approved the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by substituting a franchise tax on foreign corporations in lieu of the capital stock tax on such corporations be recommitted to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 171 (House Bill No. 202), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred ninety-nine) entitled "An act requiring retail dealers in liquid fuels to state the rate of the liquid fuels tax separately from the price of such liquid fuels on liquid fuel price display signs and imposing a penalty" requiring dealers to state on price display signs the tax per gallon separately from the price of the liquid fuels per gallon and authorizing the Department of Revenue to make regulations

COMMUNICATION PROTESTING AGAINST REDUCTION IN THE APPROPRIATION TO THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I present communication from various organizations of Philadelphia, protesting against the reduction in the appropriation to the Department of Labor and Industry, which I ask to be printed in the Legislative Journal.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection. The communication will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

July 23, 1932.

Dear Senator:

The undersigned, after investigation, are convinced that a 42 per cent. reduction in the Labor Department's service to the State as contemplated by House Bill 129 as amended, will be disastrous.

It will penalize the law-abiding employer by unfair competition resulting from the impaired enforcement of labor laws; it will endanger the public by insufficient inspection of boilers and elevators, and crippled enforcement of sanitary regulations in the manufacture of goods.

It will delay the adjustment of compensation claims when there are more such claims than ever before. The injured worker, waiting for adjustment of his claim falls back on the hospital already overburdened.

Similar effects will follow in the rehabilitation service, the free employment offices, the protection of thousands of women and children in factories and in home work; and so on through all branches of this Department, greatly undermanned even in ordinary times. The depresssion has added greatly to the demands for service.

We agree that economies should be effected in all branches of government. Employes of the Department of Labor can be counted upon to share cheerfully the same salary cuts allotted to other servants of the State. But it seems to us that the drastic curtailments entailed by this bill will defeat their purpose and create an added relief burden greater than any savings will offset.

We believe that other sources of revenue for unemployment relief in this State are imperative. In view of the fact that Federal funds will be loaned only to States that have exhausted their own resources for relief, we apprehend that the method of taking money from essential public services, rather than utilizing available sources of revenue, will tend to defeat Pennsylvania's plea for Federal aid.

Yours very truly,

Franklin N. Brewer, Public Education and Child Labor Association;
Jacob Billikopf, Federation of Jewish Charities;
Harvey Dee Brown, Philadelphia Health Council;
Henry Tatnall Brown, President, Brown and Bailey Company;

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 148, entitled:

An Act amending section seven of an act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one providing for the levy collection and disbursement of taxes and water-rents or rates and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer the board of water assessors and the collector of delinquent taxes and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for" as amended by permitting the delinquent tax collector to receive delinquent taxes water-rents or rates in installments

House Bill No. 48, entitled

An Act to repeal article twenty-one of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws. general special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith."

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator state his point of personal privilege?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to say a word or two on Senate Bill No. 96, which has been referred back to the committee. I am making this statement to the members of the Senate in order that I may personally put myself on record. This legislative session was called for the purpose of taking care of the relief situation in Pennsylvania. I do not talk for my district, because the members of the Senate from Philadelphia all seem to think that they represent Philadelphia. Every Senator from Philadelphia is justified in believing that he represents my district; and I take it upon myself that I am justified in representing their districts insofar as the needs of Philadelphia are concerned. I am not going to find fault with anybody, nor am I going to enter any complaint when this bill comes from the committee, in whatever form it comes. I propose to vote for it. But I would like to know, what the people in Philadelphia would like to know, and what the people representing the districts where the majority of the people live would like to know, and that is where are we going to get any relief in the fourteen points that have been agreed upon. Nobody in Philadelphia or anywhere else is authorized to agree for me. I use my own judgment, and up until this time no one has asked me whether or not I agree on the fourteen points; and I have tried to study since this Legislature has been in session wherein the people of Philadelphia, those who are looking for help in any manner, shape or form, are going to be assisted. I have been told that this session of the Legislature was called for the benefit of the unemployed, and particularly for those districts that are thickly populated, and that those districts are to be benefited. What I can see from the present situation is that those benefits are going to be assessed, and that the City of Philadelphia, the County of Allegheny, Lackawanna County, and all the coal districts where there is need, where there is a desire for help, are going to be in the same position when this Legislature adjourns as they were before. To my mind these fourteen points are dairy-maid points, in which the small communities, the farming districts, are going to get the milk and the butter, and we in the thickly populated districts are going to receive skim milk and cottage cheese, or whatever is left over. There is not, to my mind, a single part in the programme that is laid down for the City of Philadelphia to receive one single benefit; and this is the programme that is before this session at this time. I know that I have never been consulted, and my belief is that none of the Senators have been consulted, or a single member of the Legislature, so far as I know, has been consulted—and who has a better right to be consulted, a better right to say what Philadelphia should get, than the members of the House and the members of this Senate? And I am making this comment for no other reason than that those who made this programme and assume it as a right should wake up and find out where they are, in order not to go home and be disgraced.

I am not in favor of this programme, and propose to take care of myself; and for that reason I propose to place myself on record so that when the session is over no one can point a finger to me and say I stood in this Senate and acted the part of either a nave or an idiot. I do not believe any man from Philadelphia has any thought in his mind except to do the right thing and help the cause; and I think it is high time we ougt to know it, and something should be done wherein and whereby those unemployed in Philadelphia get some relief. This programme will give them absolutely nothing, and I am asking my fellow members of the Legislature and the Senators here to wake up before it is too late.

INVITATION TO VISIT THE PENNSYLVANIA MILITARY RESERVATION

The PRESIDENT. The Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, together with the commanding general of the Pennsylvania troops, invite the members of the Senate to visit the military reservation at and near Mr. Gretna on next Wednesday afternoon, July twenty-seventh. They will be glad to have you go down there at such hour as you deem wise and convenient,—as early in the afternoon as can be arranged for,—to see the reservation and review the troops now on duty there, and to accept the hospitality of the officers at dinner that evening at division headquarters or such other place for which arrangements can be made. The same invitation goes to the House of Representatives tonight.

Most of the Senators, excepting those of the Military Committee, have not had an opportunity of seeing just what that reservation is, what the lack of possibilities are, and what the troops are doing. On behalf of the two officers named, the invitation is extended. We would like to know how many can go on next Wednesday afternoon, preferably about one-thirty o'clock, Eastern Standard Time. Transportation will be arranged to and from the reservation.

RECESS

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

House Bill No. 80 (Senate Bill No. 177), entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one, article eighteen, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 62

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 62, entitled:

An Act to repeal article twenty-one of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," thereby abolishing teachers' institutes.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at 11 oclock.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11.07 P. M. until Tuesday morning, July 26th, at 11 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time).

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, July 25, 1932.

The House met at 8.00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, we seek to approach into Thy presence in and through the Name that is above all names. We offer unto Thee our earnest prayer that Thou wilt keep this fair land we love so much, in Thy care and Thy protection. Incline the hearts of all our citizens to keep Thy laws and to follow humbly in Thy precepts. Dispose all our hearts to deal justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly before our God.

Make plain to us this evening hour the great truth that 'man doth not live by bread alone.' May the constant heart-hunger for those things that are of greater value than food and raiment not die out in us nor in the hearts of our fellow men. Rather, incline us to trust in Thee more complete with each passing day. Grant unto us our supplication we pray, in the Master's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, July 20, 1932.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, July 20, 1932, when, on motion of Mrs. Pennock the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. MUMFORD asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Wheeler for the balance of the week.

Mr. RICE asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. George L. Reed for the balance of the week.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on July 13, when the moratorium on the school teachers retirement fund was voted upon I voted in the negative and I have not been so recorded, and I wish to have a correction made.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Judiciary General, re-reported as amended, House Bill No. 210 (Senate Bill No. 73), entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280), entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands, and prescribing interest charges on non-payment thereof; requiring the receivers and collectors of county, city, borough, town, township, school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes, and providing for the lien thereof; authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes, and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid; and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances," by further regulating the adjournment and readjournment of sales of seated lands for delinquent taxes, and authorizing the county treasurer, with the consent of the such sales during periods of economic depressions; providing county commissioners and a judge, to adjourn and readjourn for advertisement and notice preceding any adjournment or re-adjournment, and dispensing with prior advertisement and notice in such cases, providing for the consolidation of the advertisements and notices of different year's taxes held on the same date, and validating adjourned sales where the original sale has not been advertised or notice thereof given.

RESOLUTION

APPOINTMENT OF JOINT COMMITTEE TO SUGGEST WAYS AND MEANS ON UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

Mr. TURNER offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, July 25, 1932.

Whereas, The Legislature has twice been called into Special Session for the purpose of providing unemployment relief and the remedies provided have been only temporary and applied without a real knowledge of the facts or the studies necessary to provide effective remedies; and

Whereas, A continuation of the depression will bring before the regular session of 1933 major problems which should be solved by appropriate remedies; and

Whereas, The General Assembly should be conversant with the full facts relating to unemployment in the various communities and with the proper means of affording relief and stimulating industry and business so that employment may be provided; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint four persons, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint five persons, who, together shall constitute a joint committee whose duty it shall be to suggest ways and means: (a) to coordinate to the fullest extent possible the work of public and private agencies engaged in the distribution of relief, and to eliminate overlapping relief work; (b) to enlist the people of the Commonwealth in the spirit of helping themselves and to provide for the welfare of those who are unemployed; (c) to find and create public and private work for those who are unemployed; (d) to sustain the morale of the unemployed people and infuse them with the spirit displayed during the later war; (e) to foster the spirit of generous giving so that private charity may not break down; (f) to investigate the different methods by which relief has been afforded by the various communities; and (g) to call conferences of leaders of business and industry for the practical application of ways and means to stimulate industry and business in order that the burden of unemployment may be lifted from Government and be assumed by industry and business;

Resolved, That said committee shall make a report to the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three, not later than February first, including such drafts of legislation as may be deemed necessary to carry into effect the recommendations of the committee.

RESOLUTION

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE TO INVITE GOVERNOR, HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS AND SENATE

Mr. BEYER offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 25, 1932.

Whereas, It appears after four weeks of legislative sessions, that this Assembly has thus far failed to introduce or enact legislation in relief of those unemployed in this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, Such continued unemployment and the failure of this Assembly to provide reasonable relief, threatens in the end untold suffering and disrepect for all existing agencies of Government, and

Whereas, It is impossible for any government to provide relief or appropriate funds sufficient to aid in restoring industrial activity without the co-operation of the good people of the Commonwealth, and by the imposition of reasonable taxes to provide funds for such purpose, and

Whereas, It is further apparent to the members of this House, that such funds, and the appropriation of the same for mere food and temporary shelter will accomplish nothing, and only postpone the restoration of industrial activity so much needed at this time to preserve the domestic tranquility of this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, By reference to the Governor's proclamation calling into Special and Exordinary Sessions this Assembly, it appears that the effort is again made to restrict the Assembly in its labors to certain stipulations well enough in their purposes, but totally inadequate to provide immediate relief, or to encourage the introduction of measures to provide employment for the many now unemployed, or to provide reasonable suspension of legal process which threatens the homes of our best peoples, now unable to meet existing and recurring obligations, and

Whereas, We are all agreed that measures intended to provide such relief are of more importance than those submitted to us by the Governor, and that this Assembly will have been called for no useful purpose unless such appropriate relief can be provided, therefore be it

Resolved, That the attention of the Governor should be called to these manifest omissions, and that an honorable effort should be made by this Assembly and the Governor in an open session to confer, discuss, and if possible, agree upon a more comprehensive plan of relief to restore industry, supply employment, and raise moneys in aid of such purpose,

Resolved, That the House of Representatives resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole to meet as such on Wednesday evening, July 27th, 1932, at 9 o'clock, Standard Time, and that His Excellency, the Governor, and the heads of the several departments of the State Government be invited to be present at such meeting of the House resolved into a Committee of the Whole, and that the Members of this House and the chairmen of the several committees thereof be urged to submit such plan or plans which in their judgment may appear appropriate, and that full freedom be accorded both the Members and the Governor to inquire into such matters and things pertinent to such meeting, and

Resolved, That the Senate be invited to attend such conferences, and participate in any such deliberations, and that none but Members of the Assembly, the Governor, department heads and legislative officers and employes be permitted inside the rail of this House, and that the sergeant-at-arms be directed to strictly enforce this order.

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

In drawing up this resolution and having some regard for a reasonable time in which to operate, it was agreed to put in Wednesday at nine o'clock standard time. Inasmuch as the resolution invites the members of the Senate to be present at such an open hearing, and the Senate having been invited to attend an important function at that hour, on Wednesday, and so will not be able to be here, if it meets with the approval of the House I would like to amend the resolution, by inserting therein "Tuesday" instead of "Wednesday" at the same hour.

I so move, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker, this is not the usual form of resolution that lies over under the rules for printing. It is, in fact, a motion which may be made at any time, regulating the business of the House. It, at least, is entitled to a fair discussion at the time that the motion is made. Though it takes the form of a resolution, it is, in substance, a motion, that the House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole.

The SPEAKER. The rules of the House provide that it may resolve itself into a Committee on the Whole at any time on a motion of a member, which shall be duly seconded. Rule 14 provides that any subject may by a majority vote of the House be made a special order of business at any time. The Chair is, therefore, of opinion that the resolution is a privileged resolution establishing an order of business for the House and that it is properly before the House for its consideration at this time. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

Mr. BEYER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we are now in the fifth week of our legislative duties, and I think I fairly state the sentiment of every man in this House that though we may have labored and labored in all sincerity, we have up to the present time produced absolutely nothing constructive in aid of the unemployed in Pennsylvania. I do not blame the members of this House, nor do I call in judgment the members of the Senate. I rather lay the fault entirely outside of either chamber. For weeks and months the crying hordes of the hungry, unemployed and starving though patient citizens of this Commonwealth have been pleading for a legislative session in order that some program of construction might be enacted to give relief from the suffering and the panic in which they find themselves at the present hour.

Patiently has the Governor listened to these appeals, though reluctantly and most reluctantly did he finally agree to call into Extraordinary Session the State Legislature, and then only, sir, after conferences were held, not with the members of this House, not with the members of the Senate, but only after a tentative program of some kind had been agreed to between him and others in no manner charged with the responsibility of legislative office, and then when a program of fourteen points finally agreed upon or tacitly agreed to, then the proclamation was issued, and we were sent for and here we are beating time day after day, stepping forward and stepping backward, advancing nowhere.

I take it, sir, that the members of this House mean to accomplish something. I take it, sir, that they do not come here week after week and return to their homes to be ridiculed by their neighbors and their constitutents for the want of something tangible in the way of legislation.

This resolution, sir, opens the door. It invites the Governor of this Commonwealth to come here and meet with this House, sitting as a Committee of the Whole, in order that he may discuss with us, as he has discussed with others elsewhere, those things which are primarily charged to us as servants of the people and not to those who seek to control others by the manipulation of political organizations. If such a program is adopted, you members will be free to submit your plans that may lie dormant in a committee now, and maybe as the result of a few hours of thoughtful consideration to what the Governor may then say and what you may have to say to him as a member of the committee accomplish something and get beyond this narrow and restricted program, which does not mention the word "relief" but once in the entire proclamation. Sure it talks about affording relief to cities and towns, it talks about consolidating cities and counties, it talks about hocking tax bills and all that sort of thing, but not a word constructively planned or rather invited in aid of a most critical situation that faces our people today. I feel assured that the members of this House do not want to have written upon the walls of this Chamber those ominous words that were addressed to Belshazzar, "Mene, Mene Tekel Upharsin: You have been weighed in the balance and found wanting." Rather you would go home in triumph and victory, and say that you have met your responsibility and that you were men enough with courage to do something as the law requires under the solemnity of your oath.

I press, sir, with all sincerity, this resolution upon the House, with the cards upon the table for every man to play.

The SPEAKER. The question is upon the resolution of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Beyer, as amended, that this House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole to meet as such on Tuesday evening, July 26, 1932, at 9 o'clock, Standard Time, and that His Excellency, the Governor, and the several heads of the departments of the State Government be invited to be present at such meeting of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

The SPEAKER declared the "noes" appear to have it, whereupon

RESOLUTION No. 22

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up Resolution No. 22, Printer's No. 186.

The resolution was read at follows:

In the House of Representatives, July 20, 1932.

Whereas this second Extraordinary Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania like the first has been called primarily if not exclusively for unemployment relief and all of the labors and energies of this Session should be devoted to that object and the enactment of legislation giving relief and after many days of discussion and abate it appears that not enough money by several millions of dollars can be recovered by practicing most rigid economy on subject matters within the Governor's call and that only by additional taxation can sufficient money be obtained and it is generally conceded that an individual income tax law is fair and equitable to all and that it is the duty of the possessors of income to give food clothing and shelter to those denied employment by no fault of their own and also the duty of the Commonwealth whenever possible to give employment to those anxious and willing to labor for their support and maintenance and the present economic depression will cease to exist and a temporary remedy for unemployment is necessary and immediately necessary now therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (A) That the Speaker appoint a special committee of nine members of the House (B) That the Special Committee with the aid and assistance of the Legislative Reference Bureau draft and prepare an income tax bill and offer the same to the House without sponsorship and that it then be committed to the same committee for further consideration and report (C) That the Bill contain a provision that the tax be an emergency one and last only for three years (D) Contain a tax levy of one per cent on all net incomes (E) Contain an allowance of $25.00 for prepartion and filing of income tax report (F) Contain an allowance for discount of Ten dollars for prompt payment (G) Eliminate all exceptions (H) Eliminate all manner of excuses for reduction (I) That a Bureau in the Department of Revenue or elsewhere be created to collect the tax (J) That the Heads of the Bureau be appointed by the Governor or other authorities (K) That the employes of the Bureau be selected by a proper and practical Civil Service examination (L) That the Bill be applicable to all inhabitants of the Commonwealth (M) That the Bill apply to non-residents making their living within the Commonwealth (N) That the tax collected be paid into the General Fund

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend by striking out on page 2, line 24, the words "Paid into the general fund" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "divided and one-half paid into the general fund and the other half thereof distributed among the respective counties of the Commonwealth in proportion to population as found by the census of 1930."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution as amended?

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, my object in offering this amendment is that there are two kinds of relief that we have to seek at this time. I know that there are many home owners and farm owners who are on the verge of losing their properties.

I understand that a flat one per cent. income tax can bring somewhere in the neighborhood of thirty-five million dollars. If half of this amount can be diverted to the counties to be applied to real estate, that is, to reduce the real estate tax, it will be a form of unemployment relief that we need. It has been said that all of the energies of the government have been devoted toward helping the rich and helping the unemployed very much at the expense of the middle class, and I think that if a bill like this, with the amendment, can be passed, it would be constructive, so far as the unemployed are concerned and so far as the property holder is concerned.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I accept the amendment.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will with pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman, whether if this resolution would pass and this bill were drawn according to the provisions thereof and the bill was passed by the House and by the Senate and signed by the Governor, would such a bill be constitutional?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, such a bill would be constitutional. The drawing of the bill in accordance with the resolution providing for a flat tax and providing for a reduction of twenty-five dollars for the preparation and the filing of the report would be an allowance which would come within the provisions of the constitution, and the same thought applies to the allowance of the ten per cent. The effect of this bill is to make all incomes under thirty-five hundred dollars tax exempt.

Mr. Speaker, I take it that by my accepting the amendment it means that the amendment is now incorporated in the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The question is now on the resolution as amended.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have been here four weeks and we have got no where. Those of us who have studied the question certainly must have come to the conclusion that to get somewhere we must have more revenue; we have applied economy; we have applied the taking out of waste and the removing of extravagance. The Steedle bill is very good but it don't go far enough. We find the Senate now cutting down the allowance of twenty-two million and some odd dollars to some seventeen or eighteen million dollars. If the Steedle bill is passed in that fashion there will not be enough money for unemployment relief. We may as well face the issue. We are here for unemployment relief. We cannot accomplish that purpose without money. We must raise that money by taxation and we should have courage enough to meet the situation and do exactly the same as Congress did after they had debated month after month and day after day and week after week and finally came to the conclusion that the only way they could solve this difficulty was by extra taxes.

Now, the tax that is proposed in this resolution seems to me to be the fairest and most equitable tax that can be imposed. It is a tax on those who earn. It is a tax that will only be collected from those who have; it will not be a tax on those who have not got the funds to pay the tax. With the amendment it means that you can go back to your constituents and say that we have provided some remedy, some relief, for the small property owner, for the small farmer and the home owner, for the person that is burdened with taxation on his little home and his little farm, and I say to you, members of the House, that you should meet this question and meet it courageously, and vote for this resolution.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I entirely agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia, that we have not got very far as our relief program is concerned and of course we, to a certain extent, blame the Executive of this Commonwealth for not encouraging economies as we have attempted to urge him to do.

And Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I also want to call the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, to the fact that he forgets that our Governor ran off to Washington with a tin cup in hand and asked the Federal authorities to make up the deficit that we have failed to provide either by economies or taxation, and just for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I cut out an editorial from the New York Herald yesterday which speaks of the hasty action of our Governor in going to Washington in the following words:

"The Political Handout—As the great and rich States of Pennsylvania and California approach the Federal government, tin cup in hand, to share in the handout for the needy, one can be both shocked and puzzled. Have these great commonwealths no pride? Have they no realization that in a time like the present every dollar that can be spared must go to those actually in want?

"Pigs around a trough do not step aside to let the weaklings feed first—the strongest push and fight their way to the front and the others starve. Man hopes to be more generous despite the complexities of modern economic life and especially the confusion of huge cities which make help doubly difficult. He tries, at any rate. Generosity is as warm and neighborly as ever once the need is felt. Why then this contemptible meanness on the part of politicians when they hear the tinkle of public funds?"

I just wanted to call the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia to the fact that we have a very energetic Governor running down to Washington trying to get the money down there.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker is it not true that under this resolution that the genlteman from Philadelphia has introduced, that one-half of the income derived from these taxes would go to the counties for unemployment relief and the balance would go to the State for general purposes?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the resolution as amended provides that one-half of the funds should go into the general fund of the Commonwealth so that the Talbot bill of twenty-four million dollars may be met with money and not promises as it was in the last session.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is that statement in the amendment?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that is stated in the amendment, and I take it that the object of the amendment in allowing one-half of it to go into the General Fund is to aid and assist in the passage of the Talbot bill of twenty-four million dollars.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, for my information and the information of others, may we have the amendment as far as it pertains to that clause read.

The Clerk again read the amendment.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, under the call for the Special Session, how can we provide for a tax of that kind?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the call was made for unemployment relief and was made to furnish money for unemployment relief. The call also carries with it the thought of raising new taxes. The Governor did not have the courage to suggest the new taxation and he is leaving that to the courage of the House and I hope that the Governor will have courage to go along.

Mr. TURNER. Is not section five of paragraph five of the call the only paragraph under which this could come?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, section five provides—

Mr. TURNER. I ask, is that not the only section under which it could come?

Mr. SOWERS. No. Oh no. Under the late decision you must take the whole call.

Mr. TURNER. The whole call is for unemployment relief. What is there about this amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia that provides that one-half of the income shall go to the State and that provides that the other half shall go to unemployment relief?

Mr. SOWERS. I take it that the Talbot bill provides for unemployment relief and I take it that it is incumbent upon upon us to find money to carry that out.

Mr. TURNER. There is nothing binding upon the Legislature or upon the State to utilize this one-half of this tax for unemployment relief?

Mr. SOWERS. I have confidence in the gentleman from Delaware and also in the other gentlemen of the House, and I hope that you have confidence in them too.

Mr. TURNER. I have confidence in myself.

Mr. SOWERS. I have confidence in all of them.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think that we are all in sympathy with the statements of the gentleman from Philadelphia. We want to find funds some place for unemployment relief. Personally, I have believed for a long time that the day was coming when we would have to employ an income tax in Pennsylvania as one of the ways of raising revenue, but I do not believe that a bill drafted along the lines of the resolution just introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia would come within the call of this session of the Legislature, in the first place.

In the second place, this is an involved problem. The income taxes of the Federal government have been increased; very heavy taxes have been added by the Federal government. Everyone knows the people are struggling to pay local taxes. At least thirty to forty per cent. of the local taxes are uncollected in the municipalities, and I do not see how we can go to the people at the present time and levy a tax of approximately thirty-five million dollars on the people of Pennsylvania, meritorious as the object may be. Let me point out that there is a committee headed by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, that has studied this whole question of State finance and will be prepared to submit a report to the Regular Session of 1933. Therefore, it does not seem to me that in the hurry of a session of this kind with problem before us of such great moment that we should undertake to draft an income tax bill of this kind when in a few months we will return here and have this report of this committee that is studying this problem with others in reference to the State finances and our ability to raise money. If we should raise thirty-five million dollars, it would mean seventeen and a half million dollars would have to go, under the proposition of the gentleman from Philadelphia, to relief purposes and I ask you, when you consider the fact, that in 1931 we appropriated thirty-seven million dollars more than the anticipated revenue, and when the Secretary of Revenue has stated to us that we will be short five million dollars or a total of some forty-two million dollars at least as estimated by the figures we now have we will be short that amount in 1933 to appropriate, and if we continue to add these sums that we could get by taxation to unemployment relief in this State, where are we going to find the funds in 1933 to run the State government. We have heard the Governor say that we cannot abate our appropriations more than five millions of dollars and that we cannot cut the 1931 appropriations. Yet, if you take your pencil and figure a little bit you will see that if we run the government in 1933 on the same basis that we ran it in 1931, we will not only be short about twenty-five per cent. of the General Fund but we will be short twenty-five million dollars that we will have to raise. If we raise this revenue now by taxation and apply it to this purpose of unemployment relief, I don't see how we are going to find ways and means when 1933 comes along.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am exceedingly glad to hear my friend at the beginning of his speech here agree with the income tax proposition, but I fail to understand why after agreeing with it he then at the end disagrees. You all remember that when we passed the Talbot bill in the first Extraordinary session of this Legislature, we went back home and felt happy, but after the Supreme Court began to study it, we found out we had made an awful mess of things. We then found out that the grand, glorious Talbot bill was a mere piece of paper and that there was no money to put it into effect. When I voted for the Talbot Bill I voted for it with a lot of glee in my heart and then the Supreme Court dampened it and along came the Attorney General's opinion and oh! what he did to it! Are we again going to pass a Talbot bill and have our friend from Delaware County disgrace us again for didn't he disgrace us enough when he offered a bill then and had no money in back of it to carry it into effect.

Was it not awful that our hospitals should be cut? Was it not awful that our colleges should be cut? Was there any glory in legislation of that type, and yet today my friend has here a bill to appropriate twenty-five million dollars, which is a very meager sum for unemployment relief in my opinion, and then when it comes to the raising of taxes, his colleague from Delaware County says that a bill for income taxes is all right but the raising of the money is terrible. Which is better, to have the dickens raised with us back home or raise the money here and get the support of our constituents for our courage?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel in fairness to the members of the House that the attention of the sponsor of this resolution, as well as the attention of the members of the House should be called to the fact that in the Ways and Means Committee there is at present pending House Bill No. 132 introduced by Mr. Black which, as I have hastily read it again, almost carries out every provision of the resolution of my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. Very gladly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman how long the bill has been lying in committee.

Mr. STERLING. The bill has been in committee since July fifth.

Mr. SOWERS. And has not been reported out since July fifth?

Mr. STERLING. No sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if the committee has been sitting daily?

Mr. STERLING. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman from Philadelphia any real belief in his heart that the committee will ever stop studying it?

Mr. STERLING. Yes sir. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Ways and Means Committee of this House does not pass out to the House for its consideration any measures seeking to raise revenue until the House by its vote and the Senate by its vote have placed upon the Treasury of this Commonwealth burdens that require additional revenue. Up to the present moment the Ways and Means Committee knows of no action to put any burden on the people of the Commonwealth. However, if the bill which has been referred to this evening as the Talbot bill passes this House in its present form, there doubtless will be a great difference between the anticipated revenue and the appropriation liability of the Commonwealth. When that time arrives, and only when that time arrives, do I believe that the Ways and Means Committee should seriously consider imposing upon the people of this Commonwealth an additional burden.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman from Philadelphia believe that more revenue is immediately demanded for unemployment relief?

Mr. STERLING. I do, sir.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, and does not the gentleman from Philadelphia anticipate the passage of the Talbot bill that appropriates about twenty-four million dollars?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you cannot tell what this House will do. I am neither a prophet nor the son of one. I cannot tell what this House will do.

Mr. SOWERS. Does not the Ways and Means Committee once in a while make a guess.

Mr. STERLING. The Ways and Means Committee as long as I have been chairman and as long as other serious-minded gentlemen have served on that committee, has never acted on a guess and never will.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has very frankly stated to you that he cannot take a guess. This Legislature was called into session to provide for unemployment relief and to provide for it in money, and yet the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee cannot take a guess. I wonder what he thinks we were brought here for? I wonder why we are here? I wonder if the Ways and Means Committee Chairman has any idea why we have been laboring here for four weeks? I thought we were here to raise money for unemployment relief. I wonder what he thinks the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has been doing in cutting down appropriations? He cannot take a guess. Why, members of the House, if that committee must act on such a certainty as the Chairman of that committee expresses as being necessary, then we might as well pack up and go home now.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, just as a matter of information from the gentlman, do I understand the effect of this resolution would be that the revenue would be raised by imposing a tax on no one with an income less than thirty-five hundred dollars a year?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, so that the gentlman from Clearfield and the members of the House will understand, if the House passes this resolution and the committee is appointed, and the committee prepares the bill and submits it to this House, that bill will then take the regular course of bills and will come on the floor of this House and on second reading any member of this House can move to amend it either by striking out or inserting any provision in that bill that does not meet with his approval.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, just one other question, if you please. Taking into consideration the liberal allowances and the discount allowed, I would like to inquire as to what this would yield annually?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am informed that there would be yielded at least thirty-five million dollars annually, and possibly more.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to remind the House that our second opportunity to provide relief is rapidly drawing to a close and I am very doubtful if there will be a third.

Now, my friends, we are called down here I believe on a very serious proposition. I feel that if anarchy should spread in this State the blame for it could be laid at the door of this Legislature. We know that they cannot live unless there is something provided for them to eat. We have been here now for five weeks in the second session and have failed to provide anything substantial. Now, the question is, whether we are going to allow this session to adjourn without even making an effort to meet requirements of the unemployed. If the Talbot bill does go through, will that be sufficient to take care of the unemployment until we are able to get back here again and provide for them?

My friends, there is much said about the constitution. We sometimes have a tendency to forget that the constitution is a creature of the people. It is not the creator, and if it needs to be amended, we should amend it. If it stands in the way in a time like this, it can be ignored or even destroyed in my opinion. The people of the State of Pennsylvania who are willing to work, and anxious to work, if they have no opportunity provided for them, would be justified in destroying the constitution if they cannot get relief. I want to ask this House to think seriously about this measure because it is one of the few opportunities that we will have to provide immediate relief.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia state, if he knows, how much money is going to be required for unemployment relief?

Mr. SOWERS. I cannot tell, but I am unlike the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and I guess. I feel in my own heart that the unemployment relief situation in Pennsylvania cannot even be remedied for less than one hundred million dollars. I certainly do not stand as one of those in favor of the Governor's proposition of giving unemployment relief in the way of four-cent meals.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Philadelphia state who if any one is giving any consideration to that particular question as to how much money we will have to raise, as the minimum amount?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the Legislature will meet in regular session next January, and I hope that the new Legislature will have more speed in its action than the present one does and that then we can take care of the situation rapidly.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Is it not true that the first thing we have to determine is the irreducible minimum as to what we must raise for unemployment relief?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will not quarrel, for one, with figures when I know that people today are not receiving assistance and are crying for it. I for one would like to stand for immediate remedy and talk about it afterwards.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, how are we going to determine how much revenue we must raise unless we first decide how much unemployment relief we are going to grant?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the present resolution provides for one-half of the revenue from this income tax measure to go back to the counties to relieve the small property owners of the great burden of taxation.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that we have been here for five weeks and have not determined and have not given any thought to how much money we will have to raise for the purpose for which we were called?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I think we have given it plenty of thought. I think every member has in his own mind an idea of how much we will need for unemployment relief from now until the session of next year.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, where is there any legislation at the present time which provides for what we need from now until the next session?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the legislation at the present time is in a number of bills, the leading one of which is the Talbot bill of twenty-four million dollars. I think that that amount is too small.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, has the Legislature ever been advised as to what we actually have to appropriate for this emergency?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the Governor tried to advise us on that subject, and he figured out a sum, I forget the exact amount, and he said that that sum would give four-cent meals.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that we have been going backward, that we first must determine the amount we are going to appropriate for unemployment relief and then raise the funds to take care of that particular amount that we deem necessary to meet this emergency?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we can do both of them together. If we cannot, then we must probably stay here until October.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that up to this time we have not yet come down to determining the amount we are going to grant for unemployment relief; I mean any actual study as to what we are going to do for unemployment relief?

Mr. SOWERS. Yes, Mr. Speaker, we have given it considerable thought. We have the Talbot Bill, we have other bills, and all of the bills that were prepared today or yesterday and should come out on the floor tomorrow; because apparently unemployment has been rapidly increasing rather than diminishing.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, is not the Talbot Bill predicated upon the idea that we are only going to appropriate that amount that we can raise by economy?

Mr. SOWERS. As I understand it, Mr. Speaker, the conclusions that are being arrived at on economies, the elimination of waste and the elimination of extravagance in the Executive Department will not raise enough money to pay the payments that were made necessary by the Talbot Bill at the last Extraordinary Session, and will not make enough money to see that the hospitals and colleges have the allowances that we voted to give them in the Regular Session, and, in order to do that, we must, in addition to the amount raised by the Steedle Bill, have another amount.

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not opposing the proposition of the gentleman from Philadelphia. It may have great merit, and we may have to resort to that particular plan, but it just seems to me that we have been here now for several weeks without getting down to the real subect for which we were called here. At least, to me, it seems that we must first determine what we are going to do about unemployment relief. There ought to be some way or somebody or some committee that has given some thought or some consideration as to the actual amount we have to raise to take care of this emergency, until that has been done, it seems to me it would be foolish to try to determine how we are going to raise money until we know how much we have to raise. If we recognize this situation as being as serious as some people say it is, then we want to determine what we have to do in order to correct it. We ought to determine how much money we have to raise in order to meet this serious emergency. Up to this time nobody has said how much money we have to raise to take care of this serious situation. Until we have done that, what is the use of the discussion about funds. What is the use of discussing where we are going to get the money from to meet the amount we have to appropriate until we determine, first, how much we must appropriate to take care of this emergency that exists throughout the Commonwealth?

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Rhodes?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. I will.

Mr. HART. Are you afraid that under the provisions of this resolution too much money will be raised for the unemployed of Pennsylvania?

Mr. CHESTER H. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I am not afraid, because I do not know. I do not know how much money will be received under a proposed bill of this kind, neither do I know how much we actually have to raise to take care of the unemployment situation in this State.

Mr. HART. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, it seems to me that under the provisions of this resolution a committee is to be appointed which will find out exactly how much money is to be raised, and will submit to this body its findings, and then this body can act intelligently upon it. It does seem to me that the technical and evasive arguments made here on this resolution only serve to retard the efforts that we ought to be honestly putting forth to relieve the unemployment situation in Pennsylvania. Even the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has agreed that the provisions of this resolution are identical, almost, with a bill that he has in his possession and which has never come before this House. This resolution, to my mind, is the fairest and the clearest manner of relieving this unemployment situation, and saying to the unemployed people of Pennsylvania that, after all, the members of this House have come here, and finally, predicated on the wisdom of a Philadelphia lawyer, have solved the question and have a bill that will relieve the situation, and say to the unemployed and starving people of Pennsylvania that, after all, we are here to do our duty and we have found a solution. We ought to adopt this resolution, and I hope this House will do so

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this has developed into a very interesting debate. I want to take the opportunity to answer the inquiry made by my colleague, Mr. Rhodes of Monroe. We estimate that Philadelphia might use expeditiously at least a million and half dollars a month. We know, those of us who know the true situation in Philadelphia, that a million and a half dollars a month is none too much to meet the burning unemployment emergency situation in our city. We feel deeply the fact that the Legislature has not brought itself to fully appreciate the seriousness of the situation that confronts the city of Philadelphia. We feel keenly that this House has not awakened to the consciousness of the halocaust that exists in the city of Philadelphia. If my figures are right and if it is correct that the need of Philadelphia is approximately twenty-five per cent of the need of the entire Commonwealth, simple arithmetic will teach us that approximately forty-eight million dollars is necessary. I feel that there are many communities in this State that have in hand today, unused, parts of the previous appropriations under the Talbot bill. I feel we ought, in this House, to adopt a program that would make possible the shifting of the allocation from one district where proven need failed to that district where the demonstrated need exceeds the amount allocated, and I can find no one in this House that would take an affront with me for that kind of a proposition.

Coming down then to the point, I fear that my colleague, Mr. Sowers, of Philadelphia, competely misunderstood my own attitude. I will vote on this resolution and I will favor any proposal of income tax because it is the only means known today, other than a general sales tax, where an equitable distribution of the tax burden is possible. When I arose a bit ago and called to my colleague's attention, and to the attention of the members of the House, that there was in the Ways and Means Committee a bill introduced by Mr. Black, I had not Meant that he should thereby infer that I am opposing this resolution. I don't oppose it. I don't urge the House to oppose it, because in principle the income tax method of collecting revenue is to all intents and purposes sound. I hope my position has been made clear to my friend from Philadelphia as well as to the members of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Sowers and Mr. Hermansen and were as follows:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, the thought back of that resolution was not mine. The credit for the thought of that resolution belongs to Mr. Black, of Fayette County. Under ordinary parliamentary procedure I might be entitled to the chairmanship of that committee. I wish to waive that right and surrender it to my friend, Mr. Black, of Fayette County.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under the question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 48.

An Act to repeal article twenty-one of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith"

HOUSE BILL No. 148.

An Act amending section seven of an act, entitled "A supplement to an act, entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class,' approved the seventh day of March, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one; providing for the levy, collection, and disbursement of taxes and water-rents, or rates, and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer, the board of water assessors, and the collector of delinquent taxes; and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for," as amended, by permitting the delinquent tax collector to receive delinquent taxes, water-rents, or rates, in installments.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 66

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, July 21, 1932.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the House of Representatives and Senate, recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 66, Printer's No. 49, for purposes of amendment.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 66 passed finally be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 1, by striking out the word "all." Amend title, line 4, by adding after the word "session" the following: "and excepting appropriations." Amend sec. 1, by adding after line 10, the following paragraph:

"Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as lapsing any portion of the item of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) appropriated under the provisions of the act approved May fifteenth, Appropritions Acts of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (page 161), entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the purchase or condemnation of additional lands for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Department of Property and Supplies for the purchase or condemnation of additional lands to be used for or in connection with, the Hale Military Reservation at Mt. Gretna

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened with a great deal of interest to what has been said of the various resolutions regarding that which we have done and that which we have not done. I have a proper regard for the efforts that have been made in the past four weeks and great respect for those who have taken part in them, and I am very much disturbed to know exactly where we are and where we are going. Four weeks of an effort does not seem to have brought any results that satisfies our constituency anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania. When I go home at the close of each week I am confronted with the question, "What have you done?" or "What are you doing?" When we went back home last week with House Bill No. 129 passed, I found from almost every conceivable source an objection one way or another when it began to rest on the personal interests of individuals that were affected, and it gave to me a cue which I shall express here this evening. Not wanting to bind any member of the Legislature, I am not going to present any resolution, but I simply want to say this one particular thing this evening. If every department that has burdened with the provisions of House Bill No. 129 have any just right for their objection, and we sustain them in their endeavor, there will be no passage of that act and no relief from anything that we have done. I remember very distinctly of reading in the works of Charles Reade, one of the great, illustrious, literary lights of England, when he said one day that, "There never was a lock that there was not a key for it." I want to say to you, fellow members, this evening, that we cannot look those in the face, upon whose shoulders we expect to place this burden, unless we are willing ourselves to assume part of that burden. I know it has been declared that we cannot reduce our own salaries because it is outside of the fourteen points of the call, but I know of nothing that would prevent us from volunteering, as a body, to do it, and if we would volunteer to do as those of ancient days did in solving their problems and take their tithe or their tenth, that would create a fund of about ten thousand dollars in this House. That would be very small in liquidating the burden that is brought to us by reason of this call, and very small indeed when we come to measure it with the need, but I want to say to you that in my judgment the psychological effect of this House voluntarily volunteering to assume the responsibility of paying back or permitting to be retained one-tenth of the salary received at this time would meet the approval of the State of Pennsylvania, and to my mind it would be a psychological solution of this problem, and I for one would be very willing to do that, and while it would be a sacrifice,—God only knows the sacrifice made by more than a million people in Pennsylvania,—we should be willing to do our part, when we attempt to impress anybody else with the part of the burden they have to stand under or growing out of the provisions of legislation that is enacted or may be enacted, we will know that we have done our part and we can say to them, "We have gone so far ourselves, we now ask that you supplement us by following up and doing your part to relieve this situation." I know that my contribution of one-tenth of my salary would be a small thing indeed and I know that ten thousand dollars in this House would be a small thing indeed, but it would go quite a big distance in taking care of those who will go to bed this evening supperless.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 218, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties, cities, boroughs, towns, townships, school districts and poor districts to permit taxpayers or members of their families to perform work in lieu of part payment of taxes.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 189, entitled:

An Act for the relief of unemployment by the utilization of State forest lands; creating a State work relief board; authorizing the employment of persons in the development of forest lands and parts thereof suitable for homesteading, and the erection of dwellings and improvements thereon; authorizing the acquisition of additional tillable and forest lands; exempting the same from taxation, and imposing an annual charge thereon for county, road and school purposes; authorizing the purchase and operation of forest tools, machinery and appliances; providing for the placing of homeless and other men on homesteads, and for providing them with certain necessities and for the purchase of the same by the homesteaders; authorizing certain work on private forest lands; and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 231 (Senate Bill No. 86), entitled:

An Act for the relief of unemployment providing for the employment of members and officers of the National Guard in the improvement of the military reservations of the Commonwealth and for their maintenance and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 225, entitled:

An Act providing for the issuance of dog fishing and hunter's licenses by magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace providing for their compensation requiring the making of reports and remittances to the Department of Revenue of the Commonwealth and imposing duties upon said department

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any magistrate alderman or justice of the peace within the Commonwealth who has qualified by having applied to the Department of Revenue of the Commonwealth and having received from said department and receipted for the necessary blanks and tags may issue dog licenses resident and non-resident fishing licenses and resident and non-resident hunter's licenses and tags in like manner as prescribed by law for the issuance of such licenses by county treasurers

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?
Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.
The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.
The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 8 by inserting after the word "tags" the following: "and by filing with the Department of Revenue a bond with sufficient sureties in the penal sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00), conditioned for the faithful preformance of their duties under the provisions of this act."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section as amended?
It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 When any such license is issued by a magistrate alderman or justice of the peace the person applying for the license shall pay ten cents to the said magistrate alderman or justice of the peace in addition to the other fees prescribed by law as the cost of said license Said ten cents shall be retained by the magistrate alderman or justice of the peace as his fees for the issuance of said license and reporting the same and remitting payment therefor to the Department of Revenue Such report and remittance shall be made by the magistrate alderman or justice of the peace as hereinafter provided

Every magistrate alderman or justice of the peace shall deliver the book or books from which he has issued licenses together with the stubs therein properly filled out and showing the names of each licensee and the number of the license issued to him to the Department of Revenue before the fiftenth day of January of each year

Section 3 Every magistrate alderman or justice of the peace who has qualified to issue such licenses shall each week forward to the Department of Revenue a complete list of the licenses granted with the names and addresses of the licensees or blanks to be furnished by the Department of Revenue at the cost of the Commonwealth and shall accompany such return with a remittance of the amount of moneys received by him for such licenses.

Section 4 Every magistrate alderman or justice of the peace qualified to issue licenses shall keep in a book to be supplied by the Department of Revenue at the cost of the Commonwealth a correct and complete record of all such licenses issued by him and shall cause to be entered in such book at the close of each week the name and place of residence of each individual to whom a license shall have been issued that week Such book shall be open at reasonable hours to the inspection of any officer of the Commonwealth and to any representative of the Department of Revenue or to any representative of the Department of the Auditor General

Section 5 Any magistrate alderman or justice of the peace who shall fail to comply with any of the provisions of this act relating to the granting of licenses shall not be entitled to retain the sum hereinbefore fixed for his services but such sums shall be paid to the Department of Revenue and if not so paid may be covered by the Commonwealth by suit in the same manner as like amounts are now by law recoverable

The title was read as follows:

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Game.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baldrige.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Baldrige, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny state his reason for his motion; what is the reason for this motion to recommit?

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, it is for the purpose of further consideration.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been fully considered by the Committee to which it has been referred and the committee thought it was a proper bill to be submitted to the House for its consideration. I don't see any reason why this bill should be recommitted for further study.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has to do with hunters' licenses together with the licenses for dogs, fishing and some other licenses, and the Committee on Game has had no opportunity to act upon it. It should have been referred to the Committee on Game in the first place.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the only thing that this bill intends to do is to make it more convenient for those people who desire to get a hunting license. Instead of driving twenty-five or thirty miles to the county seat, the license may be obtained without any trouble and that will be a great convenience. It can be secured from a nearby magistrate or alderman and that is the only thing that the bill intends to do. I feel that this bill should not be recommitted but should be considered on the floor of the House on its merits.

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have personally studied this bill very carefully, and I believe that it needs to be most carefully considered. It has to do with the issuance of licenses by over four thousand justices of the peace, aldermen and magistrates, whereas at the present time the issuing of the licenses is in the hands of sixty-seven county treasurers and somewhat over four hundred appointees. The matter of adding to the expenses the administering of this bill, should it become an act would be a great responsibility to the Commonwealth. I think this bill should have a lot of consideration before it is voted on by this House. I hope the members will vote to recommit this bill.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Way.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Way, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman whether he does not think that at the present time any one desiring a fishing or a hunting license must travel twenty or twenty-five miles to the county seat in order to secure such a license, is a hardship?

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, that is true where they have not already appointed a man in their locality by the Department of Revenue approved by the County Treasurer, where such man can issue these licenses without any extra cost to the party securing the license.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that if this bill were passed, that there would be no additional burden on the applicant?

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia, the bill in its form as introduced provides for an extra ten cents to the license fee.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think my colleague, Mr. Way, is in error when he made that statement, for this reason: This bill was drawn by Mr. Fertig, and Mr. Fertig is present in the House, and he wrote me a letter in which he explained that under the provisions of this bill there would be no additional payment by the applicant. So that the only thing that this bill would do would be to make it more convenient for the applicant to get his license near his home, rather than have to travel twenty or twenty-five miles to the county seat. That is the only change in the present law and the only thing that this bill seeks to do. I therefore ask the members of the House to vote down this motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tahl, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAHL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of the bill where the ten cents come from for the Justices of the Peace.

Mr. TAHL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in answer to my colleague, Mr. Way, I desire to say that under the present law the ten cents is paid by the applicant. At the present time and under the provisions of this bill no more than ten cents will be required to be paid by the applicant.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker, the motion is to recommit and the gentleman is speaking on the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, and the gentleman will confine himself to the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and one hundred and ten members, or more than a majority of the whole House, having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 230 (Senate Bill No. 72), entitled:

An Act making application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds to which the State is entitled from funds made available for furnishing relief and work relief by Act of Congress of the United States providing for the expenditure of such funds under a system of administration established by the Governor or under the direction and responsibility of the Governor in relieving distress providing for an allocation of the funds so received among the several counties prescribing the use for which such funds may be expended and limiting monthly expenditures conferring powers upon county commissioners and city councils of said cities and making an appropriation

The first section was read as follows: :

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the State of Pennsylvania hereby makes application through the Governor of the State to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds from time to time to be paid to the Governor on his application and to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people residing in the State of Pennsylvania and in relieving the hardship resulting from unemployment in accordance with the Act of Congress of the United States approved entitled "An act to relieve destitution to broaden the lending powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and to create employment by providing for and expending a public works program"

The Governor of the Commonwealth shall in each such application for funds certify to the Reconstruction Finance

Corporation the necessity for such funds and that the resources of the State including moneys then available and which can be made available by the State its political subdivisions and private contributions are inadequate to meet the relief needs of the State

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, line 14, by inserting after the word "approved" the following: "July twenty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second and third sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 The funds received by the Governor from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall be held in a special fund in the State Treasury to be known as the "Federal Unemployment Relief Fund" and the moneys in such fund being Federal moneys shall be there held without regard to the restrictions applicable to the ordinary revenues of the State and be expended in accordance with the said Act of Congress and this act

The Governor shall from time to time issue to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation his receipt countersigned by the State Treasurer for the amount of the funds received from time to time which receipt shall state such funds are accepted subject to the terms of said act of Congress

The funds advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and held in the Federal Unemployment Fund shall be deposited in State depositories in like manner and with like interest rates as is provided by law for active State deposits and any interest earned on such deposits shall be credited to the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund and be allocated and be expended for the same purposes as the principal sum held in such fund

Section 3 The funds received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall immediately upon receipt and deposit in the State Treasury be made available for expenditure by the Governor and be expended subject to the limitations prescribed by this act by the Governor under such system of administration as he may establish or under the direction of the Governor and upon his responsibility as provided by said Act of Congress

The amount so received from time to time shall be apportioned by the Governor for use in the several counties of this Commonwealth on a ratio that the estimated number of unemployed persons in a county bears to the estimated total number of unemployed persons in the entire Commonwealth as shown by the latest available tables compiled and issued by the Department of Labor and Industry

The first allocation shall in addition to the funds received by the Governor include any funds paid to municipalities and political subdivisions as provided in section four of this act and when the allocations of the various counties have been determined the amounts so paid to said municipalities and political subdivisions shall be deducted from the share of the county in which such respective municipalities and political subdivisions are located Thereafter as further allocations of funds received are made the same allocation procedure shall be followed as to the payments to municipalities and political subdivisions since the last allocation

The fourth section was read as follows:

Section 4 From the portion of the Federal appropriation coming to the State of Pennsylvania the Governor may request with the approval of the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation payments to municipalities and political subdivisions of the State and in such cases the Governor shall make his certificate to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and therein state the necessity for such funds and that the resources of the municipality or political subdivision including moneys then available and which can be made available by the municipalities or political subdivisions and private contributions are inadequate to meet relief needs. Any such municipality or political subdivision before receiving any such moneys shall enter into an agreement with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the repayment to the Corporation of the amount so received with interest at the rate of three per centum per annum at such times and upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between the corporation and such municipality or political subdivisions Any such payment to a municipality or political subdivision shall be charged against the amount allocated under the provisions of this act to the county in which such municipality or political subdivision is located as hereinbefore provided

The funds so received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation over and above the amount paid to any municipality or political subdivision as hereinbefore provided shall be used in the respective counties to which allocated by the Governor in order to supplement the moneys appropriated by the Legislature at the Special Session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two from the General Fund for unemployment relief purposes and also to provide relief when the State funds available in such county are exhausted

Such Federal funds may be expended in counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the county commissioners of the county to which such moneys are allocated and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement

In counties of the second class the amount allocated to the county from time to time shall first be divided equally between the county and any city of the second class The amount allocated to the county may be expended in the county outside any such city of the second class for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the county commissioners of the county and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement. The amount allocated to any city of the second class may be expended in such city for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the mayor the city council of such city and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement.

In counties coextensive with cities the amount allocated to the county may be expended for work relief but only to the extent and for the labor of such persons as may be provided for in an agreement between the mayor the city council of such city and the Governor and only on such public works and public improvements as shall be provided for in such agreement.

Any of said Federal funds not paid to municipalities and not expended for work relief as hereinbefore provided may be expended in the counties or cities to which allocated for food clothing fuel and shelter for residents of such county or city who have gained a legal settlement and who are without means of support and the Governor may require that in return for such food clothing fuel and shelter labor shall be performed by the persons receiving the same for the State the county or any city borough town township school district or poor district within or coextensive with such county.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read as follows:

An Act making application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for funds to which the State is entitled from funds made available for furnishing relief and work relief by Act of Congress of the United States providing for the expenditure of such funds under a system of administration established by the Governor or under the direction and responsibility of the Governor in relieving distress providing for an allocation of the funds so received among the several counties prescribing the use for which such funds may be expended and limiting monthly expenditures conferring powers upon county commissioners and city councils of said cities and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend title, page 1, line 10, by inserting after the word "counties" the following: "and cities."

Amend title, page 1, line 13, by striking out the words "of said cities."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 107, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section sixteen

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Rice.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Rice, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this is a joint resolution, which provides for the borrowing on bonds of twenty-five million dollars for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The phraseology of the bill is rather hidden. I would like very much to have the sponsor of this bill explain exactly what he proposes to do with this money, providing the Constitutional amendment should be passed.

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this resolution provides for a bond issue of twenty-five million dollars to purchase forest lands and to develop forest lands and other lands through the Department of Forestry. It means that any other lands that would be purchased would be necessarily those contiguous to forest lands. Also if this Constitutional amendment passes, it provides for refunding to the General Fund out of this bond issue any monies that are provided by this Special Session and the 1933 session for work relief in the forest areas.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Dauphin, if any money has been expended by any Department of the State that requires a return to the General Fund?

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker, there has not been anything spent so far, but it is anticipated that some money or that at least bills will be presented to this Legislature to offer work relief through the forest areas. This is one of the best and the only big opportunity to furnish a work relief program that is of a constructive nature and will build up an increment for the future in returns to the General Fund, rather than an expenditure.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that this resolution is a very unwise resolution for us to pass at this time. It provides for piling up additional debt on the State of Pennsylvania in the huge sum of twenty-five millions of dollars for an uncertain work.

I think that if this State needs any money either for work relief or for general relief, what it cannot get by savings it should get by taxation.

I believe that there are many of us in this Commonwealth who realize that we are not in a position now to borrow any additional money for any scheme or schemes, no matter how plausible they may look. This is not the time, when the Commonwealth is in straits, to borrow money for some distant future benefits, and I sincerely trust that the Legislature will not be misled by the explanation given by the gentleman from Dauphin to commit such a folly at this time.

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, because of the fact that the unemployment situation is so much up in the air and the funds available for that relief are also very much of an uncertainty, and because some thought, at least, should be given toward making provision for a certain amount of money, especially for work relief, certainly the thing that this House should do is to pass at this session, at least, a constitutional amendment which can be stopped in the next session of the Legislature if it is found unnecessary or unwise. If we find in the next session of the Legislature a lack of many millions of dollars, and we find that we should do something in the way of work relief, and not of direct relief, then we will be in a position where we will not have the money to do it.

Certainly there is no harm in passing this resolution at this session and placing us in a position either to pass it or turn it down at the next session, when we will have the picture before us.

I ask the members at least to vote for this resolution and to reserve their final judgment until the 1933 session of the Legislature.

On the question recurring?

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Mrs. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 80, Printer's No. 166, on page 7 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mrs. Wilson,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 80, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article eighteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there has been so much misunderstanding on this bill that I feel it is necessary to make some explanation as to its purpose. Many of the members, apparently because of its sponsorship, think that this bill must be a very dangerous bill, that it is going to do something terrible to our Constitution.

I, therefore, wish to call your attention to the fact that this bill as proposed, makes absolutely no change in the present Constitution until you get down to line 15 on page 2. All that is in there before is in our present Constiution as it is now adopted. The present Constitution beginning where we have the words "an amendment" on line 15, page 2 reads "No amendment or amendments shall be submitted oftener than once in five years." The proposed amendment is "An amendment or amendments may be submitted at any general or municipal election but no amendment which has been submitted and has failed of approval shall be again submitted within a period of five years thereafter," and the last sentence is the same as it is in the present Constitution.

The sole and the only purpose of this proposed amendment is to put the Constitution back where it was before a Supreme Court decision in 1924. Up until that time, in other words from 1874, the time this Constitution was adopted, for fifty years down to 1924, whatever constitutional amendment had been passed upon by two legislatures was immediately submitted to the people at the following election. In 1924, when the Secretary of the Commonwealth started to advertise certain constitutional amendments for approval, proceedings were brought against him and the courts enjoined him. It was taken to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and it enjoined the advertisement of the Constitutional amendment on the ground that the wording of the Constitution to the effect that no amendment shall be submitted oftener than once in five years did not mean what it had always theretofore been interpreted to mean, namely, that the same amendment could not be submitted more than once in five years, but that it meant that no amendment of any kind could be submitted more than once in five years, and because certain amendments had been submitted in the year 1923, no more amendments of any kind whatever could be voted upon by the people before the year 1928—not the same amendments but entirely different ones could be brought before the people until five years after the others were voted upon, and since that time we have only had an opportunity to vote upon Constitutional amendments once in five years. What has the result been? In 1928 I think we had fourteen Constitutional amendments upon the ballot and most of the people voting upon them did not have the slightest idea what most of them were about, because as you all know when they vote upon a Constitutional amendment, they only print it as it is amended, not what it was before, and the average person, not having the Constitution handy, can not possibly tell what he is voting upon. If you have fourteen to vote upon at one time, it makes the matter that much more difficult.

I do not know how many amendments have been passed by the two last Legislatures that are now ready to be submitted to the people in 1933, but all of the amendments that were passed a second time at the sesion in 1929 or 1931 or the Regular Session in 1933 will be submitted to the people in 1933, and I think there will be at least twenty of them.

The purpose of this amendment is to prevent having so many amendments come before the people at one time and to make it possible to give more consideration to amendments that have been proposed by having these amendments voted upon immediately they have been passed by the Legislature a second time.

Most of the members received in their mail boxes brief mimeograph pages giving the reasons why these amendments should be adopted, and also a mimeograph showing the effects of the present Constitution in that many amendments are not finally passed upon by the people and in a position to go into effect by legislation until eight years after they have been proposed, and, even if they do not require any legislation to put them into effect, it requires at least six and three-quarters years. Such delays are very dangerous, particularly in times like the present. In other words, we have been repeatedly told that if we do not pass certain Constitutional amendments at this Special Session, in order that they may be passed a second time in 1933, it will not be possible to get legislation through under those amendments until the year 1939, which is seven years away. We feel that this is a very dangerous and undesirable condition to have in our Constitution, and that is the reason for the proposed amendment which is here. I have merely said these words in order that you may realize that it is not some dangerous Socialistic innovation, that we are not trying to pull something over on you, but that we are merely putting the Constitution back in the form it was understood to be for fifty years.

I ask you to vote affirmatively on this resolution, in order that we may make it possible to take care of amendments to the Constitution more promptly, and in order that we may not have so many of them before the people at one time and the people do not understand what it is all about.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 226 (Senate Bill No. 74), entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the sixteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 207), entitled "An act providing when, how, upon what property, and to what extent, liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements, for the removal of nuisances, and for water rents or rates, sewer rates, and lighting rates; for the procedure upon claims filed therefor; the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims; the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened; the distribution of the proceeds of such sales, and the redemption of the property therefrom; for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed, and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed, within six months before the passage of this act; and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly," as amended, providing that tax claims shall bear interest from the date of filing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HAGMAIER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for the purpose of further study.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 227 (Senate Bill No. 76), entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280), entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands, and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof; requiring the receivers and collectors of county, city, borough, town, township, school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes, and providing for the lien thereof; authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes, and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes herebefore or hereafter returned as unpaid; and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances," by changing the requirements as to advertising sales.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Hoopes,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 158, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation under the police power and as a governmental duty to the Department of Welfare for State aid to political subdivisions charged by law with the care of the poor, and providing for the allocation and use of the moneys so appropriated.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

The motion was agreed to.

USE OF HALL OF HOUSE GRANTED TO COMMITTEE

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the use of the Hall of the House be extended to the Ways and Means Committee for the purpose of a public hearing on House Bills, Nos. 172, 176 and 179, on Tuesday, July 26, 1932, between two and four o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 150, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the City of Philadelphia, in aid of unemployment relief, for the maintenance and repair of city streets which are continuations of State highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, not with any spirit of antagonism to the bill, I desire to interrogate the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Blumberg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLUMBERG. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, how many miles of street does this bill cover?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the first part of the bill provides for seven and three hundredths miles.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask for the total.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I don't have the total, but each paragraph has it.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the total is 100 miles, for your information. The five hundred thousand dollars that this bill carries is turned over to the Department of Public Works of the City of Philadelphia, and the improvements of the streets are to be made by that department?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, under the supervision of that department; and a requisition can be made by that department subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Department of Highways of the State.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Requisitions for money?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Yes sir.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, the Department of Highways of the State has nothing to do with the construction of these highways?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Nothing except the approval of the requisitions for payment.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think the bill in this respect is defective because it diverts from the authority of the Highway Department the right to construct the streets which are part of the highway system in other cities of the State, and I think it should be so amended to apply to Philadelphia.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, may I state in reply to the gentleman from Tioga that the Department of Public Works is the only department in the city of Philadelphia that can properly supervise a program of this kind and in approving requisitions for this money, the Department of Highways of the State will naturally see that the work has been done before it will pay for the work.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if the work was done under the supervision of the Department of Highways, the same supervision would be had, as I said before, as in other cities, under the State Highway law. I am not raising this question with any spirit of antagonism but for the information of the members of the House.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, may I say that this bill provides for an appropriation of five hundred thousand dollars from the Motor License Fund for the city of Philadelphia to provide work relief in the repair of the city streets which are the continuation of the State highways in the city of Philadelphia. It provides for work under a relief program. Practically this same bill was passed in the Extraordinary Session of 1931 and subsequently vetoed by the Governor for lack of funds. The work is to be done under the supervision of the Department of Public Works of the City of Philadelphia which is the only department having such work under its control. As every member of this House knows, the city of Philadelphia pays about six million dollars every year into the Motor License Fund and receives in return about seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, so that in all fairness and with a spirit of fairness in this emergency, Philadelphia is not asking much when they are asking you to vote aye on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

ERRATUM

Mr. Charles Lose is recorded as not voting on House Bill No. 106, page 411, of the Legislative Journal, July 13, 1932. He should be recorded as voting "no".

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Extraordinary Session of 1932.

Vol. 14 HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1932. No. 16.

SENATE

TUESDAY, July 26, 1932

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Our Creator and our God, Thy mighty power makes its appeal to us. We believe that Thou, who hast creative ability, canst recreate. Hence, we rejoice in the privilege of coming before Thee with our petitions, asking Thee to do for us that which we, under our human limitations, are unable to do in the way of improving world conditions.

We pray that Thou mayest redeem the lives of men from selfishness and sin. We intercede, on behalf of human society, that Thou mayest lead it into more ideal conditions. We pray that thus Thy kingdom may come and Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Pardon us of our sins, and enable us to serve Thee this day in the faithful discharge of our duties; and to Thee we will ascribe endless praise. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LANIUS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGES

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE BILL No. 66 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Clerk of the House of Representatives, being introduced, presented for concurrence bill of the House of Representatives, as follows:

House Bill No. 66, entitled:

An Act lapsing all unexpended or unencumbered balances of appropriations from the general fund made by the General Assembly at its session of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine and prior sessions.

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the vote had on final passage and third reading were reconsidered in the House and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Said amendments having been printed as required by the Constitution, were twice read as follows: Strike out, in title, the word "all" in line two; add, in line four of title after the word "session" the words "and excepting appropriations"; add in section 1, page 2, "Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as lapsing any portion of the item of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) appropriated under the provisions of the act approved May fifteenth Appropriation Acts of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (page one hundred sixty-one) entitled 'An act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the purchase or condemnation of additional lands for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania' to the Department of Property and Supplies for the purchase or condemnation of additional lands to be used for or in connection with the State Military Reservation at Mt. Gretna."

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

SENATE BILL NO. 73 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 73, (House Bill No. 210), entitled:

An Act to further amend section eight of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eight) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid; and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances," by further regulating the adjournment and readjournment of sales of seated lands for delinquent taxes and authorizing the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners and a judge to adjourn and readjourn such sales during periods of economic depression providing for advertisement and notice preceding any adjournment or readjournment and dispensing with prior advertisement and notice in such cases providing for the consolidation of the advertisments and notices of different year's taxes held on the same date and validating adjourned sales where the original sale has not been advertised or notice thereof given with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that Rule 21, which requires amended bills to be noted on the calendar, be in this case dispensed with and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the amendments made by the House of Representatives to the foregoing bill.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Said amendments, having been printed as required by the Constitution, were twice read, as follows: Add, in Section 1, page 4, second line from the bottom "provided that when after advertisement of a sale it has been determined as aforesaid to adjourn any sale for taxes the county treasurer shall publish at the expense of the county in at least two newspapers of general circulation in the county if so many be published in the county a brief notice or advertisment announcing said adjournment and the actual new date to which such sale for taxes has been adjourned"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO APPOINTMENT OF JOINT COMMITTEE BY THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE TO ASCERTAIN BEST METHODS OF AFFORDING UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF IN PENNSYLVAIA

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Finance:

In the House of Representatives, July 25th, 1932.

Whereas The Legislature has twice been called into Special Session for the purpose of providing unemployment relief and the remedies provided have been only temporary and applied without a real knowledge of the facts or the studies necessary to provide effective remedies and

Whereas A continuation of the depression will bring before the regular session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-three major problems which should be solved by appropriate remedies and

Whereas The General Assembly should be conversant with the full facts relating to unemployment in the various communities and with the proper means of affording relief and stimulating industry and business so that employment may be provided therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate shall appoint four persons and the Speaker of the House of Repesentatives shall appoint five persons who together shall constitute a joint committee whose duty it shall be to suggest ways and means (a) to coordinate to the fullest extent possible the work of public and private agencies engaged in the distribution of relief and to eliminate overlaping relief work (b) to enlist the people of the Commonwealth in the spirit of helping themselves and to provide for the welfare of those who are unemployed (c) to find and create public and private work for those who are unemployed (d) to sustain the morale of the unemployed people and infuse them with the spirit displayed during the late war (e) to foster the spirit of generous giving so that private charity may not break down (f) to investigate the different methods by which relief has been afforded by the various communities and (g) to call conferences of leaders of business and industry for the practical application of ways and means to stimulate industry and business in order that the burden of unemployment may be lifted from Government and be assumed by industry and business

Resolved That said committee shall make a report to the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three not later than February first including such drafts of legislation as may be deemed necessary to carry into effect the recommendations of the committee

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 74

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 74, entitled:
